UNION GRAFT-RING KING GUILTY OF EXTORTION.

Jury Convicts Brindell, President of Building Trades Council; Reward Offered for Aberdeen Bomber.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, tonight was found guilty of the charge of extortion from builders by a jury in Justice McAvoy's court here. Shortly after the verdict was announced Brindell was remanded to the Tombs prison, where he will remain until Tuesday, when sentence will be passed. The maximum penalty is fifteen years' imprisonment. The jury had deliberated one hour and twenty minutes.

In his instructions, the court told the jurymen they must confine their deliberations to but one transaction alleged to have passed between Brindell and Max Aronson, a manufacturer, and must disregard evidence alleging the defendant had exacted payments from others.

Brindell, who is 41, was indicted December 7, and placed on trial January 11.

GOVERNOR OFFERS REWARD.

ABERDEEN (Wash.) Feb. 3.—Gov. Hart today proclaimed a reward of $500 for the arrest of the man who attempted to dynamite American Legion headquarters here last night by placing a bundle of dynamite with lighted fuse attached under a corner of the structure, according to advices received here tonight from Olympia, Wash.

Police today had made no progress in their search for the bomber, who was frightened away from his attempt by Henry G. Lanister, a member of the Legion. Several suspects who were arrested late last night, were unable to throw any light on the affair, police said. S. Tagaya, Japanese section foreman, whose name was written on the margin of the Montesano newspaper in which the dynamite was wrapped, was released after examination.

TWO ARRESTED.

Ben Johnson and John Blake, arrested as they were trying to board a night train to Seattle, were found to have in their possession a bottle of cleaning fluid, revolvers and rubber gloves and are being held for further investigation, although police said they were unable to connect the men with the dynamite case. Fan Sagastes, arrested at Hoquiam, Wash., today is said to be somewhat like the description of the dynamiter, given the police by Lancaster, and is held for examination.

Harding is Far Behind Time and May Use Trains.

PALM BEACH (Fla.) Feb. 3.—The houseboat Victoria, carrying President-elect Harding, got into difficulties again today and fell so far behind her schedule that her passengers may leave her tomorrow or Saturday and complete the trip to St. Augustine by rail.

After spending several hours in a mud bank in the Indian River, the Victoria anchored tonight about ten miles below here. In two days she has covered only about fifty miles and still is 260 miles from St. Augustine, where Mr. Harding has an engagement for Monday.

The Victoria had several delays today, but her most serious one occurred a short distance above Pompano, where she rammed her nose into the mud. She was pulled off by a speed boat. The Victoria was not damaged.

CRIMINALS OF WAR PICKED FOR TRIAL.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Dispatches from Leipzig say that the preliminary investigation of the first eleven cases on the Entente's list of war criminals has been concluded, and that it has been decided to prosecute four persons. The trials probably will commence in March.

JURY DEADLOCKED; NOW OUT 72 HOURS.

HARLAN (Ky.) Feb. 3.—Seventy-two hours after it had retired, the jury considering the case of Dr. H. C. Winnes, former State Veterinarian, charged with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain schoolteacher, still was deadlocked tonight.

JAIL TWO AFTER BATTLE.

Police Wound One of Men Suspected of Being in Auto Bandit Gang.

Suspected of being two members of the gang of bold auto bandits that killed J. C. Dennis while they held him a prisoner in their machine on a wild auto ride early yesterday, Jack Graves, a taxicab driver, and William Harrington, a clerk, were captured by Detective Fitzgerald of the local Burns Detective Agency and Police Detectives Bean and Smith after a fight in a hotel at West Third and Figueroa streets last night that ended only when Detective Fitzgerald shot Harrington in the back as the clerk leaped out of a second-story window. Harrington was only superficially wounded. Both men are now held in the City Jail on suspicion of highway robbery.

Detective Fitzgerald declared that the suspects were members of the gang that held up the branch office of the Western Union Telegraph Company at 2715 West Seventh street several weeks ago and took $1000 from the safe after they had bound Manager Richardson into a chair at the points of their revolvers.

The robbery of Mr. Dennis, who lives at 1207 West Third street, was believed by the detectives to be the work of the same gang. Mr. Dennis was forced into the bandits' auto while he was walking near Westlake Park early yesterday morning. Covering him with their revolvers, the bandits held him prisoner until their car had reached La Brea and Santa Monica Boulevards, where he tried to jump out of the machine.

TWELVE MILLIONS YEAR STATE PAY-ROLL BRIGADE

Governor's Drive for More Taxes Reveals Some Amazing Figures for People Who Meet the Bills.

BY KYLE PALMER.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—The pay roll of the State of California exceeds $12,000,000 annually, according to figures made public here today by Clyde L. Seavey, member of the State Board of Control, who is accompanying Gov. Stephens in a State-wide drive for additional taxes.

In a carefully prepared statement, designed to bolster the administration's campaign for $14,000,000 additional taxes to be levied upon the gross receipts of public utilities, Seavey reveals that on Jan. 1, 1921, there were 7682 employees in the several branches of the State service exclusive of the faculty and employees of the University of California and the legislative and judicial branches. He estimates that the average monthly compensation for the State job holders is $138, or an aggregate monthly salary roll of $1,060,116.

HUGE SALARY ROLL.

It appears therefore that the people of the State will pay a minimum of $25,442,754 in State salaries during the next biennium. Customary salary increases and the creation of additional jobs doubtless will materially add to the salary roll total.

"Of the total number of employees in the State service," Seavey states, "74 per cent received $150 a month or less, 90 per cent received $200 a month or less, and 2 per cent received more than $400 a month."

The Governor's consolidation and reorganization bill, Seavey has announced, will save possibly $150,000 annually—something less than 5 cents each for the more than 3,000,000 Californians enumerated in the last census.

Opponents of the administration here today charged that the Governor's so-called retrenchment measure is not only proposes no real saving, but that it is in actual intent a lever to eliminate the old Johnson machine and clear the tracks for a new organization devoted wholly to the Stephens regime.

Those who place this astonishing interpretation upon a proposal ostensibly intended as an answer to State-wide demands for economy in State government further charge that the administration is staging its tax drive at this time for the purpose of placing Gov. Stephens before the people as a popular candidate to succeed himself.

SEEKS MONOPOLY.

In further proof of the contention that the Governor is making a bold attempt to overthrow the last vestige of Johnsonism in California, and institute an even more powerful Stephens machine, administration opponents today drew attention to the following provisions of Section 241 of Assembly bill 353:

"In each department the head of the department and the chief of each division and one position under each of a confidential nature, and all positions requiring legal, expert or technical training, shall be exempt from the provisions of the civil service law. The head of each department and all officers, deputies, assistants and agents of a department shall be civil executive officers."

Adoption of this measure, it is claimed, will virtually nullify the functions of the State Civil Service Commission and at the same time permit the appointment of a veritable army of job holders, all serving under the favor of the Governor.

It is not believed that the Johnson faction at the State capital will tamely submit to this enveloping move, and war to the knife may be expected. It is claimed that the Governor and his advisers have decided to seek popular favor by demagogic attacks upon the corporations. One of the first outstanding developments in this electioneering campaign, it is rumored, will be an administration-inspired attempt to change the statute requiring a two-thirds vote by the Senate and Assembly in the matter of corporation taxes.

WILL ASK FOR VOTE.

The people are to be asked to vote favorably upon a measure that will test and nullify the present law and substitute a clause permitting the Legislature to determine taxation questions by a majority vote. The present program of the administration calls for immediate action by the Legislature on the new King tax bill. The lawmakers of the State will reconvene Thursday, February 24, and it is possible that the tax measure will be among the first items of business.

Strong efforts will be made to pass the measure before any serious consideration can be given to the administration's $81,000,000 biennium budget.

The Governor, Seavey and others spent nearly three hours last night in attacking the corporations, speaking to a mildly interested Sacramento audience. The same tactics were scheduled for a meeting in Fresno tonight. Los Angeles and other Southern California communities are regarded as the strongholds of administration opposition and the Governor and his aides are planning to concentrate their fire in the south, starting in Assemblyman Merriam's district in Long Beach Saturday night. Following a tour of Southern California cities, expected to cover a period of a week or ten days, the Governor will return to the north by way of Santa Barbara, San Jose and San Francisco.

GRANT LABOR MORE TIME.

tives failed to appear and upon their request they were granted until Monday to present their side.

According to the program, several statements will be presented to the board, Monday. B. M. Jewell, representing railroad employees of the American Federation of Labor, will make the principal reply.

REPLY TO CHARGES.

E. T. Whiter, chairman of the carriers' committee, read a supplementary statement from Gen. Atterbury in the nature of a reply to charges made by Mr. Jewell in a telegram to the President that the roads could not support their claims of threatened financial disaster. The statement quotes T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the executive's association, as authority for the association statement that in January thirty-six railroads failed to earn operating expenses. Twenty-eight other roads, he said, did not earn taxes and fixed charges above operating expenses. These two groups, he said, constituted 40 per cent of the railroad mileage.

This condition obtained, he declared, although sixty-four companies had reduced their forces by 200,000 men since September 1.

No decision on Gen. Atterbury's request for immediate abrogation of the agreements will be rendered by the board until after the employees make their reply.

CENSORSHIP OF PICTURES HIT.

an infant industry. Censorship would strangle it to death instead of weeding out the objectionable features by the proper exercise of police power.

"Censorship of motion pictures is in the first place un-American. Censors prejudice pictures, setting themselves up as the moral arbiters of the great mass of the people and, peculiarly, the personnel of the censorship boards is often such that this assumption is laughable.

AMERICANIZING WORLD.

"Motion pictures are Americanizing the world. American thought, habits and ideals are being carried to the seven seas by 'movies.' You can see them in China, Brazil, all over Europe. They did as much as any other agency outside of the actual fighting to win the war.

"Through the exercise of the police power the industry will not suffer. Censorship will kill it. Scenes are cut and entire pictures rejected by some censorship boards on the flimsiest pretext. Why, do you know that under the proposed censorship for Chicago the life of Jesus Christ could not be filmed because if it followed facts, some scenes would be declared objectionable. A concentrated drive is being made against the industry that raised $2,500,000 for Herbert Hoover's European relief in forty-eight hours and has done worlds of good and we must fight them to a finish."

Coincident with Mr. Brady's outburst against censorship, the judiciary committee of the City Council took up the new censorship measure before it. The provisions of the measure are said by motion-picture men to be the most drastic steps ever proposed.

WOULD RECLAIM ALL SUBNORMAL LANDS.

CONCENTRATED DRIVES ON NEXT CONGRESS FOR NATIONAL AID PLANNED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A concentrated drive for national reclamation of all subnormal lands is to be made in the next Congress. The Western States Reclamation Association, composed of all western States having arid lands and of which former Gov. Spry of Utah is the head, today joined forces with the southern commercial Congress and plan to make an intensive campaign to get through the new Congress a law providing for the reclamation of all arid lands, cut-over lands, swamp lands and all available lands for agricultural purposes which can be redeemed at reasonable cost.

This new law will not strictly speaking be a law for the placing of former soldiers on lands, but some provision will be made to care for them in this distribution. Heretofore the South has antagonized the efforts of western men to secure government assistance in reclamation of arid lands and now the combination insures common interest and activity on the part of the two great sections of the country.

Part of the plan as agreed on today was to appoint one Senator and one Representative from each of the southern and western States affected as a special committee to perfect a general reclamation bill which will care for all of the different kinds of reclamation plans and one which will probably be acceptable to both Houses of Congress.

COMMISSION VINDICATED.

Bay City Witnesses' Testimony Favorable to Railroad Body.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Unless the Inman legislative committee, which is investigating the Railroad Commission, can produce something better than it has in the last two days, which saw the beginning and end of the San Francisco hearings, it might as well get out its whitewash brushes and get ready to apply the first coat.

Yesterday testimony was preponderantly in favor of the commission. Today's was even more so.

The most vicious attacks on the commission were made by a man who has spent more than $700 in the courts trying to beat a $14 gas bill because he thinks he was "overcharged a few dollars, and by another complainant who, after he had testified, learned he had the Supreme Court against him as well as the Railroad Commission.

Not a hint of dishonesty or incompetence has been heard while the record is full of statements from noteworthy men testifying to both the good character of the commissioners as well as their competence.

Chairman Inman and the members of the railroad board were almost fighting each other's battles all day today. Several times Inman shut off E. P. E. Troy, who wanted to tell of alleged errors made by the commission in the valuation report on Spring Valley, only to find his way blocked by Inman with a sharp reprimand to keep quiet.

TROY REPRIMANDED.

Troy said one good thing in behalf of the Railroad Commission. He said the City Attorney's office was closer to the corporations than the railroad board. He did that in taking a dig at Assistant City Attorney Dailey, who had quickly told Troy: "Nothing could satisfy you."

Testimony in behalf of the commission was given by City Attorney M. M. O'Shaughnessy, Wilbur Walker, secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, Oakland; A. J. O'Keefe, a local business man; John O'Connell, secretary of the Central Labor Council, and Harvey Sanborn, an attorney with many cases before the commission.

The City Engineer's testimony was to the effect that the commission has done the public a great deal of good. He also spoke highly of the personal qualifications of the members.

DECISIONS CITED.

Secretary Walker of the Oakland Merchants Exchange, cited several decisions of a minor nature affecting Oakland transportation that he said indicated the commission took the people's viewpoints more times than it was given credit for.

Secretary O'Connell's testimony was brief and to the point. He said:

"I have not heard a single complaint from a member of organized labor against the Railroad Commission. We're supposed to be a fault-finding bunch, too, and I think if there was any cause to complain I would have heard of it. Labor has always considered its treatment at the hands of the Railroad Commission eminently fair."

Mrs. W. V. Cleverdon of Berkeley, president of the California State Housewives' League, testified that she disagreed with the Supreme Court and the Railroad Commission both, on the rulings by both bodies that the commission has no authority to order half-fare rates for school children on the ferries. She protested against all of the utility rate increases of late years and said she didn't think the commission went deep enough into the cases before them.

She added: "The Railroad Commission ought to protect the people and keep hammering down rates all the time."

A. J. O'Keefe ventured the idea that if more consumers took up their troubles with the commission there would be less talking and more satisfaction. The thought was applauded by the commissioners who explained one of the great difficulties was getting over to the public the reasons for the decisions they make. The public refuses to read and only complains when it gets the bill, Commissioner Devlin said.

The Inman Committee went to Stockton tonight for a hearing tomorrow. No more hearings will be held until next Monday when the committee will jump to Modesto and Fresno on its way to Los Angeles where four days will be spent.

SPECIAL SESSION IS CALLED BY WILSON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—President Wilson, acting on the recently communicated request of President-elect Harding, today issued a proclamation calling a special session of the Senate to convene March 4.

The session will act on Cabinet and other appointments by Mr. Harding and probably will last only a short time. This session will convene at noon March 4.

TWO JAILED AFTER BATTLE.

One of the bandits shot at him point blank but only wounded him superficially. The robbers, however, feared that they had wounded their victim seriously, so after stripping him of his overcoat, his watch and $10 in currency, they abandoned him beside the road and fled.

By a secret tip the detectives were led to a room in the hotel at Third and Figueroa streets, where they believed the bandit gang was living.

As they were talking to the proprietor, Harrington and Graves brushed past them and entered the room. The detectives followed and a fight ensued. Graves was handcuffed and then the other jumped from the window. Detective Fitzgerald fired at Harrington as he jumped and caught him after a chase to First and Figueroa streets.

After the arrests, according to the police, five finger rings and two watches, believed to be stolen property, were recovered.

RUSH FOR AMERICA SHOWS CONDITIONS.

PORT OF LONDON EMIGRANTS MOSTLY PERSONS FROM CENTRAL EUROPE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The distressing conditions in Central Europe reflected here in unemployment are among the contributory causes of the flood of emigrants from England to America. The foreign elements predominate in the applications for vises, until, as the consular officials describe the situation, all of London's East End seems to be seeking to go to America. Three thousand persons have embarked from the port of London in six weeks and hundreds are waiting vises.

Fear of American legislation limiting immigration, coupled with increased activity of the steamship agents for passengers, owing to the shipping surplus, is given as the chief cause of the present rush.

The emigration control sections established in Europe are facilitating the work of regulating the tide of emigrants, but the slackness of the regulations which allow the officials only to warn unacceptable persons that they will be turned back from Ellis Island, but do not prohibit their departure from Europe, is a serious handicap.

gardless of danger to pedestrians. Some predict a dire event should one of these attacks be made in the business quarter of Dublin when the streets are crowded. A rumor is in circulation that a "big show" is coming soon. It is reported that a drastic curfew law is to be imposed.

Every police and military lorry here now carries a hostage, chained and padlocked to a seat.

HERO MURDERED.

District Inspector F. W. Craven was one of the victims of the ambuscade. He served in the navy during the war and received the American Distinguished Service and Navy crosses and the British Distinguished Service Order. While commanding the British destroyer Mounsey he saved 600 American soldiers from the American transport Otranto, when the vessel was lost as a result of a collision with the steamer Kashmir off the Scottish coast in October, 1918. Inspector Craven retired from the navy with the rank of lieutenant-commander.

Thirty minutes after the Otranto struck the rock off Islay Island the destroyer Mounsey, herself damaged, answered a distress call. Capt. Davidson of the Otranto warned Lieut. Craven not to attempt to reach the side of the transport. Craven, however, succeeded in getting to the side of the Otranto, from which he took 600 American soldiers.

ATTACKERS DIE.

SKIBBEREEN (County Cork, Ireland) Feb. 3.—Six members of a party of several hundred Sinn Feiners were killed and several others wounded in an attack last night upon fifteen police between Burgada and Rosscarbery, according to police reports today. The attacking party was beaten off after a fierce fight, abandoning a quantity of ammunition. The police, the reports declare, sustained no casualities.

The attack was on an elaborate scale, the accounts state. The Sinn Feiners had as their base the house of Magistrate King, which they had commandeered the previous night. The police returned their fire and the battle raged until military and police reinforcements routed the attacking party. The magistrate's house was badly damaged.

The official announcement regarding the attack says twenty policemen were attacked by 500 rebels, who contemplated an attack on the Royal Irish Constabulary barracks at Rosscarbery. The previous day, it adds, the Sinn Feiners had taken possession of the magistrate's house and imprisoned his family, and also the dean of Ross, all of whom were badly treated.

BRADY TESTIFIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Thomas Brady, testifying in his own behalf, occupied the witness stand today in his third trial on a charge of participation in an affair last Thanksgiving, when Miss Jessie Montgomery was attacked by several men and her companion, Miss Jean Stanley, saved herself by jumping through a window.

The court refused to allow Policewoman Katherine O'Connor to testify regarding a reported belief in Brady's innocence said to have been expressed by Detective Sergeant Miles Jackson, who was killed at Santa Rosa in a revolver battle with men whom he sought to question regarding the Thanksgiving Day occurrences.

Considerable excitement was caused at the noon recess of the trial by a demand made on William F. Herron, Brady's counsel, by Mrs. Emma Gray, a civic worker, as to Herron's right to converse with Miss Stanley, the complaining witness, and retorts which followed from Brady's two sisters as to what right Mrs. Gray had to interfere with the defendant's attorney.

ise a large majority in the vote of confidence with the Briand Cabinet tomorrow.

Andre Tardieu, former high commissioner to the United States had given notice of an interpellation. This appeared to be taken most seriously by the government, but was a moderate attack against the Cabinet, especially M. Loucheur, and on the haste France had displayed to settle matters concerning the United States before the new administration was installed.

NEED UNITED STATES.

Criticising the Paris conference, he declared: "There can be no capitalization, mobilization or discounting of the German debt until the United States is a party to the agreement."

Decisions of the Allied conference, he asserted, were embodied in the Versailles Treaty. The conference, he contended, was useless. All that might have been done was to hold the Germans strictly to the treaty.

Article CCXL of the treaty settled Germany's financial obligations; Article CCXXXVIII provided for the manner in which the indemnity must be paid and for turning the matter over to the reparations commission, he said. With reference to disarmament no deliberations were needed except enforcement of the treaty. With respect to penalties, Article CCLXX provided for the seizure of the German customs.

GERMANY MUST PAY.

M. Briand informed the Deputies that the government "has in no wise renounced the purpose of collecting the entire debt due from Germany if she recovers her economic prosperity."

Germany would have to pay the limit of her capacity.

The declaration was received with businesslike silence. M. M. Briand, Tardieu, Margaine, La Cotte and the Communist leader, M. Cachin, presented their arguments much as might the board of directors of a financial organization.

M. Tardieu will continue tomorrow when M. Loucheur, Minister of Finance, who was attacked, will reply. Then M. Briand will answer M. Cachin, who read the declaration of the Communists. It advocates a world-wide revolution and immediate peace with Moscow.

CUSTOMS INSPECTORS CHARGED WITH GRAFT.

BRIBES FROM PASSENGERS BRING HEAVY LOSSES TO THE GOVERNMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Evidence involving thirty-eight customs inspectors here on charges of graft will be presented to the Federal grand jury when the cases are completed, E. B. Barnes, Assistant Federal District Attorney, announced today. Warrants will be issued, he said. B. C. Newton, Collector of the Port, admitted that recommendations had been sent to Washington for dismissal of eight of the inspectors. Otherwise, he said, no changes had taken place in the staff. He said the short investigation had "revealed a deplorable condition on the piers." The inspectors, he declared, have been receiving gratuities, or bribes, ranging from $1 to $300, from passengers who wished their baggage passed uninspected. The Collector would not estimate how much money the government had lost, but said probably it was many thousands of dollars.

The smuggling of liquor, Mr. Newton added, figured in the investigation, although perhaps not to so great an extent as silk, jewelry and other dutiable articles. There was also evidence which tended to show that an international drug-smuggling ring was at work, he said.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A. W. McLean, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of customs, said today "some twenty-five or thirty" customs inspectors out of 600 in New York were involved in the investigation being conducted into charges that inspectors have accepted gratuities from passengers.

ANTI-JAPANESE BILL IS UP IN NEBRASKA.

COMMITTEE OF ORIENTALS APPEARS IN OPPOSITION TO MEASURE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Feb. 3.—The bill pending in the Lower House of the Legislature, which would deprive aliens ineligible to citizenship from owning Nebraska land, was discussed before the House Judiciary Committee this evening. Three Japanese appeared in opposition to the measure. H. Kano, Custer county landowner and farmer, a graduate of the University of Tokio and of the University of Nebraska School of Agriculture, acted as spokesman. The other two were H. Shin, a farm owner of Lincoln county, and M. Shimazu, superintendent of the Japanese Y.M.C.A. of Chicago.

Mr. Kano, in answer to questions, said the bill appeared to be aimed exclusively at orientals. He said his interests coincided with Americans, and he believed the same was true of the other Japanese of the State. He said he is president of the Japanese Americanization Association of Nebraska and as such has the right to request any undesirable Japanese to leave the State.

COAST LINE GUARD MAY GET MORE PAY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The guardians of America's far-flung coast line—lighthouse tenders and lightship crews, would receive pay increases aggregating $300,000 a year under a measure introduced today by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida. The appropriation proposed is $1,800,000, and Senator Fletcher would increase it to $2,100,000.

Miller Tires Cut Wages.

AKRON (O.) Feb. 3.—Wage reductions for all salaried employees, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, were announced today by the Miller Rubber Company.

AUDITORS WORKING ON RICE MILLERS' BOOKS

CHARGES OF FRAUD SAID TO BE WELL FOUNDED, GROWER STATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Auditors of the Pacific Rice Growers' Association today were working on the books of seven rice mills in an effort to substantiate the charges of a special committee of the association of a huge fraud in the manipulation of the 1920 rice crop by some of the millers, which they say has caused a loss of approximately $1,500,000 to the growers.

"Three of the auditors have completed their work," said C. O'Donohue of Willows, a member of the committee, "and in each of the three mills the books showed the very charges that the millers sold which had been entrusted to their care, are correct."

Two of the millers have admitted their share in the transactions according to Donohue, who, however, refused to reveal their names, pending legal action which, it was stated, will be taken.

Donohue said a conference of the growers will be held soon to formulate a course to be followed before seeking prosecution.

Trade Freedom is Necessary.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Feb. 3.—Establishment of the freedom of trade by Italy must be accomplished as early as possible, Signor Solieri, Undersecretary of Food Control, declared in the Italian Senate yesterday. But he added that this action must await the stabilizing of international markets.

GERMAN EXPERTS BUSY.

REDS HOPE TO RULE FRANCE.

Communist Leader Predicts Action by May.

Party in Gaul Second in Strength in Europe.

Soviets Disappointed with the German Workers.

BY GEORGE S. SELDES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The foundation upon which Russia expects to rear a sovietized France has been laid, preliminary organization has been completed and next May will see action, according to a report by Julius Facher, organizer for France and England, before the recent Communist Congress in Bremen.

Verbatim copies of the proceedings in Bremen were secured from a courier, who was intercepted by The Times correspondent near Berlin when the transcript was being carried from Red headquarters in the German capital to Moscow.

A portion of Delegate Facher's report on conditions in France follows:

STRONG IN FRANCE.

"We were more mistaken in France than in England. There is no soviet embassy in Paris, yet in the course of six months a Communist party has been created, which is the second one in strength in Europe.

"Six months ago we, as well as the Socialist traitors, suffered a terrible defeat at the elections. Now we are the strongest among the radicals there. I must say that we had a better knowledge of the French proletarian psychology than of the English and for that reason Moscow's orders were of more use there, whereas in England they were harmful. We can undermine secretly in France.

CITIES ARE CENTERS.

"Paris, Lyons, Charleroi, Brest and Marseilles are the strongest French centers of Communism. We are successfully penetrating the army, navy, war industrial factories and even the bureaucrats, which justifies the hope that those opposed to us will not be able to kill French sympathy for the Third Internationale.

"I have received the following figures:

"In the south zone we have 9000 friends and sympathizers among the vineyard workers, glasswork employees, telephone workers, railway men and sailors.

"In the northern zone our strength is not in the number of members but in the representation. Every zone is independent. Moreover, when Lyons was moneyless it raised 500,000 francs (normally about $100,000) in six hours, which is more than the soviet embassies ever accomplished.

"The preparatory work in France has been done. Many of us see action on the way."

REPORT ON GERMANY.

Dr. Lange, professor of the Russian section of the German Communist party, next read his report on the German situation, which was as follows:

"When Irpy Rech-Zytwogdor Kopp, the Bolshevist Ambassador to Berlin, handed over the work to me he addressed a circular letter to the Communist emissaries declaring that the culmination of the revolutionary movement was expected in the spring of 1921 unless some unfortunate factor postponed the movement.

"The membership of the Communist party in July was 14,000, as compared with 3500 in March, 1919. This tends to prove that the movement is spreading and victory is certain and our plans would deceive anyone.

"M. Erych erred in increasing the membership, which increased in proportion to the Entente claims against Germany; unemployment, the destruction of property through Entente orders, and the general oppression of the Entente.

GERMANS APATHETIC.

"M. Erych did not investigate the workmen's thoughts. The fact is, the German workman is growing apathetic.

"With a bleeding heart, however, I must confess my disappointment in the German proletariat.

"Conditions, however, are most favorable for propaganda in Germany. The middle class has been wiped out. Germany has only two political divisions, the reactionary Conservatives and the radical Socialists. At present the government is unstable. Every word concerning the class struggle for internationalism falls on rich soil. The sufferings of the war and the great defeat have taught the German workingmen that it is necessary to suffer to achieve.

FUNDS ARE NEEDED.

"The number of members who have given their allegiance to the Third Internationale is 300,000. The party budget calls for 2,130,000 marks (about $532,000 at the normal rate of exchange) monthly for printing expenses, strike benefits, etc. Funds from Moscow are sometimes late, due to the clumsy organization of the soviet embassy. I agree with M. Facher that the propagandists and diplomats in each country ought to have a separate fund.

"Our spies are working among the Orgesch (civilian militia) of Bavaria and the reactionary organizations in East Prussia and Pomerania. Our envoys also are organizing the peasants. I have shown the comrades in the Ruhr district the necessity for storing arms. We have achieved much in this direction.

CLAIM MOVEMENT GROWS.

"Should the reactionaries attack us, we shall be able to defend ourselves and not with empty hands. These preparations demand great sums of money and we are being hampered by Wigdor Kopp's program of economy. However, we have obtained some money from Prague.

"In conclusion, I state that the movement is growing. We have secret partisans among the intellectuals. When the moment of triumph comes Germany will not commit the Russian mistakes, but will achieve the goal regardless of the sacrifices necessary to attain it."

Canton Government Recedes.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PEKING (China) Feb. 2.—The Canton government, in the face of the firm stand taken by the diplomatic body here, has abandoned its announced intention to seize the customs of South China after February 1. No action will be taken by the Canton authorities pending an answer to a formal petition to the members of the diplomatic corps that they sanction the release of 12 per cent of the surplus customs formerly remitted to the southern military government.

was given away—it was cheaper than burning or burying it. They pinned one of those medals on me, but it had a damned sight better gone to some poor devil in the ranks who better deserved it."

Judge E. B. Parker, who had much to do with the liquidation job in France, and who was described by Mr. Dawes as "a hard-boiled egg" as an army trader, will be heard tomorrow.

DESPICABLE GRAFTERS.

Asked about grafters who followed the American Army to France, Gen. Dawes said:

"Yes, they were there—some of the most despicable characters on earth, trying to help the army by selling it things it needed at exorbitant figures. There was one man we caught and reported. What's his name? Oh, what's the use? I am not a muckraker. He was a traitor and I wish we could have shot him."

"Long after this committee is dead and gone, the achievements of the American Army will stand as an everlasting blaze of glory," he declared. "You have tried to make a mountain out of a molehill, but thank God the army was American, not Republican nor Democratic."

When the hearing was concluded, Gen. Dawes turned to Chairman Johnson and said:

"I am able to take all the criticism anybody wants to throw my way, but don't ever call me general. I'm out of the army."

EMPLOYERS OPPOSE PRINTERS' WEEK CUT.

UNION DEMAND FOR FORTY-FOUR HOURS TO BE FOUGHT IN MIDDLE WEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Feb. 3.—A fight against reducing the working week from forty-eight hours, as demanded by union printers, was launched today at a conference of employers of job and commercial printers of the Middle West. The cut would decrease production and raise prices, they contend.

Resolutions adopted pledged the employers to reject "the demands for a forty-four-hour week" and to refuse to make any contracts on less than a forty-four-hour basis.

The conference was attended by 166 delegates, representing 1077 shops, with 26,006 employees, in forty-nine cities, it was announced. A committee is to be appointed to make arrangements for effecting a permanent organization among middle western employers. Members of the conference voted to appropriate a sum equal to 5 per cent of their respective mechanical pay rolls for a fund to carry on the fight.

SPIKERS DECLARE MARRIAGE SUCCESS.

PRINCIPALS IN WAR BABY EPISODE ALL HAPPY ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3.—Guy Spiker and his English wife, Emily Knowles Spiker, whose marriage last February to the brother of the father of her "war baby" aroused international discussion, said today the marriage has been successful.

The first anniversary of their wedding will be celebrated with a family dinner Sunday evening at the home of Pearly Spiker here.

Pearly Spiker, who had an American wife, was an aviator when he met Miss Knowles in London. Later he acknowledged being the father of her child. The "trjangle" became a pentagon with Pearly Spiker as the erring husband, the former Miss Knowles the affinity, Cora M. Spiker the forgiving wife, Guy Spiker the protector of his family name and the child, now legally Alfred Ray Spiker forming the fifth angle.

Armour's QUALITY PRODUCTS

Doing Business all over the World

The name Armour & Company conjures up all the romance associated with the early days of the packing industry. Starting as a pioneer in the era of midwestern development, "Phil Armour" lay the foundations of an institution destined to supply the meat requirements of multitudes of people in two hemispheres.

The ever increasing tide of competition has never deprived the Armour organization of a dominant position in the packing industry.

The Los Angeles branch of Armour & Co., located at 119 So. Central Ave., employs 118 employees, of which 35 are salesmen. Many auto trucks are used to facilitate delivery of smoked and canned meats, poultry, butter, cheese, etc.

Mr. H. R. Miller, local manager, in selecting office furnishings, chose the standardized equipment of the Pacific Desk Co. as being best adapted to the needs of the Los Angeles headquarters of this great concern.—"Service" is an outstanding feature of the Pacific Desk Company's business.

KRAMER ORDERS LIQUOR CENSUS.

To Determine Length of Time of Withdrawal Ban.

Seeks Estimate of Amount Now Out of Bond.

New Step to Tighten Screws Under Consideration.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A census of liquor in the possession of wholesale druggists has been ordered by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer to determine the length of the ban against withdrawal of intoxicants from bonded warehouses.

Orders have gone to all Federal prohibition directors, officials said, to submit to prohibition headquarters an estimate of the amount of liquor in their districts free from bond. When the result is known, officials explained, they can determine how long the stoppage of withdrawals is to continue without interfering with stimulants prescribed for sickness.

EXCEPTION TO RULE.

Exception to the general refusal to issue withdrawal permits allowing retail druggists to obtain five cases of liquor, prohibition officials said, applies only to the sale by wholesale druggists from their stocks "on the floor" in their establishments.

When this supply is exhausted, officials declared, the provision will have to be made to enable wholesalers to replenish their stocks and the length of time within which "stocks on the floor" will last, can be estimated when the estimates are received.

ANOTHER SCREW.

Another step to tighten the screws on the illegal distribution is under consideration, officials said, through application of the terms of the national prohibition act, which permits action to be brought in the name of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his deputies to restrain the manufacture or sale of intoxicants.

Under present procedure, they added, such actions are brought by the district attorneys, but through the crowded condition of the courts, action is frequently delayed.

The commissioner or his deputies under the act, officials said, can proceed to equity against illegal sales and manufacture without waiting on district attorneys. Adoption of this method would require the employment of lawyers as deputies, however, he added, and the consummation of the plan may have to be deferred until the prohibition appropriation is known.

TO WAGE FIGHT.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Feb. 3.—A bill providing for the creation of a State department of law enforcement was passed by both houses of the Wyoming Legislature here today.

The measure provides for a State commissioner who shall have a deputy and seven agents and a contingent fund of $80,000 with which to wage a fight against prohibition law violations, automobile stealing, prostitution and gambling.

CAPTURE DISTILLERY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Prohibition authorities took possession today of a house and lot at Millbrae, San Mateo county, where an alleged distillery was in operation, and announced that proceedings would be instituted under the provision of the prohibition law that empowers the department of internal revenue to seize premises used in violation of the law.

Petro Genseo was arrested at the place on a charge of violating the prohibition law, and ninety gallons of illicit brandy and 800 gallons of mash were seized. Genseo was released on $2000 bond.

MAKE JURORS BLUSH WITH NUDE PICTURES.

THEY ARE WORKS OF ART, WIFE STATES IN ACTION FOR DIVORCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—As a rule men employ all sorts of excuses to get away from jury service, but no excuse were forthcoming from the venire drawn to hear the Gilchrist divorce case in the Superior Court. Jury service in this particular case had its compensations. Unadorned evidence consisting of photos in the nude of Mrs. May Charlotte Gilchrist was passed from the hands of one blushing juryman to another.

While some of them blushed furiously, it is a matter of record the jurymen held the picture the full two minutes allotted for inspection. In passing it may safely be said that Mrs. Gilchrist is not at all difficult to look at. She has been a famous art model and also achieved some fame as an actress and as a painter.

She recently sued her husband, Lawrence Case Gilchrist, poet, essayist and heir to an estate of many thousands at present tied up in trust, charging cruelty and nonsupport. He filed a cross bill accusing her of posing in the nude for Carl Ruegge, a Milwaukee photographer. The photos, displayed today, showed her posing as a lost nymph, as a dryad, kneeling bending over to pick a rose and reclining, attired only in a cataract of hair. She was present when the jurors inspected the pictures, but protested they were works of art.

YANKS ARE EXPENSIVE ITEM FOR GERMANS.

COSTS MORE TO MAINTAIN AMERICAN SOLDIER THAN IT DOES ALLIED ONE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Each American officer and private in the Rhineland costs Germany several times the sum spent in maintaining a British, French or Belgian soldier, it is brought out by figures tabulated by the Brussels conference of experts, submitted to support a recommendation to the Allies that they economize in their expenditures on Germany's account.

The daily cost in francs of maintaining officers of the Army of Occupation is given as follows:

French, 47.45; Belgian, 46.20; British, 97.85; American, 159.65.

The cost, similarly expressed, of maintaining private soldiers, is:

French, 13.37; Belgian, 13.17; British, 21.60; American, 59.30.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Senator Fall of New Mexico and Harry M. Daugherty brought the latest Cabinet information from the Harding houseboat. Charles E. Hughes is to be Secretary of State; Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; John W. Weeks, Secretary of War; Frank O. Lowden, Secretary of the Navy; Albert Fall, Secretary of the Interior; Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture; Harry Daugherty, Attorney-General; J. J. Davis, Secretary of Labor. Will H. Hays is still under consideration for Postmaster-General and either Herbert Hoover or Charles B. Warren for Secretary of Commerce.

Charles G. Dawes concluded his testimony before the House committee investigating war expenditures with a vehement denunciation of Congress for attacking the Army administration in France while permitting at the same time the waste of millions at home.

Early relief for disabled soldiers and sailors in need of adequate hospital facilities was promised today in the Senate.

The return to the United States and interment with national ceremonies at Arlington of one of America's unknown dead was indorsed by the House Military Affairs Committee today.

By rejecting the packers' bill as passed by the Senate and substituting the Haugen bill the House Committee on Agriculture made it certain that there will be no legislation on the subject at the present session of Congress.

PARIS IN FOG OF DOUBT.

Fear Expressed for Efficiency of Allied Reparational Program.

BY LINCOLN EYRE.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—A strong current of doubt as to the complete efficiency of the reparational program drawn up by the Allies in their conference here last Sunday is beginning to make itself felt. The tide of optimism which reached its flood in the French press on Sunday and Monday appears to be ebbing fast.

Germany's violent rejection of the Allied scheme and the American opposition to the proposed 12 per cent tax on German exports, and news of the postponement of the conference between the Entente and the German financial experts at Brussels, all tend to thicken the fog of apprehension detectable in official quarters and in the press.

More than one editorial writer makes it plain that France's hope of economic rehabilitation, by means of the system decided upon last week, depends in the last analysis upon the United States. Unless America is prepared to advance money upon German reparation bonds, based first upon Germany's annual payments and second upon the amounts realized through taxing exports, the French budgetry deficit of 20,000,000,000 francs (nominally $800,000,000) cannot be met.

URGES OCCUPATION.

Disregarding this phase of the situation altogether, Le Temps in an editorial evidently inspired officially urges the Allies to take immediate possession of the German customhouses in the occupied Rhine area and to separate that zone from the rest of the Reichstate.

Le Temps says that the Berlin government's attitude toward the Allied reparation project can lead only to "the danger of ruin and the danger of war."

"A talk is proposed," the semi-official organ of the Foreign Office concludes, "while we propose action. French opinion will decide."

Charles Bergmann, chief of the German financial delegation, has returned to Berlin. It is understood he is opposed to discussing the details of a plan disapproved by his government, and, therefore, he declines to meet the Allied experts in Brussels next Monday as had been arranged. On the other hand the French technicians feel that it is useless to confer with the Germans until they have accepted the scheme which must serve as a basis for the technical deliberations.

Among the gravest criticisms leveled by the experts against the German budget for the present fiscal year is that German Finance Minister Wirth intentionally inscribed exorbitant figures as representing treaty execution expenditures in order to capture sympathy abroad. Herr Wirth is quoted as saying in his speech of October last year:

AGITATION MEANS.

"The budget execution of the treaty is the best means of agitation at the disposal of the Germans, and ought to be distributed by billions of copies over the whole world."

The report of the Allied experts gives three ways of balancing the German budget:

First, loans; second, reducing expenses; third, increasing revenues. Loans, in the opinion of the experts, are excluded for the present, the more so as the Germans themselves wish to rely as much as possible on their own resources. The experts declare themselves for the elimination of such items as the 400,000,000 marks figuring in the present budget for damages expected to be caused by social disorders. They allege the budget makers overestimated expenses, as in the case of the army of occupation and for other reparation purposes.

One of the gravest charges is that the German government overburdens its treasury by paying immediately, at the current exchange rate, claims for war damages by German nationals. On the other hand, a German owing a debt to Allied nationals pays the German government only the sum in marks owed by him in 1914, whereupon the government pays the creditor the same debt at the present value of the German mark.

"Will our American uncle be kind enough to let us know quickly on which foot he wants us to dance?" writes Gustave Herve in this morning's La Victoire. M. Herve shows how the French exchange has fluctuated during the recent Allied conference and that now it is again falling, and goes on to say:

FROWN OF UNCLE SAM.

"The cause? Pray do not doubt it, for it is the frown of our American uncle, and we can well understand that these frowns trouble the financiers of the bourse, since his European nephews count on him to raise their financial condition by long-term loans."

M. Herve then speaks of the objection shown in America to the 12 per cent tax on Germany's exports, adding, however, "one might say our American uncle should have made his objections sooner." His article continues: "Yet, when we have cursed our American uncle how are we any further advanced since we are obliged to subscribe to his tastes, aversions, preferences and antipathies? It is ifke in a family when there is a rich uncle from whom a heritage is expected, one is obliged to accept with a smile his quirks of humor and caprices and general queerness, especially when at the bottom he is a good uncle.

"In short, if he persists in his opposition we will not lose by having to give up this method of payment because we will simply return to the Boulogne agreement, which at bottom is as valuable as the Paris accord, and which will not provoke any objection from America, and which provides, as pledges for the Allies to control the ordinary customs in Germany as well as her railroads.

"So long as our American uncle does not oppose our occupation of the Ruhr, and we can pay ourselves directly by seizing all the Rhine provinces, we have nothing to fear."

POLES REACH PARIS FOR TALK ON REDS.

POSSIBILITY OF SPRING BOLSHEVIK ATTACK TO BE DISCUSSED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—President Pilsudski of Poland, with a large number of high Polish officials and their secretaries, arrived in Paris this morning to discuss with President Millerand, Premier Briand, Marshal Foch and other prominent French officials, a possible Bolshevik offensive against Poland in the spring, and other subjects interesting to the two countries. The party, which numbered a dozen persons, including Prince Sapieha, Polish Foreign Minister, and Gen. Solnokowski, War Minister, was met by Premier Briand and and escorted to the Hotel Crillon.

"The most disturbing factor of Poland's plight, is the impression that has gone abroad in the world that she is imperialistic," said Prince Sapieha soon after his arrival, "and the next is the problem of finding enough food for her starving people. The government is most concerned in combatting the idea that Poland has ambitions for further territorial gains."

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Poland's desire for peace and her expectation of an early realization of it, were emphasized in an address to the Polish Parliament made by Premier Watos just before the departure of President Pilsudski to Paris, according to a message received today from the Polish Foreign Office to the Bureau of Information here.

WARRANTS ARE ISSUED IN STRIKE ENCOUNTER.

GUN PLAY CHARGED IN CONTROVERSY BETWEEN GREAT WESTERN EMPLOYEES.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 3.—Warrants for four men were issued here tonight, following an encounter between former employees and present employees of the Great Western Power Company, at whose Pittsburg plant a strike is in progress.

Four men working at the plant reported they had been chased by a group of former employees all the way from Pittsburg to this place. Their leader, James Love, said he fired a shot into the ground to scare off the pursuit.

It was charged that the pursuers then fired at the fleeing quartet.

The report was submitted today to the convention by the Rev. Matthew J. Trenery, superintendent of the department.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S LOSS FOR YEAR GREAT.

NEARLY EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS ARE CHARGED OFF FOR 1920.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The annual statement of Montgomery Ward and Company tonight said that the company operated during 1920 at a loss of $7,855,278, including depreciation, although its sales were larger than ever. During the first seven months sales increased approximately 34 per cent, the statement said, but price reductions in the last four months caused heavy losses on the sales, which decreased so much that the year's sales were only 3 per cent larger than in 1919.

The inventory depreciation and loss in operating were all charged to surplus as of 1920.

Net sales for 1920 amounted to $101,745,270, and total assets were $62,695,630. The 1919 surplus was given as $12,342,932, with the profit and loss surplus at the end of 1920 as $2,429,772.

MEXICO IS PLANNING TAX ON LOST GAS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Feb. 3.—Another tax that may be burdensome to the oil industry is proposed by the Mexican government, according to information received here. Congress is considering a bill which provides a tax of 20 cents shall be paid on every cubic meter of natural gas that comes from a well, whether the gas is used or permitted to escape.

The purpose of the proposed tax is to bring about a conservation of gas, more than to obtain revenue from the new source, it is explained. In view of the fact that enormous quantities of gas flow from the wells of the Tampico region, and that there is little demand for it for commercial purposes, the necessity of the proposed law is not apparent to oil operators. The measure is reported to have the support of the Department of Industry of the Mexican government.

PRISONER IS FREED BECAUSE OF VISION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—Judge [illegible] in Circuit Court yesterday granted and then returned a verdict acquitting W. V. Spencer of a charge of murder. Spencer killed Elmer Pennell during a fight in a rooming house. His plea was self-defense.

Later the foreman, J. E. Fuchs, an ordained minister, explained that as he prayed the principals of the killing appeared before him in vision. Spencer, he said, was surrounded with a bright glow, while Pennell appeared in a darkness.

"Then it was I decided darkness was not for truth," said Fuchs. The vision appeared to him, Fuchs said, after the first ballot. When the second ballot was taken, he said the verdict was for acquittal.

Foreign Minister Tells Diet at Session Today.

'Australian' Premier Believes Menace Great.

California to Tell People All the Facts.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Feb. 2.—The Japanese government has insisted from the start that Japan is entitled to German rights and interests in the island of Yap, and this policy will be followed, said Viscount Uchida, the Foreign Minister, in the Diet today, in answer to an inquiry by Representative Kotaro Mochizuki concerning the outcome of the negotiations between Japan and the United States, regarding disposition of the Yap cable, and also the nature of Japan's policy in the premises.

M. Mochizuki asked if the government did not think it advisable to publish the contents of the revised "gentlemen's agreement" with the United States. To this Viscount Uchida replied that such publication was undesirable, as no formal agreement had been signed, although the empire had agreed on its honor to restrict emigration to the United States.

BRISBANE (Queensland), Feb. 3. In a speech here today, Premier E. G. Theodore declared that anyone who doubted that Australians would soon be called upon to defend their homes against Asiatic invasion were living in a fool's paradise.

Asiatic ideals and aspirations, he added, were a menace to the ideals of the Australian Labor party.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—A proclamation calling upon the people of California to assist for the week beginning February 7, in the drive for funds with which to inform the people of the United States regarding the Japanese problem, was issued today by Gov. Stephens, who, at the same time, took exception to calling the question the "California issue," as he alleged had been done by part of the eastern press.

"Concerning California," the Governor said, "this problem strikes at her social, economic and political development.

"Concerning our sister States and America in general, the menace grows—it has to do with the 'race plans for a century to come' of an aggressive people. We are seen entering into an economic competition that will drive white farmers from the land, destroy social, religious and political barriers, and give to an unassimilable people the control of certain essentials of our civilization."

POSITION IS JUST.

"California was sure of the justness of her position in the recent enactment of the alien land law, which stopped the loopholes in the 1913 law. Unfortunately, eastern discussion fails to reveal a clear understanding of the problem, and to protect all our people all America must have a full appreciation of what a part of the eastern press refer to as the 'California issue.'

"California has gone as far as she can go. Legislation to stop this non-eligible immigration must come through Congress. It is most vital to the American nation that our treaty makers act in accordance with the views of the Congress, and the people who know and understand this menacing problem, who labor unselfishly and patriotically for the good of 'our own United States.'"

JOHNSON STATEMENT.

There has been no public denial from the State Department that the recently concluded tentative agreement between Japanese Ambassador Shidehara and American Ambassador Morris "involves" a gentlemen's agreement for exclusion and a treaty "which in effect abrogates the alien land laws passed by California," says a statement issued today by Senator Johnson of California through the Sacramento Bee.

"The agreements thus reached are in the main advantageous to Japan and disadvantageous to California," the statement, which is addressed to the people of California, declares. The statement follows:

"With the consent of their respective governments, Ambassador Shidehara of Japan and Ambassador Morris of the United States have been for some months holding what are termed diplomatic conversations in the endeavor to arrive at a mutually satisfactory solution of the Japanese complaints against our alien land laws. Finally, last week, the two Ambassadors agreed. Morris submitted his report to his superior, the Secretary of State, who, of course, has the power to reject or approve in whole, or in part, Morris's recommendations or tentative agreements.

GRAVE IMPORTANCE.

"The Morris conclusions and recommendations become of grave importance because they represent the crystallized views of the two negotiators acting officially for the two nations. The agreements thus reached are in the main advantageous to Japan and disadvantageous to California. I have no hesitation in saying they involve a gentlemen's agreement for exclusion, and a treaty which in effect abrogates the alien land law passed by California.

"When, from press reports, for which the parties themselves were responsible, the facts were learned, I publicly protested; and while there have been various exchanges since, there has been no denial that Morris made these recommendations. Indeed, when the report is finally seen, I have no doubt we shall find it does much more, and goes farther than I have stated. I not only protested publicly against the decision reached, but simultaneously with the filing of the report, I filed a brief protest with the Secretary of State.

PRESS PRETENSIONS.

The pro-Japanese press of the East, notably the New York Times, World and Post, secure in the fact that the report has not been given publicity, have pretended it does not contain what has been asserted, and have denounced protests as untimely and unwarranted. The matter, however, was too important to California to permit an American Ambassador's report yielding California's rights to pass unchallenged. The challenge has been made and none can be now ignorant of it.

"The present situation is this: The ambassadors have agreed. The letter is before the Secretary of State, acting for the President, must by agreed upon, the Secretary of State acting for the President, must agree with the Japanese government. If a treaty is thus negotiated, it must be sent to the Senate for ratification and must be passed upon by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate.

"I am now assured that no treaty will be definitely concluded by this administration. Without in the slightest degree relaxing our vigilance, we may, because of the expressed views of the President-elect, look forward hopefully to the future."

TARIFF DEBATE DRAGS.

Leaders Reach Tentative Understanding to Fix Vote Date.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Although debate on the Fordney emergency tariff bill dragged in the Senate today, real progress was made toward definite action. Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, obtained agreement to take up the bill with its amendment for a second reading, and leaders reached a tentative understanding to fix a date for a vote.

The tentative program probably will be submitted to the Senate tomorrow and unanimous consent asked for an agreement to vote February 15 or soon after.

Suggestions and counter-suggestions came frequently during the day. All were based on political maneuvering, and the leaders conferred about them in and out of the chamber, while Senators Capper, Republican, of Kansas; Fletcher, Democrat, of Florida; McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, and Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, occupied the attention of the few Senators present with speeches.

Mr. Robinson discussed provisions for taking care of invalid veterans, but the others spoke on tariff.

PROOF DEMANDED.

Mr. McKellar had a brief colloquy with Senator Ransdell, Democrat, of Louisiana, upon demand of the latter for proof of his statements that a sugar trust existed. Four or five Senators went to Mr. McKellar's aid, but Mr. Ransdell declined to be convinced, concluding that he would "neither deny nor confirm the existence of such a trust."

The Tennessee Senator challenged supporters of the bill to show how it would aid the farmers, asserting that little of their products remained on the farm. He asserted that the proposed tariff on sugar would mean only that Congress was "legislating money into the pockets of the sugar trust," and estimated that on three necessities, meats, flour and sugar, the country would be taxed between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

MUST HOLD NOSE.

"Senators have admitted that this bill is going to help the speculators and the profiteers more than anybody else. The Senator from Kansas knows it, too, yet I suppose he will vote for it. I want to say that if he does, after the speech he has made, he will have to hold his nose."

Senator McLean, Republican, of Connecticut, said that the intention was to save the agricultural industry. Mr. McKellar replied that the life of the law would be too short. Mr. McLean replied that while it might cause an increase in prices, he felt the better course would be for the country to pay them now, "rather than to await destruction of the farming business and then pay high prices permanently."

Senator Fletcher accused the Republicans of using the tariff bill to make protectionists out of all farmers and "sew up their votes on every protective tariff matter."

The Senate will meet an hour earlier tomorrow.

STEPHENS COMMISSIONS BERKELEY PRESIDENT.

DAVID P. BARROWS MADE MAJOR IN NATIONAL GUARD OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Gov. Stephens today commissioned David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, a major of infantry, National Guard of California. Maj. Barrows will at once assume command of the first separate battalion consisting of two companies at Berkeley, one in Sacramento and in Fresno, it was announced.

When America entered the World War Maj. Barrows entered the first training class at San Francisco and was commissioned major of cavalry, assigned to the intelligence department and served in Siberia. He later became lieutenant-colonel and, when discharged was commissioned lieutenant-colonel of cavalry in the Reserve Corps. He was the first State commander of the American Legion.

PLANS OF SOCIALISTS FOR MEET COMPLETED.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE IN VIENNA FEBRUARY 22. VOTES ARE APPORTIONED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

INNSBRUCK (Austria) Feb. 3.—The committee intrusted with the formulation of a program for the international Socialist conference, which will meet in Vienna, February 22, has completed its work. Only those bodies who have repudiated the second internationale and stand by the declarations of the Berne Socialist conference will be recognized.

Eight votes each will be given the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia and Germany.

Socialist headquarters in Chicago announced that delegates would not be sent to the Vienna conference because the time was too short.

Russian Girl Dancers Freed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Corrella and Isabella Friado, Russian girls who landed here Monday and who were detained on suspicion of being propagandists for the soviet government of Russia, were freed yesterday by immigration officials following the findings of a court of inquiry on Angel Island, the court deciding that suspicions were unfounded.

ARIZONA PROTESTS FOR O'CALLAGHAN.

SENATE PASSES BILL GIVING WOMEN EQUAL RIGHT ON PARTY COMMITTEE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 3.—The Legislature has adjourned until Monday, tomorrow being Arbor Day. The calendar was well cleared up in both Houses.

Without division, the House passed a Senate joint memorial, protesting against the deportation of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork.

The Senate passed a bill giving women equal rights on party central committees, but the House Judiciary Committee reported against a bill providing for women jurors.

A bill giving deceased soldiers burial at State expense, was defeated.

After spirited debate, the Senate passed a bill appropriating $250,000 for relief of farmers below the Laguman dam near St. Johns. The dam has cost the State about $400,000, secured by mortgage on lands to be irrigated.

Senator Maddock has offered a bill providing for counties where [illegible] ...ification 10% is charged. This ...Senator has a bill demanding that certified checks offered on any public works shall be drawn upon an Arizona bank. This has reference to an issue of $4,000,000 Maricopa county road bonds now repudiated by eastern purchasers, it being alleged that the penalty check offered is valueless.

The Senate passed a House bill giving community property to the surviving husband or wife. A House bill provides pay for outgoing officeholders when their terms of office fail to fill out the full two years to which they were elected. Under this, the retiring officers, State and county, may claim four days' more pay.

TRADES COMMITTEE MEETS AT CAPITOL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The permanent committee on Communications, formed on recommendations of the second Pan-American financial conference, held its first meeting today at the Department of Commerce with delegates from South America and Europe present.

Secretary Alexander, chairman of the committee, announced that five subcommittees had been organized to deal with ocean transportation, ship and insurance documentation, railroad transportation, radio, cable communications and postal facilities.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Admiral du Mesnil, commanding French naval forces in the Near East, has sent an ultimatum to the Turkish Nationalist government at Angora demanding the immediate release of French soldiers captured by the Nationalists in recent engagements, says a Constantinople dispatch to the Matin.

He has threatened to bombard localities occupied by Nationalist forces if his demands are not met.

Women Protest Villard Address at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 3.—Hundreds of prominent women have signed petitions protesting against the invitation extended to Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, and former editor of the New York Evening Post, to address a joint meeting of the City Club and the Woman's City Club.

The petitions referred to him as a pacifist and supporter of conscientious objectors during the war, and said public recognition of him would injure the cause of loyalty and Americanism in this community.

KING REVENUE BILL BEFORE SECRETARIES.

MEASURE SCORED BY SPEAKERS AND ANOTHER MEETING IS PLANNED.

Declaring that those who are opposed to it want to know what it is going to cost to administrate the affairs of this State before they levy further taxes, Assemblyman Sidney T. Graves yesterday delivered a scathing denunciation of the King revenue and taxation bill, at a luncheon of the Associated Secretaries of Southern California in the Union League Club Auditorium.

Mr. Graves pointed out that the proposed measure would not equalize taxes, as the administration promises, and that when it comes to levying a tax of $17,000,000 on business the people are entitled to time in which to make a study of the proposition. He denounced the Governor's efforts to hurry the bill through as an emergency measure. Assemblymen Badham and Loucks also expressed their disapproval of the bill. It was defended by Speaker Henry W. Wright.

The Associated Secretaries, who represent the industrial and commercial interests of Los Angeles and vicinity, held a get-together luncheon yesterday to meet Assemblymen and Senators from Los Angeles county and discuss some of the proposed bills with them. Senators Carr, Chamberlain and Hart, and Assemblymen Badham, Baker, Graves, Loucks, Pedrotti, White and Wright were in attendance.

The discussion of the King measure became so lively that the secretaries decided to hold another meeting, open to the general public. It will take place in the Union League Club Auditorium at 8 p.m., February 10, with representatives of industrial and commercial organizations on hand to discuss the subject.

SEA TRADE TO SOUTH IS WELL CARED FOR.

SHIPPING BOARD HEAD SAYS VESSELS IN SERVICE ARE SUFFICIENT.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3. — Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board does not expect to see any immediate increase in the volume of freight to Latin-American countries, he told the committee on transportation and communication dealing with Latin-American problems today at its initial meeting. The committee, which grew out of the second Pan-American financial conference, received reports from five subcommittees and adopted resolutions designed to improve trade conditions with South America.

Admiral Benson, chairman of the Ocean Transportation Committee, declared that, judging from observation of freight movements he had made, there were enough vessels running to Latin-American countries now to care for available business. He also discussed the policy of the Shipping Board as to trade routes, and said that in the Latin-American service the board had seventy-seven vessels of 550,000 tons.

Senator Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the radio cable communications subcommittee, introduced a resolution which was adopted, providing that Congress be urged to pass the bill authorizing the Navy Department to accept press messages at a fair rate to and from South America.

HEATED DEBATE ON CRAP SHOOTING BILL.

MISSOURI COLORED REPRESENTATIVE DENOUNCES POPULAR INDOOR SPORT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Feb. 3. After a heated debate of three hours, in which the discussion covered gambling in all its forms, the House today voted to send to engrossment the Botts anticrap shooting bill.

Representative Moore of St. Louis, negro, made a lengthy speech in favor of the bill, in which he denounced crap shooting.

Attacks on the measure were led by other members, who urged enactment of a bill to abolish all gambling. The Botts bill would make it unlawful for a person to sell or to have dice in his possession or to engage in gambling with them.

Before the final vote the House defeated an amendment prohibiting the use of cards, checkers, dominoes and ouija boards.

Representative Moore during the debate, read from a St. Louis newspaper an article which he contended showed that the white people had invented crap shooting and had instructed the negro in the art of using dice.

Representative Elmer declared that "the American people are a nation of gamblers—that gambling is bred into their systems—and that if the bill is passed and enforced, half of the white people and all of the negroes would be in jail."

FORCED TO LAY OFF FROM WORK

Could Only Work Nine Days Out of Two Months.

Los Angeles Man Says Tanlac Restored Health.

Never Felt Better in His Life Than He Does Now.

"For several years, suffering from the after-effects of influenza and wanting something to build themselves up, believe Tanlac is the best medicine in the world, for I have tried nearly all of them," said Thomas Conway, 229 East 5th Street, Los Angeles.

"Ever since I had the flu two years ago, I have suffered awfully with indigestion and constipation, and became badly run-down. I lost my appetite and nearly everything else disagreed with me, and the pains in my head hurt so bad I used to get up four or five times a night. I had no strength and my muscles were right flabby, and I was so weak and run-down I could only work 9 days out of two months.

"But Tanlac helped me from the very start. It began to help me sleep good and my appetite returned. I commenced to pick up in weight and never felt better in my life than I do right now. My muscles are hard and firm, and I am so strong and well since taking Tanlac I can lay six bricks better and with more ease than I could one before I started taking it. There is no doubt about Tanlac being the medicine for a person in the fix I was in."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores. A personal Tanlac representative is at their Fifth and Broadway Store Afternoons.—[Advertisement.

STATE OF COMA PASSING AWAY.

Boxer Injured at Y.M.C.A. Shows Signs of Recovery.

Winter Guests at Pasadena Like Golf Best.

Club Gives Luncheon for Senator-Elect.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Feb. 3.—George A. Rawson, Seattle club man and amateur athlete, who has been in a state of coma at his winter residence here since January 20, following a boxing match at the Y.M.C.A., now has a chance for recovery, the doctors say.

Three days ago the doctors regarded his case as hopeless and it was thought he was dying. Today he opened his eyes again. He opened them at frequent intervals during the day and twisted about in his bed, giving evidence of returning consciousness. It is apparent, though, that he is still unable to recognize those about him.

GOLF FAVORITE SPORT.

In a questionnaire submitted to all the guests at the Maryland, Huntington, Green and Pasadena hotels, to ascertain the favorite outdoor sport or recreation of the winter visitors, golf was first by a wide margin. Ninety per cent of the winter visitors indicated golf as their most popular pastime. Motoring was second and horseback riding was third. Tennis was fourth. Two guests gave flying as their favorite sport.

SENATOR SHORTRIDGE GUEST.

U. S. Senator-elect Samuel Shortridge of California was the guest of honor at a complimentary luncheon at Flintridge Country Club today, at which Former Senator Frank P. Flint was the host. A group of representative Pasadena men were invited by ex-Senator Flint to the luncheon to meet the new Senator from California. This affair was one of the first social events at the newly completed Flintridge clubhouse.

ASK FOR BOND ISSUE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 3.—Increasing congestion in the Santa Ana city schools, demands that another bond issue for $150,000 be voted to provide additional buildings, according to a decision of the Board of Education today.

The election will be held within six weeks, it is said.

Half of the money derived from the bond issue will be held for grammar school purposes and half for the High School.

TO COMPLETE "ARK."

Work on Gospel Boat Commenced Again at San Pedro.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Feb. 3.—Rev. J. E. Lewis's mission church-boat Church of the Living God, otherwise known to residents of Terminal Island as the Ark, will be ready to sail from Los Angeles Harbor for Liberia, Africa, within sixty days, the colored minister declared yesterday. Rev. Lewis took on a force of laborers to assist him in completing the work on the queer-looking craft, which is now only 20 per cent completed.

Several law-suits have centered around the building of the Ark on tidelands at Terminal Island. J. Kohara, Japanese boatbuilder, recently obtained an order permitting him to remove the boat, on the grounds that it was a menace to his boatbuilding plant, which is situated close by. Oscar Hudson, Liberian Consul in San Francisco, however, took up Rev. Lewis's fight and secured the vacating of the order.

Work on the craft was begun in the spring of 1919 by Rev. Lewis and a number of his followers, several score of whom are expecting to embark on the Ark for a trip to Africa. Upon the arrival of the craft at Liberia, the boat will be used for missionary purposes on African rivers, never before penetrated by a sea-going vessel.

Expert boatbuilders, who have examined the hull of the Ark, declare that the craft will never proceed far from Los Angeles Harbor without divine intervention. Rev. Lewis designed the craft himself, it measuring 85 feet over all, 16 feet, 4 inches beam, and will draw thirty inches of water. The shallow draft is explained by Rev. Lewis as necessary in the navigation of the African rivers.

Boatbuilders say the vessel will be top heavy and generally unseaworthy on account of faulty construction and designing. Rev. Lewis however, has every confidence in his abilities along shipbuilding lines. He also claims to have been a navigator since he was 12 years of age, and says he will pilot his vessel safely from the harbor to the West African coast, via the Panama Canal. Two gasoline engines are to propel the craft.

After being idle for many months, Rev. Lewis and his crew of day laborers again began construction work yesterday.

LONG TIME COMING.

Pomona Man Gets Mail After Eleven Years.—Plan New Park.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Feb. 3.—Nearly eleven years after it had been mailed to him, Perry Blickenstaff today received a post card sent him by N. E. Lewis of this city. Mr. Lewis at that time was living at Long Beach and Mr. Blickenstaff at Lordsburg, now La Verne. The card was mailed by Mr. Lewis at Long Beach on July 17, 1919. It was remailed from La Verne on Feb. 1, 1921, according to the postmark, and was received at the Lewis home, 408 West Seventh street today. Mr. Blickenstaff is now making his home with the Lewis family. Mr. Blickenstaff is of the opinion that the card has been in the La Verne postoffice all these years.

FAVOR NEW PARK.

Pomona's free public camping ground at Ganesha Park, which has been a most popular stopping place for motorists touring to California to the East, has outgrown its present site and should be moved to a larger area. This is the decision of Mayor W. A. Vandegrift and Park Superintendent J. M. Paige, following a tour of free camping places maintained by other Southern California cities. Local officials are now attempting to locate a larger site and plan to provide gas, shower baths and other conveniences, for which a nominal charge will be made.

HOME ON A ROCK.

Island Dwellers Driven from Abiding Place by Law.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 3.—Gull Rock or island, lying a mile and a quarter off the south shores of Santa Cruz Island, has been preempted by two alleged squatters, John Gorgensen and Jacob Hansen. The two men for several years had a cabin on the shore of Santa Cruz Island, and were named as defendants in an ejectment suit brought in the courts here by the Santa Cruz Island Company.

Deputy Sheriff John Longawa made a voyage to the island to serve papers on the men in the suit, but found a deserted cabin. The men had loaded their effects into a skiff and put off to Gull Rock, which is owned by the government. There they have taken possession of a cave, one of several formerly occupied by the gulls and other sea birds, and it is said by this move have defeated the ejectment suit.

Gull Rock is some three acres in extent, and at times is heavily sprayed by the sea, though the cave where the men now live is high and dry, with usually a boiling surf surrounding it.

SEALS TO ENGLAND.

Santa Barbara Exporter Fills Large European Order.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 3.—Ten seals have been brought here from Santa Cruz Island, where they were caught, for shipment to London, Eng. They were ordered from Capt. George M. McGuire, seal exporter of this city, for an English road show. They will be taken in hand by a trainer on their arrival in London, and it is said by July each will be able to perform any and all of the marvelous stunts which make the seal a feature of the American circus.

Capt. McGuire states that England and the Netherlands are the only countries that so far have ordered seals since the war closed, and before, all the other countries, he says, apparently having as much as they can do to feed themselves. Germany, which before the war was one of the largest users of Santa Barbara island seals, has not begun to order the creatures as yet.

COUNCIL SCOFFS AT PROPOSED ORDINANCE.

REFUSE TO REGULATE HEAT OF APARTMENT—CURE SICK WITH PRAYERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 3.—An attempt to have legislation by the City Council to force all apartment-houses to have steam heat, was ridiculed by the Council, the members of which body said it was the business of the apartment-house owner, whether he heated or did not heat his house. If tenants desired to live in a steam-heated apartment or one not steam-heated, that was their persona matter.

The suggestion for the steam-heating ordinance came from the Chamber of Commerce and was instigated by a woman from Seattle, who complained of cold in her apartments and who told of a similar condition in Seattle.

ADMINISTER TO SICK.

The organ pavilion in Balboa Park was crowded yesterday with sick, cripples in wheel chairs, cripples on crutches and others suffering from infirmities, who sought healing from Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, an evangelist here. There were 105 patients treated by Mrs. McPherson during the afternoon, many of whom where apparently healed at the time. Mrs. Addie Mandenhall, an invalid, who has been confined to her bed for five years, was taken to the park in the police ambulance, by courtesy of Chief of Police James Patrick. Mrs. Mandenhall was able to sit up after the healing service, for the first time in five years.

so we don't have to come down. While other foods soared to war-time prices we advanced the price of Shredded Wheat very little—so little you didn't feel it. Considering its nutritive value Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the cheapest food in the world today. It is 100 per cent whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Contains more real nutriment than beef, or eggs, and costs much less.

Two Biscuit with hot milk make a warm, nourishing meal at a cost of but a few cents. Delicious with fruits and fruit juices.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS
Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is pleasant to take and entirely vegetable; therefore harmless.—[Advertisement.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Harping on Price Question; Bonds Are Stronger; Business News.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

A Los Angeles retailer accuses Trade Talk of "harping too much on the price of commodities."

As a matter of fact there is no economic question so vitally interesting to the public at the present time as that of prices.

The consumer is not yet en rapport with the retailer, although he is buying more freely than he did a few weeks ago. For the "good of the order," and perhaps of himself, he has declared the buyer's strike more or less off.

Whatever may be said for recent cuts in commdaity prices, it is no secret that the high cost of living is still high.

Farmers bewail the loss of $6,000,000,000 expected profits. Sugar producers claim reductions that would bring them close to bankruptcy were it not for reserves. Vegetable growers say that their goods have shrunk in value almost to the vanishing point.

Housewives read of these reduced wholesale prices and fare gaily forth with baskets to be filled, but are met with the old war-time prices. They protest and cite their authority, only to be told that one is not to believe everything one reads in newspapers, and that there is nothing to the stories.

The cafeteria or restaurant addict reads and imagines that at last his day has come. That is, he thinks so until he joins the bread line at his favorite gastronomic resort, when he finds that half a dozen nibbles of beet, representing about half a vegetable, still costs 7 or 8 cents; that a score of lonesome and anemic looking peas are still rated in the schedule at a dime, and that a tiny slab of butter will set him back the price of a postage stamp. Some one with an analytical mind has figured that it would take sixty of these slabs to make a pound. If this estimate is correct the eater out is paying $1.20 per pound for a commodity which is sold to retailers for 45 cents. Turnip is still a luxury and spinach can only be considered in terms of higher mathematics.

From one of the most economical cities in the country, based on cost of food products, Los Angeles has become one of the most expensive. Our food is costing too much money. It is out of joint with the times. Prices appear to have been revised upward instead of downward, and there is altogether too much of the "all the traffic will bear" theory in evidence.

The man who carries a lunch bucket is going to strenuously oppose all propositions to lower his wage until the cost of the material which goes into that bucket is lowered in proportion. The issue is a vital one, and naturally enough he wants to know what is the matter. He would like to know why the wholesale cuts he reads of almost every day are not reflected in his household expenses, or in his restaurant or board bill.

And come to think of it, the curiosity is not abnormal. It is even spreading to some of the rest of us.

THE DAY ON 'CHANGE.

Trading was largely professional on a market which showed unmistakable signs of weakness.

A selling movement developed in General Petroleum early in the day, which sent the stock down from Wednesday's close of 128.50 to sales around 128.25, with some future transactions a quarter below that point. Associated was at 97.00, and other listings showed proportionate declines. Republic Petroleum held its own at 37½, a few sales being recorded at 37.

Mines were weak. Tom Reed sold off to 1.07, and Telluride was down to 20 cents. Bonds showed fractional losses.

In New York the rise in call money to 9 per cent was a disturbing feature. Deflation is in active operation in the steel and oil industries.

GOODYEAR FINANCING.

After long discussion and many conferences, it was again announced yesterday in unofficial circles that a definite plan for refinancing the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron has been formulated, and a formal statement is expected within a few days. The plan briefly is said to involve the sale of $25,000,000 first mortgage bonds to the public, from the proceeds of which the secured banking credits will be taken care of. In addition junior certificates will be issued, which will be turned over to the unsecured banking creditors, and the secured and unsecured merchandise creditors.

LOEW THEATERS.

A new Loew theater was scheduled for opening in Cleveland last night, to be followed by one in Indianapolis next week. Twenty-four others are in course of construction, including the Los Angeles house at Seventh and Broadway. There is said to be money on hand to pay all costs. Without the new houses the stock earns $3 and pays $2, or 12 per cent on the present price.

GROWING BANK.

The First National Bank of Culver City will occupy its well and modernly equipped new building on Monday when a formal opening is to be made a function. This bank began business last July in temporary quarters and has enjoyed a growing business. Robert Wankowski is president, A. B. Greenwald, vice-president, and H. R. Whitaker, cashier. These officers, with Richard H. Jeffries, H. P. Davidson and Will A. Dunn, comprise the directorate.

UNITED EASTERN.

Statistics compiled by A. W. Coote's office show that during 1920 the United Eastern Mining Company's net operating income amounted to 89 cents per share, and dividends paid 72 cents per share.

The gross value of the 102,926 tons of ore milled during 1920 was $2,223,819.38, or $21.70 per ton. The net operating income amounted to $11,909 per ton.

It is understood that as of Jan. 1, 1921, United Eastern had a treasury surplus in excess of $900,000 in cash and Liberty Bonds.

The figures as of Jan. 1, 1921, showed reserves of assured ore of 269,207 tons of an average value of $22.29 per ton. Deducting from this the 102,926 tons milled during 1920 we have remaining 162,437 tons or sufficient to run the mill at capacity for more than eighteen months from Jan. 1, 1921, exclusive of any new ore developed by mining operations during the year 1920. The amount of new ore opened will not be known until the annual report for 1920 is issued.

TOBACCO SALES GROW.

January sales of the United Cigar Stores Company totaled $5,962,224, an increase of 9.76 per cent over January, 1920, and 50 per cent above January, 1919.

LINCOLN ON GOLD.

Faced by a rapidly diminishing gold production, and the possibility of the nations of the world being forced to adopt some other standard of value if more of the precious metal is not mined, and the industry given government protection to a larger extent than is now the case, we are reminded of a message sent by Abraham Lincoln to the miners in the West a few hours before his assassination:

"Now that the rebellion is overthrown, and we know pretty nearly the amount of our national debt, the more gold and silver we mine we make the payment of that debt so much easier. I shall promote their interests (the miners) to the utmost of my ability; because their prosperity is the prosperity of the nation, and we shall prove, in a very few years, that we are, indeed, the treasury of the world."

BOND PRICES.

The expected upturn in bond prices, which was scheduled to take place after the first of the year has occurred, or rather, is in process of happening, and affords one of the interesting developments of the current financial outlook. There are still many good bargains to be had, but slowly and surely the price level is rising and these bargains are becoming merely good safe investment buys.

An encouraging advance is being registered in Liberties, which, in the more active issues, has been about three points. An extensive investment demand is reported on the part of savings banks, attracted by the high interest yield. There has also been a good reinvestment demand, and a buying back of Issues sold before the close of the year for the purpose of establishing tax losses.

In some investment quarters there is a disposition to shift from the short term to the long-term securities, due, probably, to the expected easing of money, and the belief that short-term securities might not afford such attractive dividend possibilities later as they do now.

DANSTON MONOTYPE.

Philadelphia News Bureau discusses the Lanston monotype machine, a $6,000,000 corporation of that city, which has made a remarkable sales record during the past ten months. On the Pacific Coast the business is conducted by the Monotype Company of California, an independent selling corporation with representatives in the principal cities. Unfavorable de-

PRODUCE PRICES FIRM UNDER BRISK DEMAND.

POTATOES SLUMP IN CARLOT MARKET; PEAS SCARCE AND HIGHER.

Fruits and vegetables were in active demand on the local produce market yesterday, and prices were firm and unchanged for nearly all lines at the close of the session. Receipts, both from the country and by rail, were light, and the bulk of the fancy offerings were absorbed by the trade during the early hours of the day. Peas recovered slightly on account of the limited arrivals from local producing sections, selling at an advance of about 2 cents per pound for the fancy offerings. Garlic also advanced, despite heavy arrivals, showing a gain of 3 cents per pound during the day.

A slightly weaker undertone developed on the wholesale market for potatoes, particularly the Idaho Russets, which were down about 15 cents per hundred pounds. In the carlot market, Rockton Burbanks dropped sharply moving at a decline of 35 to 40 cents per sack. Carlot sales of Russets were made at a decline of 10 cents per hundred, prices ranging from $1.90 to $1.70 per sack.

The shipping market for cauliflower was strong yesterday, although there were too few sales to establish a market. Supplies were scarce and the wire inquiry was brisk. Growers were getting from 90 cents to $1 per crate for their best offerings. Lettuce continued dull and weak, mixed cars bringing from $1.60 to $1.65 per crate.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET UNSETTLED.

UNFAVORABLE BRITISH ADVICES TEND TO UPSET EARLY TRADING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The cotton market was unsettled during today's early trading owing to continued unfavorable British trade advices. Monday's advance in call money rates and reports of tight credit conditions in some parts of the South also affected. The market was barely steady at a decline of 15 to 32 points with March sold up from 13.45 to 13.60 and receding to 13.42 early. Later developments were similar fluctuations with July selling off from 14.33 to 14.20 cents, or about 30 points net lower.

All months made new low ground for the movement on continued liquidation and Wall-street selling. The weakness of grain was also an unsettling factor on the break, which extended to 45 to 55 points net lower.

Slight midday rallies were checked by reports of an easier basis in the Southwest, the market selling off to 50 to 80 points.

What's In a Name?

Thomas Fuller has said, in part: "A name is a kind of face whereby one is known"—a statement that was never as true and as necessary for our welfare as it is today.

All business is based on credit and credit is really but faith in the reputation and character of the men engaged in business.

A House that includes in its directorate substantial, reputable business men whose positions in their community have been achieved by association with successful, dependable enterprises, is a safe house with which to deal.

Our Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates are supported and backed by a directorate that consists of some of Southern California's leading business men.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Substantially the same factors and influences which have held the stock market in check recently were existent today. Trading was largely limited to speculative favorites and price changes were mainly downward.

Money was the pivot around which the sluggish market revolved. Call money opened at yesterday's early rate of 4 per cent, rising to 9. On the face no perceptible change occurred in quotations for time funds, but the supply indicated increasing diminution.

News dealing with general industrial and commercial conditions seemed to justify hopes of greater activity, but railroad earnings reports were not encouraging.

Much of the day's stock dealings was made up of less than a half score of issues. Of these, the more prominent were General Asphalt, Mexican Petroleum, Atlantic, Gulf and a few rails, notably Northern Pacific and Texas Pacific.

The market was raided in the last hour, heaviness centering in Atlantic, Gulf, Crucible Steel and popular oils. Selling was concurrent with the news that the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank had raised its rate of discount on indebtedness certificates from 5 to 5½ per cent. Sales amounted to 535,000 shares.

Foreign exchange was irregular, firmness in sterling being offset by heaviness in many of the continental remittances.

Liberty issues improved, also some local traction issues, but the general bond market was irregular and narrow. Total sales (par value) $12,450,000.

Callable as a whole or in part on any interest date as follows: at 106 and interest on or before January 1, 1924; at 105 and interest after January 1, 1924 and on or before January 1, 1927; and at decreasing prices to maturity

Central Union Trust Company of New York—Trustee

Business: The Beaver Board Companies manufactures a general line of materials used in the building trade. Its products are handled by over 15,000 dealers, and with its subsidiaries it is the largest manufacturer of wallboard in the world and one of the largest manufacturers of roofing and gypsum products. One of its chief properties is The Vulcanite Roofing Company

Security: These notes are the senior issue and only funded debt of the Company with the exception of $927,689 of mortgages and serial notes of three subsidiaries, existing when acquired.

The Company, out of its total assets upon its balance sheet of more than $38,000,000, has applicable to this issue net assets of $24,221,000 or 4½ times the amount of notes outstanding, while the net quick assets amount to $10,830,000 or more than 200% of the principal of this issue.

The Company covenants that no mortgage, other than purchase money mortgages, shall be placed upon its property or those of its subsidiaries during the life of these notes, and that it will always maintain net quick assets equal to at least 125% of the principal amount of notes outstanding.

Earnings: The Companies now constituting The Beaver Board Companies for the last five years showed average net earnings applicable to this issue, after depreciation but before Federal taxes, of more than five times the interest charges and during the first ten months of 1920 these earnings amounted to $4,510,000 or over eleven times the interest charges on this issue for the entire year.

Inventories: The Company's inventories which are largely manufactured by it from its own raw materials have shown no appreciable shrinkage from balance sheet values.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of this issue are to be used as working capital for the increase in business in 1921 expected by the management.

SINKING FUND: The Company covenants to pay annually to the Trustee for the retirement of these notes, either in cash or in notes of this issue, the following amounts on the following dates:

December 31, 1921, $100,000	December 31, 1924, $300,000	December 31, 1927, $500,000	December 31,

Highest Prices for Grains Are Made at Open.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The highest prices for grains were made early with a break later that carried prices down well toward previous low levels. There was a distrustful feeling at the close with net losses of 3¼ to 4¼ cents on wheat, ⅛ to ⅝ cent on corn, ⅛ to ¼ cent on oats, 2½ to 3 cents on rye, and ⅛ cent on barley.

A great deal of pessimism is displayed by the trade in general, based largely on the conditions as for some time past. Whenever the markets show weakness this feeling appears.

A feature of the trading was the poor buying after the good show of strength early and advance on the previous day's closing. Local operators believed prices were low enough but when they turned they became sellers and assisted in causing the late decline.

One trouble with the corn market, as most operators see it, is the slow cash demand from the East, although the seaboard took 65,000 bushels and demand business was 12,000 bushels. The country is selling in spots and cash wheat weakened to the lowest on the crop so far. The hedging business continues with speculators taking the sales on the belief that prices are relatively as low they cannot go much lower. Feeders are all losing money despite the low prices for corn.

Oats were down to nearly the previous low point with commission houses leading the selling. Buying of July and selling of May the current difference furnished a good part of the trading. The close was at intermediate prices.

NEARBY BARLEY DROPS TO NEW LOW LEVEL.

A sharp drop in all shipments of barley was the outstanding feature of the session on the local grain exchange yesterday. Support was lacking, and the market developed a very weak tendency toward the close of the call. Track barley broke to the extent of $3.25 per ton, the transit article slumped $2 per ton, selling at $1.60, and the ten-day shipment was $3 lower. February barley closed 75 cents lower, while the August shipment slumped $1.75 per ton. Milo, in which the majority of the sales were transacted, held steady, with sales of the ten-day delivery at $1.95, and the fifteen and twenty-day shipments at $1.92½.

Huntington Central

DRILLING

of well No. 1 will be started on next Sunday, February 6th, at 2 p.m.

is invited to be present to see the "spudding-in" of this—the most promising well in the entire Huntington Beach Oil Field.

"On top of the true anticline," is the way one man—for thirty years in the oil-producing business — described the location of this well.

"Directly in line with all the producing wells in the Field," are the words of another.

"IF

you don't get a big producer here there is something radically wrong with the science of geology," said a man to us a few days ago. This man is a widely-known geologist and an oil operator in several States for many years.

We are to drill two wells on this lease, and from four to [illegible] wells on our Heaston lease, a few blocks away, where [illegible] is now up and [illegible] drilling is to begin by March 1st.

PLAY SAFE

By a[illegible] 'spudding-in" of Well No. 1, and be prepa[illegible] of Huntington Central shares after you [illegible] been "shooting straight" and mean bu[illegible] BE SURE of getting your shares before th[illegible] must make your subscription for shares by [illegible] to our office and talk it over with us. If you prefer, see your [illegible] broker, and make subscription through him. DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE for at the rate they're selling, the present allotment will be CLOSED OUT before many days. All money received by mail after this allotment is sold, will be returned to the purchaser.

For the benefit of those who cannot find time to get to our office during the day, we will remain open till 8:30 for the balance of this week.

GOING—at par 10c a Share—GOING

HUNTINGTON CENTRAL OIL COMPANY

222 I. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal. 12351.

Fruit, Cattle, Poultry, Vegetables, Flowers

—almost everyone in Southern California is interested in them. Even dwellers in apartment-houses like to read about outdoor pursuits. All these things are pictured and described in The Times' Farm and Tractor Magazine, one of the many features of the Sunday Times.

WHY
VENTURE OIL COMPANY
STOCK IS THE BEST BUY ON THE MARKET TODAY

Because:—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY has the two finest properties in the very center of the gusher belt of the Huntington Beach Field—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY Well No. 1 is now down over 3000 feet with strong oil showings and constantly increasing gas pressure—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY Well No. 1 is now ready to cement off, and is pronounced by experts to give the greatest promise of a real gusher—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY has acquired property only 330 yards from the famous Bolsa Chica lease of the Standard Oil Company. The Bolsa Chica well came in for an estimated flow of 20,000 barrels—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY Well No. 2 starts drilling at once—it is only 330 yards from the Bolsa Chica Gusher—

VENTURE OIL COMPANY is just above the oil sands with Well No. 1—and right next to the biggest gusher in the Field with its Well No. 2—

Figure it out for yourself—WHAT WILL THIS STOCK SELL FOR WHEN WELL NO. 1 COMES IN AND WELL NO. 2 HITS THE OIL SANDS????

The Bright Side

It may be said with truth and tremendous emphasis that the principal difference between the optimist and pessimist is that the optimist sees the bright side by looking into the future, while the pessimist can only see the bright side by looking into the past after his opportunity has gone. He belongs to the "I knew him when—Club."

The optimist—the man of keen vision—studies conditions and knows opportunities when they are coming instead of after they are gone.

The BANDINI PETROLEUM COMPANY has as stockholders a class of keen, careful students of facts and true conditions. They are truly optimists because they appreciate facts for their real intrinsic value.

Join the Bandini stockholders and share in the opportunity to make profits of dollars per dimes. See Bandini NOW. FREE AUTO will leave the northwest corner of Sixth and Hill streets at 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Take this trip sure.

PORT NOTES.

The Luckenbach Steamship Company's freighter Walter A. Luckenbach arrived yesterday afternoon from New York, via the Panama Canal, bringing a heavy cargo of manufactured products for discharge at the harbor.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha's freighter Tokuyo Maru arrived at noon yesterday from Portland, Or., bringing 1600 tons of fertilizer for discharge here. The fertilizer was loaded in Chile on the last voyage of the steamer, but for an unknown reason the cargo was carried all the way to Japan, thence to Portland and finally back to the harbor here before being discharged. An enormous loss to the T. K. K. line resulted in the blunder, it is said. The Tokuyo Maru will sail today for Valparaiso, Chile.

The European-Pacific Line freighter Pomona arrived from northern ports yesterday morning to load cargo here for the United Kingdom and continental European ports.

CHAMBER GETS BUSY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 3. — The Tucson Chamber of Commerce hereafter will be a clearinghouse for all propositions of an advertising or charitable nature. No member will subscribe to any proposition unless he sees a letter of indorsement from the secretary of the chamber. It is stated that "many such offerings in the past have been unworthy, unscrupulous and unprofitable."

Local Boy Scouts hereafter will assist in the beautification of the city, the first task assigned being to clear from telegraph and telephone poles unsightly placards, many of them advertising candidates in last year's primary and general elections.

Mayor Rasmussen has formally accepted the offer of service, adding the thanks of the city.

CONSTRUCTION COST DOWN IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A 20 per cent decrease in the cost of building construction in New York in the last month was indicated today in bids of thirteen contractors for subway repair work.

The lowest bids received for the same job last September was $456,-191, while three today were less than $370,000.

GEORGETOWN BUILDING IS ATTACKED BY FIRE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Fire of undetermined origin broke out this morning under the roof of the north dormitory at Georgetown University, but was brought under control before the building had been seriously damaged.

The structure is the oldest at the university, having been built in 1795. It housed about sixty students.

TYPHUS HOLDS UP TRIESTE IMMIGRANTS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Nine hundred immigrants were ordered held on the steamship Presidente Wilson upon its arrival from Trieste, Italy, because of the discovery today of four suspected cases of typhus among their number. The patients were removed to a hospital.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS LAST MONTH A RECORD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Panama Canal tolls in January amounted to $1,095,864, exceeding by $80,000 the previous record, the War Department was informed in a dispatch today from Gov. Harding. Vessels passing through the canal during the month numbered 282.

LEGISLATURE TO GET NEW PLANS.

Agriculture Department May Have Scope Widened.

Several Smaller Boards Would be Merged.

Divisions Scheme of Farmers of Measure.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—When the California Legislature turns to consideration of Gov. Stephens's plan for reorganization of the State government, after its legislative recess, one of the bills that will require attention is that increasing duties and scope of the State Department of Agriculture.

The bill creates the position of director of agriculture, which would be an appointive position, carrying a salary of $5000 a year. At least seven divisions are to be arranged, including divisions of plant industry, agricultural chemistry, animal industry, fish and game, forestry, markets and weights and measures. Salaries of $4000 annually are provided for the chiefs of all these bureaus, except weights and measures; he would receive $5000 annually.

A State Board of Forestry, of five members, to serve without compensation, is also authorized; this, the Governor explained in his message transmitting the bills to the Legislature, is provided because of the extent of the State and the diversity of its forestry problems.

The Department of Agriculture would succeed to, and serve in lieu of, the State Commissioner of Horticulture, Board of Horticultural Examiners, State Veterinarian, Stallion Registration Board, State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, Board of Citrus Fruit Shipment, Cattle Protection Board, State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, State Forester, State Board of Forestry, State Fish and Game Commission, State Market Director, State Market Commission, "and the several officers, deputies, and employees of such bodies and offices."

The bill provides that all fees, fines and other moneys received by any of the new departments, or for any of the functions transferred from old agencies, shall be deposited in the State Treasury and paid out only on appropriation. This puts an end to the formerly legalized practice of some of the agencies disbursing their receipts without legislative sanction.

VICTIM OF MURDERER ATTACKED.

Mrs. Trapp, Assaulted Last July, Repels Man Who Gets Her to Stop Her Car.

Armed posses were scouring the roads of Orange county late last night for a fiend who earlier in the evening had attacked Mrs. Roy C. Trapp, widow of a wealthy Fullerton rancher whom Mose Gibson, a negro, murdered last July. On the night of the murder Mrs. Trapp was brutally assaulted by the negro, who since has died on the gallows.

Mrs. Trapp, still in a nervous condition as a result of the ordeal of many months ago, was attacked last night on a lonely stretch of boulevard between Artesia and Norwalk.

Since the night when Mose Gibson killed her husband with a hammer in their Fullerton home, Mrs. Trapp has resided with her brother, Otto Wernke, at Bellflower.

Alone in her automobile she started to drive to Fullerton. On the lonely road a machine approached her from the opposite direction. A man in the other automobile pointed to a front tire on Mrs. Trapp's car, indicating that it was punctured. Mrs. Trapp stopped her automobile and the stranger slowed his car. Mrs. Trapp alighted and was leaning forward, looking for the puncture, when the stranger seized her.

Mrs. Trapp screamed and wrenched herself free. He reached for her again. Then Mrs. Trapp kicked him violently in the stomach. The assailant collapsed and rolled on the ground. Mrs. Trapp jumped into her car and sped toward Fullerton. At the home of Mrs. Julia L. Carpenter, she collapsed. A physician was summoned and the Sheriff's office was notified. Sheriff D. E. Jackson organized a posse of twenty-five armed men and all the roads in the county were patrolled. Mrs. Trapp could give no description of her assailant. Later she was removed to her brother's home.

On July 15, 1920, a negro entered the Trapp ranch home with intent to commit burglary. Mr. Trapp discovered him and in the fight that followed the negro killed the rancher with a claw hammer and then assaulted Mrs. Trapp. Mose Gibson was later arrested, confessed to the crime and was hanged at San Quentin on September 24.

FUR COATS STOLEN.

Boring a hole in a rear door large enough to allow them to reach within and turn a key on the inside, burglars entered the establishment of L. A. Grant on Pier avenue, between the Trolleyway and the Ocean Front in Ocean Park, early last night, and got away with fur coats and collars valued at $3500.

MRS. PEETE'S FATE MAY BE DECIDED TONIGHT.

Woman on Trial for Denton Slaying is Displeased When Defender Bars Her from Witness Stand.

The fate of Mrs. Lofie Louise Peete, accused of the murder of J. C. Denton, will be in the hands of the jury probably tonight, it was declared by the attorneys of both sides last night following the quick closing of all testimony after the decision of Public Defender Aggeler not to call Mrs. Peete to the stand in her own defense.

Arguments, limited by agreement to ten hours, will begin this morning, when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Raymond I. Turney makes the opening address for the prosecution. The counsel have agreed to close their arguments not later than 11 a.m. Saturday and will try to expedite the matter by finishing at the night session today ordered by Judge Willis.

Richard C. Peete, husband of the defendant, was the seventh witness called yesterday by Mr. Aggeler, and at the close of his short testimony the defense rested its case, which consumed only seven hours, and was marked by practically no surprises, except the decision not to call Mrs. Peete. This decision was plainly the hardest blow dealt to Mrs. Peete's composure during the entire trial and she submitted to it only after vigorous protest both to her husband and her counsel. She had previously asserted repeatedly that she was eager to take the stand and tell the jury her story. Her genuine disappointment at being unable to do so was plainly shown in her face and voiced in her protests, although she finally acquiesced in Mr. Aggeler's advice.

BOTH SIDES REST.

Immediately following the testimony of the defense, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine recalled five witnesses for rebuttal and shortly after 4 o'clock he announced that the people rested.

"The defendant rests," replied Mr. Aggeler and the case, which started sixteen days ago, was definitely brought near its close.

A conference between the attorneys and Judge Willis followed and an agreement was reached about the arguments. After Mr. Turney completes his opening speech for the prosecution, Deputy Public Defender Scott and Mr. Aggeler will speak for the defense. They will be followed by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, who will conclude the arguments. Judge Willis will then instruct the jury and the case will go to it for deliberation.

The defense yesterday emphasized two main points:

(1.) Mrs. Peete suffered an injury to her back several years ago and often complained of the injury, and in the opinion of some Denver physicians, would not be able to carry, lift or drag a man weighing 200 pounds.

(2.) By a hypothetical question, the defense attempted to establish that the condition of the body's vital organs were such that death was probably caused by strangulation.

The latter point was testified about by two physicians, Dr. John Mark Lacy and Dr. Roy W. Hammack. The prosecution previously had introduced testimony, through County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner and Dr. Frank R. Webb, that the man found in the Denton basement was killed by a gunshot wound and the jury was shown pieces of lead taken from the neck and told of the manner in which the vertebras were fractured by the force of the bullet.

The physical ability of Mrs. Peete to handle a man weighing 200 pounds was the subject of five depositions from Denver physicians and the prosecution made no attempt to prepare any cross-interrogatories for these witnesses. One of the five, Dr. C. Macumuli, declared Mrs. Peete complained of her back, but that he had put her on a vegetable diet and she was in good condition when she left Denver for California. By agreement in chambers, the prosecution did not object to the depositions, which were sworn to by recognized physicians, but did make successful objection to those coming from seven other persons not qualified as experts.

FINGERS NORMAL.

Other points brought out by the defense were as follows:

Dr. Frank R. Webb stated that all the fingers on the body were normal.

Earl Platt, undertaker with Garrett & Co., testified in the same way.

C. C. Hooper, neighbor of Mrs. Peete when she was in the Denton home, said that one day he was in the Denton house and Mrs. Peete showed him through the place, opening the door of the basement and inviting him to enter. The basement was dark, the witness said, and he declined the invitation.

S. W. Black, salesman for Bullock's, testified that Mrs. Peete consulted with him about some draperies for the Denton home, used her own name and did not say she had a charge account there under the name of Denton. Neither did she buy the draperies, the witness said, giving as her reason that Mr. Denton had not been home to approve of the purchase.

Richard C. Peete stated to the jury that Mrs. Peete in his presence asked Detective Sergeant Jones why Jones did not search the Denton basement at the time she wanted him to do so, while he was investigating Denton's disappearance. Mr. Jones replied that he had not believed it necessary. The testimony of Mr. Peete was for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of Mr. Jones, who denied the supposed conversation. Mr. Peete was not permitted to relate anything about the circumstances of his coming to Los Angeles with Mrs. Peete to assist the prosecution early in the investigation, because Judge Willis sustained an objection by Mr. Woolwine.

HARD COMEBACK.

The rebuttal of the prosecution's five witnesses struck hard at one point which the defense had raised. In the testimony of two defense witnesses, it was stated that Denton had an abnormal finger, the first joint having been amputated. The body found in the Denton home had normal fingers.

Four witnesses, three of whom were relatives of the slain man, were called to testify that Denton's fingers were normal and no part had been amputated, nor were any fingers peculiar in their length. Miss Francis Denton, daughter, and Mrs. Rhoda Merriman, sister of Mr. Denton, were two of the witnesses. Mrs. Oda Au-

ESCAPES "UNGALLANTRY."

Mrs. Peete Foresaw "Humiliation and Insults" on Witness Stand.

Mrs. Peete's failure to take the witness stand in her own defense marked the real climax of the dramatic Denton murder trial. It was a tragedy within a tragedy, enacted before an audience tense with expectations of something tremendous about to happen, but catching only a glimpse behind the scenes and witnessing something just as vital—perhaps more so, than the program for which they had waited for weeks.

A few minutes before 3 o'clock the rumor that Mrs. Peete would not be called as a witness ran across the newspaper benches. At five minutes after 3, Mr. Aggeler confirmed it. There was a brief consultation between Mrs. Peete, her husband, and her attorneys. The iron will and self-control of the accused woman yielded just a trifle. She leaned forward and whispered something to her husband. For a moment there was protest, anger and disappointment in her face. Then, as if gathering strength and self-assurance from the mere thought that the overcrowded courtroom was expecting her to show some emotion, she settled in her chair and once more became her own self.

The afternoon recess gave the first opportunity to question Mrs. Peete. Mr. Aggeler's official statement was brief. "Mrs. Peete will not be called as a witness. This is our final decision," was all he would say. Deputy Public Defender Scott and Vercoe were silent. At the end of the counsel table sat Mrs. Peete, and at her elbow, pale and visibly distressed, was Richard C. Peete.

"The only thing I can add to Mr. Aggeler's statement is that I am in accord with his final decision. We discussed this matter and I fully agree with Mr. Aggeler and my husband. Naturally, I am somewhat disappointed. Everything considered, however, I approve of Mr. Aggeler's decision," was Mrs. Peete's reply to the flood of questions directed at her.

"I feel that things will take care of themselves. I was brought up by people who had faith and patience. I believe that if I was not to testify, something else will take care of me. I am satisfied."

"Mrs. Peete, we know you were very anxious to face the jury and tell your own story. Why didn't you take the stand? What was the reason for declining to put you on?" she was asked.

"It was thought best not to do so," she replied. "I am not used to the kind of treatment that was being prepared for me. My experiences in the past have been with gentlemen. It was known that I was to be subjected to humiliations and insults in the cross-examination, and my husband and attorneys wished to spare me. My disappointment at not testifying is not half as great as Mr. Woolwine's disappointment at not being able to cross-examine me and treat me as some of the other witnesses have been treated. My triumph in causing him this disappointment is greater than his. I am content."

"Mrs. Peete's statement requires no comment," was Mr. Woolwine's reply to this.

RENO HOLDS MAN SOUGHT FOR LEGION.

Former Assistant Adjutant Will be Returned Here for Embezzlement Trial.

Sidney E. Schumacher, former assistant adjutant of the American Legion here and for whom a nation-wide search has been conducted, was arrested in Reno yesterday on the charge of embezzling the funds of Los Angeles Post No. 8, according to word received by Chief of Police Pendegast, from the police chief of the Nevada city. Schumacher will be brought here to face the charge.

Schumacher resigned his office in the local Legion in October of last year to accept a position with a Legion publication in San Francisco. He left this city for the north, but dropped out of sight there. It was then the funds were discovered missing. A warrant was issued and a secret search made for the man.

Later the police were asked to assist in the hunt and shortly thereafter the embezzlement became known to the public, the estimates being that $4000 had been taken in small amounts at intervals. He is charged with having obtained the money by forging vouchers and checks.

BULLOCK'S ASKS FAIR PLAY.

City Fully Informed in Advance as to the Structure Now Forbidden.

"Give Bullock's fair play," is the keynote of a public statement issued yesterday by J. G. Bullock, president of Bullock's store, following action taken by the City Council instructing City Attorney Stephens to take the necessary steps to revoke the city's permit given to Bullock's to build a connecting structure over St. Vincent's Place. The statement follows:

"On Aug. 15, 1919, we addressed a letter to the City Council asking that an ordinance be enacted by that body granting to us a permit to construct, operate and maintain an overhead structure or bridge across St. Vincent's Place and an underground connection under St. Vincent's Place connecting Bullock's store with the Eshman Building and the Hart property located across St. Vincent's Place from Bullock's store. We stated in this letter that we wanted this privilege in order that these properties might be improved and occupied by us, in connection with our present store building, as one institution.

"We stated that if this permission was granted and we were allowed to connect these properties Bullock's proposed to enlarge and improve the Eshman Building and to erect a modern Class A building on the Hart property.

"This application was referred by the Council to the Public Safety Committee and we had several hearings before that committee at which this application was discussed in detail. Our architect, Mr. John Parkinson, came before the committee and explained in detail exactly the kind of structure we proposed to build. The committee recommended that the Council adopt the necessary ordinance, which it did on September 22.

"We had been informed that the city could only give us a revocable permit, but though we contemplated the investment in the structure of several hundred thousand dollars, we felt confident that we could rely on the good faith of the city authorities, and when the ordinance was passed, we went ahead. On the strength of this permit, we have already invested several hundred thousand dollars and have plans for the expenditure of several million dollars for the expansion of our store on Hill and Seventh streets. The connecting structure is an integral and necessary part of these plans.

"We are astounded today to learn of the action of the City Council in instructing the City Attorney to take steps to revoke our permit. We cannot believe that members of the City Council who have the interests of the city at heart will take this final action.

"Los Angeles must go ahead. We have faith in Los Angeles and we are showing it by the development of our business, which only fourteen years ago was started at the corner of Seventh and Broadway. Must we be prevented from expanding and developing?

"We are taking no rights away from the city. St. Vincent's Place still exists after the structure is completed and remains what it is today and always has been—a blind alley.

"Notwithstanding the reported action taken today by the City Council, we still believe that Bullock's will be given fair treatment by the city authorities. All Bullock's asks is fair play."

WORKMAN EXPLAINS AFFIRMATIVE VOTE.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL SAYS HE FAVORS INQUIRY INTO BULLOCK'E QUESTION.

Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, made the following statement yesterday in explanation of his affirmative vote on the ordinance revoking the city permit given Bullock's to erect a bridge structure over St. Vincent's Place:

"In the matter of the permit for the Bullock addition, granted in September, 1919, this question had been referred to the Public Safety Committee of the City Council and all plans and detailed drawings were gone over. Building Superintendent Backus was called into consultation, as was Chief Scott of the fire department.

"The question of whether the city could collect rent for permitting the structure to be built over the alley was gone over with City Attorney Burnell. He told the Council there was no law under which the city could collect rental for this bridgelige building.

"Within the last week every Councilman has been besieged by certain interests declaring that we had given to Bullock's permission to erect the building and that this permit was a 'graft.' Certain publishers have urged upon us the revocation of this permit.

"The matter came up in the Council this morning, on reading of the opinion of the new City Attorney, and on motion duly made and seconded, the City Attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance revoking the permission previously granted.

"I voted in favor of this motion with an idea of looking more closely into the details and into the motives back of the movement to have this permit revoked.

"When the new ordinance is finally presented I shall have enough information so that I shall be able to cast my vote for what I shall consider as being right, and I shall be so supplied with facts that my final decision will not be influenced by outside forces and will in no sense be biased by either fear or favoritism."

BANDITS KIDNAP COUPLE IN AUTO.

Make Dash for Safety After Battle with Officers.

Jump to Running Board, Then Threaten with Rifle.

Pursuers Lose Chase Because Gasoline Gives Out.

Following a gun battle in the hills between Conejo and Calabasas yesterday, two negro bandits, who had been the object of an all-night manhunt, made a spectacular dash for liberty when they held up Willis A. Lowe, Santa Barbara confectioner, now residing in Los Angeles, who was driving a high-powered automobile, and forced him at the point of a rifle to speed them away from the oncoming officers. At gun's point Mr. Lowe brought them back to a point near Burbank, where they left him to resume his journey.

Up to a late hour last night efforts of deputies from the Sheriff's offices of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties had been of no avail.

All day yesterday and all night last night the four roads leading out of Ventura county were heavily guarded by officers and by ranchers, who were prepared to deal summary justice in the event the highwaymen were located.

The chase and escape of yesterday was the sequel to a hunt for burglars who Wednesday had entered the home of M. J. Fagan, who resides near the small town of Newberry Park, just over the Los Angeles county line in Ventura county.

WENT TO GET MAIL.

Mr. and Mrs. Fagan and the wife of an oil worker who lives in the Fagan home went to Newberry Park for their mail. The house was not locked and no one remained on the premises. When they returned in about an hour they found that the house had been entered and that a rifle, a revolver, $50 in money and other property had been taken.

Undersheriff Haydon and three deputies answered a call sent to Ventura and searched all of Wednesday night for the men. Yesterday morning another deputy and two motorcycle officers joined the hunt, and all ranchers between Conejo and Calabasas were notified by telephone to be on the watch and assist the officers. Undersheriff Manning sent Deputies Lipa, Modie and Couts to head off the men if they came this way.

No trace of the men was found until about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the officers discovered two negroes hiding in a small ravine in the Calabasas hills. Both were heavily armed and saw the officers at the same time they were discovered. One of the negroes dropped to his knees and fired on the officers, missing one of them by only a small margin.

BANDITS WIN RACE.

Shots were returned, and the bandits fled toward the highway, with the officers attempting to reach

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

THE NEW GIRL.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A very rich man, who, beginning with the proverbial shoestring, has converted it into a cable that reaches around the world, said to me the other day:

"It used to be the prodigal sons who turned their parents' hair gray with worry. In these times it's the strenuous daughters who keep us awake at night wondering how we are going to keep them at home.

"Take my case, for example. I have just one chick in the world, and all these years that I have been toiling and moiling, and laying up money, the chief thing that I thought about was that I was going to be able to pad her life with luxury, and that she would never have to work as her mother and I had to do when we were young. Well, I've given that girl money and motors and fine houses and fine clothes—everything she wants, except the thing she wants most of all.

"And that's work. She hates society. Going to parties and dancing bores her stiff. She even looks on marriage as a man does—an accident that is liable to happen to you if you aren't careful and don't watch your step, but that you needn't be foolhardy enough to rush into.

"No. What Betty clamors for is work. She demands that I take her into my office, or set her up in business just as I would do if she had been a boy instead of a girl, and I don't know what to do about it. It breaks her mother and me all up, especially her mother, who had looked forward to having a pretty daughter to dress up and show off, somebody who would take a real heart interest in shopping with her, and have romantic confidences to whisper to her, and who would be embroidering doodads for her hope chest.

"And here's a young person who says frankly that if she thought she had to spend the balance of her life trotting around to teas, and conversing with the feeble-minded who frequent such places, she would commit suicide at once, because she prefers a swift, short agony to the slow torture of being bored to death. Here's a girl who prefers reading the stock market to Robert Chambers, and who envies the girl who has got a job more than the one who is going to marry a millionaire who has given her a hundred thousand dollar pearl necklace.

"It's ridiculous for a girl situated like my daughter is to go to work. Yet what am I going to do about it?"

"I do not believe any girl should work outside of her home unless it is absolutely necessary," said another man. "A woman's place is in the home."

"Just what I think," said the first man. "Why can't girls be satisfied to go around and have a good time, and dress themselves up and look forward to getting married, as their mothers did? What is the trouble with girls, anyway?"

"Well," I replied, "the chief trouble with your girl is that she is her father's daughter, and that she has inherited your keen brain, your energy and driving power, your vision and executive ability, and that all the qualities that have made you a success, and that you have had such joy in using, are clamoring for expression in her. You wouldn't hitch a seventy-five-horse-power motor to a five-flea job, and that's what Betty thinks she is doing when you ask her to use that great intelligence of hers on piffling little things like picking out chiffons and talking to jellybean youths.

"Suppose you had nothing in the world to do or to think about except dressing yourself up and buying clothes, and going from one party to another, where you met the same set of aimless, inane people, who repeated over and over again the same bromidic remarks; wouldn't you go crazy with the dullness and monotony of it all? Wouldn't you think it a pretty poor way to spend your life?

"Never to have stood alone, never to have tested your strength, never to have had anything that wasn't given to you, never to have done anything that wasn't really worth while, or to have had any interest that wasn't a manufactured interest, never to have pitted your wit and shrewdness against other people's and won out—if you had missed all of that, wouldn't you have missed most of the fun in life?"

"Of course I would, but I am a man," said Betty's father.

"When a woman has a man's brains, she feels just as a man feels," I responded, "and she's got the same cosmic urge to use her power as he has. The trouble is with nature, that makes girls inherit from their fathers and boys from their mother. That's why so many big strong men, the men who do things, have clever daughters and dull sons."

"Girls weren't always restless like they are now. They used to be satisfied to stay at home, if you would give them enough finery," said the second man.

"There must always have been a certain number of women, strong of mind and body, who longed for a wider, and a freer life, and bigger opportunities than they could find in the small circles in which they lived, but they had to remain in them because there were no doors to their cages," I said. "The young girl of today isn't confined to any cage. The wide world is hers, and she can go as far in it as her strength will take her.

"We've got to realize that we've got a new girl and she is the problem of our times. She's no more like her mother than as if they belonged to a different species. She doesn't think as mother thought at her age, nor have mother's hopes and aspirations. She's far more like father than she is like mother, and so she becomes father's problem more than mother's."

"Well, what are we going to do about it?" the man asked.

"Give her her head," I answered, "but keep a steady rein over her."

Making More Money.

Man Who Deals in Everything Makes Success of Selling Everything That's Salable.

That's the motto upon which Gideon D. Leverett of Montgomery, Ala., has built up one of the most unusual businesses in the country. "A little of everything and the lowest possible price for it." In fact, they say that if one wants anything in the entire alphabet of trade—from automobiles to zinc—they can find it at Leverett's, for the store is famous throughout the South as a clearing-house for all manner of odds and ends.

It wasn't always so, however. Only four years ago Leverett was broke; not "financially embarrassed" or "short of funds," but absolutely penniless and up against the blank wall of failure. Fortunately, however, one of his friends was not in the same condition. There was $500 in the treasury and, exchanging a half interest in his new idea for this working capital, Leverett launched his idea of a store that would buy and sell everything under heaven. Before the year was out Leverett had paid his partner $1000 for his share of the business and, since then, has refused offers of many times this amount for even a portion of the profits.

"There's no secret to the success of the proposition," maintains the man who deals in everything, "save a keen sense of value and the ability to take a loss on some articles that don't sell rapidly and make it up on others for which there is a steady demand. I'll buy anything from a carload of prairie chicken vegetables to a second-hand alarm clock and I've even sold a farm and the fixtures of a restaurant, though these were a little out of my usual line. Keeping prices down to a minimum insures a quick turnover and this, in turn, enables one to make an excellent profit upon the capital invested."

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Courtesy an Asset.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been thinking of business courtesy as valuable publicity for a city.

Recently I came from a good city to what I hope and believe is a better one. The chief reason I have for this faith lies in the fact that the business men of Los Angeles, from the representatives of the largest financial institutions down, understand the law of courtesy.

Courtesy in business is only common sense. The busines man who knows not the value of courtsey will have a limited field. Every thoughtful person becomes an advertisement for the business house where courtesy rules. It is a valuable asset. One cannot tell how soon the humblest person entering an establishment may become a very important agency of publicity. It follows that a city where business courtesy is common will have thousands of publicity agents for it traveling the byways of the country free of cost.

A city requires good publicity even in a larger sense than does the largest of business enterprises. And there can be for no city any form of publicity that will equal the value of the spoken words or written messages of the thousands of tourists who, wherever they travel through the land, are ready to say that the business men, even the newsboys and car conductors of that city try to be accommodating and courteous to all.

It makes a man feel like boosting for such a city. I must be a booster for whatever city I may choose for a home, or for any business in which I may be engaged, or I make a change.

There can be no printed publicity that can equal it. It is the kind that puts the proverbial "punch" in the shade. Publicity, it is true, must have punch and snap, but these qualities without soul, without the manipulates the spinal column as throb within, are worse than no publicity at all. Back of the punch must be the ready handclasp and the friendly gleam of the eye, or the punch is worse than wasted.

I came to Los Angeles only a few weeks ago. I made a complete survey of several lines, with the one purpose of studying the degree to which common courtesy was practiced. The result was that I purchased a home here in beautiful Hollywood and am now enlisted among the boosters of Los Angeles.

Courtesy—which is more vital than even politeness—and publicity go hand in hand.

Chiropractic.

COMPTON, Jan. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read from your excellent paper of a number of instances where a chiropractor had been arrested for practicing without a license.

I have been informed that a chiropractor is required to take all studies that an M.D. is required to take, except that of materia medica. Is this correct?

I also understand that the reason a chiropractor does not study materia medica is because he does not use drugs in treating the sick, but having paid for the knowledge acquired, the same as other professional men.

Is there any way of knowing how many people have been injured by chiropractors from the result of treatment?

Some one who is interested wants answer.

THOUSANDS ASK DRY LAW REPEAL

Well-Signed Petition Filed with City Clerk.

If Names Are Valid, Council Will Have to Act.

Must Repeal City Ordinance or Call an Election.

The "wet" forces of the city yesterday opened their campaign to bring about a repeal of the municipal prohibition enforcement ordinance by filing a referendum petition with City Clerk Shontz bearing 12,000 names asking that the regulation be rescinded or that it be referred to the voters at a special election. The City Clerk's staff at once began the task of checking the names.

The law requires that to call a special election a petition must bear, in this case, about 11,000 names of registered voters of the city. If the petition is found to carry insufficient signatures, George S. Porter, executive chairman of the California Protective League, who filed the names, said a supplementary petition containing 15,000 additional signatures will be filed at once.

The ordinance will take effect on the 20th inst. unless the petition, filed yesterday is found to contain sufficient signatures. It was predicted yesterday that the Council will repeal the ordinance rather than call a special election at an expense to the city of nearly $50,000, unless the church and antisaloon interests of the city bring sufficient pressure to bear on the Councilmen to prevent a repeal.

DIDN'T WANT HER BACK.

Husband Gave Wife Money to Visit Her Family, Then Pinched.

Daniel R. Marks asked his wife, Ida Marks, if she wished to visit her mother. She was delighted with the idea, she told Judge Summerfield in the trial of her divorce suit yesterday. Mr. Marks gave her money for a month's visit.

"He was very nice about it," she said, but when the month expired and she wrote for money to return, she received replies that he did not have the cash. In five months he sent her $14, she declared.

Finally Mrs. Marks returned home and was told by her husband that he did not have any money and did not intend to keep house. The decree was granted to Mrs. Marks.

WIFE ABANDONS SUIT.

Adili Esnault, who came from France to marry Leon Esnault, and found, she says, that he would not provide for her, did not appear in Judge Walton J. Wood's court yesterday and her suit for separate maintenance was dismissed. Mr. Esnault denied his wife's charges.

As Honor Guests.

Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Mrs. W. B. Joyce and Mrs. Herbert C. Wiley were the honor guests at a tea and reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Edward Laurence Doheny and her sister, Mrs. J. Crampton Anderson, at the Doheny residence. It was one of the brilliant functions of the season and the house was made a fairyland of flowers by a multitude of orchids, lilies of the valley, American Beauty roses, Scotch heather and many varieties of early spring bloom.

Mrs. Mary Reed, the possessor of a voice of rare charm and depth, delighted with a group of songs.

Mrs. Doheny and Mrs. Anderson were assisted in receiving by a large number of prominent society matrons. Three hundred guests called.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Doheny are expecting Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Kellogg of Morristown, N. J., and Harold Walker of Washington, D. C., as house guests. Mr. Kellog is attorney for the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company.

Pioneer Loses Fight to Keep Land Filed On.

William J. Johnston, one of the pioneers of Southern California, whose home is at Avalon, Catalina Island, has lost his case involving 320 acres of the public domain in the vicinity of Acton.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has refused his plea for a rehearing of the action brought by Jules Sentegran, and has affirmed the judgment of Register Groves and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office, in favor of Mr. Sentegran.

In 1917, Harry Gilreth contested the right of Mr. Johnston to the land, but failed to dispossess him. Mr. Johnston is more than 80 years of age. A second contest was instituted, this time with better luck for the contestant. Johnston had a shack on the land, but did not occupy it under the terms of the land law, it was said. He has thirty days in which to make an appeal.

WHEELS GO 'ROUND.

The value of last year's output of motor cars and trucks at the factory door exceeded two billion dollars and most of this is America's annual contribution to speed. If the auto didn't travel fast man wouldn't want it.

POST MORTEMS.

Senator Mason offers a measure which would extend the statute of limitations from three to seven years for the prosecution of grafters and war-time profiteers. It would have to be extended about fifty-seven years in order to give time for a complete round-up.

SMALL COINS.

The House Coinage Committee recommends the minting of a two-cent copper coin which shall bear the face of Roosevelt. Whether anything comes as a result of the recommendation is uncertain, but the coin would be handy and popular. We need a two-cent piece to buy a postage stamp.

THE HAMBURG STAKE.

Hamburg is being restored to its former greatness. Nearly sixty steamship companies have been re-established on the wharves of the city and almost half of these are British firms or corporations. Germany is getting into the world markets with a rush. Hamburg had much at stake and was cut up by the war.

IN THE MINORITY.

There are seven States that do not even furnish one lonesome Democratic Congressman. They are Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Yet at different times the Democrats have dominated several of these States. Still, it is as a minority party that the Democracy has achieved its most conspicuous success. First thing we know it will have to take on flesh to qualify for the minority.

EYES OF THE NAVY.

It seems to be established that fleets are not to be destroyed by aerial bombing. The deck of a moving ship is a small target from the heavens and even when the bomb hits it seems to have its minimum capacity for damage. So far the flyers haven't sunk a ship, even when given a derelict to practice on. The airplanes can be the eyes of the navy and have great value in scouting and in auxiliary service, but for major operations the good old twelve-inch gun is hard to beat.

THE LOAN MARKET.

Under the bill proposed by Senator Calder the savings departments of the national banks of the country would be permitted to loan up to 50 per cent of their holdings on real estate mortgages in their neighborhood. This would be expected to help solve the housing problems of the community and furnish another large and substantial source of land and building loans. Under the ordinary safeguards the banks are strengthened rather than weakened through investments in this class of security. The assets may not be liquid, but they are substantial.

THE COAL MAN.

Massachusetts is getting ready to prosecute all coal dealers who have been charging over $16 a ton for their product. This ratio of sixteen for one is a reminder of the days when William Jennings Bryan was training his voice on silver. But why is it that when people picture a punishment for a heartless and grasping coal man they paint a hell with the fires popping all over the place? Why don't they offer an eternity of polar night with the coal man wrapped in an icy shroud and his feet covered with chilblains? Something like that would be more appropriate.

SPANKING TIME.

A Chicago woman lost $3600 at several sessions of auction bridge. She wasn't able to pay her debts and sought to stage a fake robbery of her home and husband to help out. Now the whole story is public property and the woman is in a psychopathic ward for observation. The opinion of the judge, however, is that she does not need treatment or restraint so much as a good spanking and he recommended that this be given. It is not known that the judgment of the court was carried out, but if every woman who loses more than she could afford at whist were to be spanked Los Angeles would be full of dames who would have to do their playing standing up.

AMONG THE GIANTS.

We think it mostly blarney when the retiring chaplain of the House says that the present Congress contains men of greater ability and wider vision than at any other period. Chaplain Couden has seen a dozen Congresses come and go, but his assertion concerning the quality of the present House will not be unhesitatingly accepted by either the average citizen or the student of history. Even the jester will ask how Congress can be wide of vision when the Eighteenth Amendment prohibits seeing double. Likewise, the ability of the present Congress is chiefly displayed by the trained veterans who date back to the time when they were associated at Washington with others who were greater than themselves. If the expiring Congress is the best America ever had the chaplain will have quite a rhetorical task in proving it to the rest of us.

GOV. STEPHENS'S ROAD SHOW.

Gov. Stephens is having some difficulty in convincing those whom he meets on his barnstorming tour through the State why the cost of government in California should jump from $43,000,000 in 1919 to $81,000,000 in 1921. The administration road show has for its purpose rousing the prejudices of the people against the public-service corporations to such a pitch that they will instruct their representatives to vote to increase the corporation tax rate to a point where they will pay an additional $14,000,000 in State taxes.

But most of the people in the audiences which the Governor and his supporters address recall that when the Governor was touring the State two years ago he was pledging himself to a reduction in taxes. Since that tour the cost of State government has doubled; and the Governor now asks the citizens to petition the Legislature to send the taxes still higher.

His line of argument is simplicity itself. "We are going to spend $85,000,000. It must be raised in taxes. If the tax rate of the public-service corporations is not increased to a point where we can collect that sum we shall levy an ad valorem tax on all the real and personal property in the State." That is the gist of his song. "We, the taxeaters, are going to spend $85,000,000. You, the taxpayers, have got to furnish us with the money." These quotations are not verbatim; but they were uttered by a member of the Legislature who listened to one of the Governor's addresses. Gov. Stephens couches his threat in more diplomatic terms. He carries the horseshoe in his glove, but it is nevertheless a horseshoe.

Gov. Stephens will find that the people of the State are as tired of the high cost of government as of the high cost of living. When the prices of private commodities are falling it is not apparent why the cost of government should continue to rise. Putting up taxes is not a satisfactory method of putting down prices.

In a public statement issued three weeks ago the State Railroad Commission asserted that if the tax rate of the public-service corporations is increased it will be the duty of the commission, under the law, to allow for that increase in fixing the rates the public-service corporations are permitted to charge. It is an axiom of the common law that it is not legal to do indirectly that which it is forbidden to do directly. If the King tax law is enacted by the Legislature the people of Los Angeles city and county will pay to the public-service corporations of this community an additional $5,000,000 annually in rates. What is the net difference between paying that money in increased rates and fares and paying it as a part of the annual ad valorem tax?

If that law is enacted the Pacific Electric Railway will pay an additional $250,000 in taxes. Where will the money come from? It will be paid to the Pacific Electric Railway by those who use its cars, either for passenger or freight service. Whoever takes a ride to the beach next summer will pay more for a ticket if the King bill becomes a law. Whoever lives outside the city and commutes will pay a higher monthly rate. Inside the city the street railway companies will be compelled to increase fares in order to meet the tax increase. The Governor is in reality asking the people of Los Angeles to petition the Legislature for permission to pay a 7-cent city street-car fare. Because a tax is levied indirectly it does not cease to be a tax; and the experience of the last three or four years has shown that those who pay indirectly pay about double what it would cost them if the tax was a direct levy. Indirect taxation is, in reality, a scheme to secure money through trick and device.

Corporations are not noted for their reluctance to urge claims for rate increases. The opposition which they are now making to the King bill is actuated in part by a desire to perfect the record in order that they can immediately appeal to the Railroad Commission for increased rates, in case the bill passes. The Railroad Commission has already cleared its skirts of responsibility by its public statement that higher tax rates must mean higher public utility rates. The people of the State as a whole will not pay one cent more if the tax increase be levied directly against real and personal property than if it is applied in the form of increased public utility rates. Possibly they would pay considerably less. BUT THE REAL POINT AT ISSUE BETWEEN THE GOVERNOR AND THE PEOPLE IS WHETHER A TAX RATE INCREASE IS REALLY NECESSARY.

If that increase is allowed California will pay a per capita tax of $25. The average per capita tax in the forty-eight States is about $5. If Gov. Stephens can show a good and sufficient reason why the citizens and other residents of this State should pay on the average five times as much for their State government as is paid in the other States the taxpayers may be inclined to petition their representatives in the Legislature to soak them for an additional $17,000,000.

The Governor and the members of his party base their pleas for the rise on an involved technicality. They say that the public-service corporations do not pay as high a tax rate as is paid by the owners of real and personal property. This allegation remains to be proven. It is admitted by the administration that the public-service corporations did pay their full share three years ago; but the sponsors of the bill say that since that time the taxes on private property have increased while those on the property of the utility companies have remained stationary. In other words, the increases to private owners were the result of the war and were, in a sense, war taxes. But the war is over and the return to normalcy is under way. It is plain to anyone not on the State, county or city pay rolls that the thing to do is to reduce the taxes on private property, REDUCE ALL TAXES, not to increase the indirect tax which we all would have to pay by boosting the rate of the public utility companies.

If Gov. Stephens, in place of touring the State in a campaign for higher taxes, had remained in Sacramento during the legislative vacation and cut down the State budget he would come much nearer to fulfilling the pledges which he made when he was a candidate two years ago, much nearer to performing the service for which the people elected him than by making himself the mouthpiece of the Forty Fat Commissions in their attempt to sweat the taxpayers for another $17,000,000.

Of course, the price of bootleg whisky is mighty high, but one need not worry about it if he doesn't invest.

But We Know Whom It Will Hit!

CUTTING OUR LOSS.

Cutting one's loss is at once the wisest and hardest thing to do in business. It takes peculiar courage and foresight, resolution and sagacity to close an incident in which one is a heavy loser. Hope springeth anew in the human breast and one is so sorely tempted to wait, to sink a little more money and labor into an effort to retrieve one's initial mistake.

Throughout the history of successful commerce it is the men who have faced the facts and, when necessary, cut their losses in good time, who have turned defeat into triumph. It is so human to hold out stubbornly, to deceive one's self with attractive hopes, to pour good money after bad and endeavor to retrieve, just as a man will endeavor to save his mutilated limb from the surgeon's knife till the last despairing moment, yet placing that limb in the discard is often the only means of saving his life. The operation delayed too long, mortification sets in and the whole physique is penalized, if not actually destroyed, through a false and stubborn hope.

It is not only so with commerce at this time, but in the larger affairs of nations. The Allies in their negotiations as to Germany's indemnity have found the same disconcerting necessity. Standing out ruthlessly for their just demands will not conform with the overwhelming facts of the case. They found it essential to submit to loss, to modify their demands, to, in short, lose a limb to save their financial lives. The procedure is discomfiting. France, in her despair, finds it drastically so. They, too, bought freedom and honor at the top of the market and must not only sell below cost, but accord long credit, even at that. And the longer the decision is delayed, the longer reluctance and hope deferred are permitted to dominate the situation, so much more are their ultimate losses increased and final redemption postponed.

Many large business firms in Los Angeles have accepted the cold, hard facts and "cut their losses" with the same farseeing appreciation of new conditions. It is a painful way, but the only way. They are in a position to buy the new stocks, keep the manufacturers floating, do their vital share in the quick restoration of industrial conditions to a normal basis. There is nothing so unprofitable as regret. Misfortunes and mistakes are best overcome by being faced boldly, paid for and cleaned up to the best of one's ability, wiped out, forgotten. One's energies and residue of capital are then free to start again, to turn over a new, clean sheet, minus the disfigurement of blots, erasures, corrections and despairs, of failures. And the profit and success that are built upon the ashes of defeat are ever stronger and prouder, for they represent a triumph.

As nations and merchants realize these truths conditions rapidly respond. Surgery is painful and nobody likes it, but it is infinitely better and more wholesome than putrid decay.

AN UNHEEDED TRAGEDY.

Latest reports from China indicate that the famine victims in the stricken provinces have already exceeded 10,000,000, with every prospect of a total loss of life through starvation during this winter alone of 20,000,000. Alongside this tragedy even the World War would take second place were human misery the sole basis of comparison.

While one-twentieth of the population of China is starving, Chinese eggs are coming into this country at 25 cents a dozen and Chinese grains of all kinds are underselling similar American products. There seems to have been a total breakdown of conscience on the part of the ruling clique in China, which has squandered and is squandering millions borrowed from outside governments in exchange for the betrayal of the independence and resources of the country and which is now doing almost nothing for the desperate provinces. Transportation to them has practically come to an end, and their commercial life has dried up.

Fully 90 per cent of the 450,000,000 people of China live in one-fourth of the total area of that country. The margin of subsistence is always so narrow that floods or adverse seasons or the turbulences of civil war bring swiftly terrible consequences. These three elements have combined in the present case to produce a famine which will probably be ranked as one of the major disasters of all times.

In our fat complaisance we often forget that famine has stalked every continent, even in fairly modern times. Shortly before the white man established himself in the Americas plague and famine wiped out fully 4 per cent of the population of North America and dealt about as severely with the southern portion of this hemisphere. Several times during the religious wars in Europe entire nations were reduced by one-fourth of their population by famine walking hand in hand with plagues and violence. Africa, too, has been visited by famine on a large scale during the last 500 years.

But Asia holds a ghastly pre-eminence in this form of misery. There famines are not merely remote, but perennial. As far back as the records of China and India go famine has been a commonplace of life. The worst famine of record occurred in China scarcely forty years ago, when 9,000,000 people perished. In 1876 in India 6,000,000 died of starvation within a few months. At no time within the last 2000 years have India and China been really out of the shadow of famine. In 1022 India was visited by a famine in the Bombay district which caused thousands of people to revert to cannibalism, and today the reports from the famine area in China tell similarly of cannibalism and of wholesale suicides by thousands of families.

Asia, the original home of the human race and the scene of misfortunes in a scale which we of the Occident are slow to comprehend, might almost be taken as synonymous with tragedy. From Genghis Khan to the Taiping rebellion and on through the colossal famine now ravaging China one immense disaster after another has overtaken her. The people of Asia have borne it all, if not in silence, at least with their cries of despair unheeded and even unheard by the outside world.

For Caucasians this latest famine is a remote tragedy which does not touch them directly in any way. Our philosophers view it with that cold stare which they have come to call "historical perspective," which is only another form of statistical indifference. The rest of us are not interested in the matter at all.

The attitude of the ruling class in China toward such disasters is shown in the statement of a Chinese ambassador who was discussing with Count Witte the havoc of civil war and famine raging at the time in the Han province: "Yes, sire, 2,000,000 Chinamen have perished. The gods need them worse than we do."

WARM AND EASY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

While life has become so strenuous in "civilization," so many of the writers have taken to singing the charms of the remote South Sea Islands, and every so often most of us get overwhelmed and let our imaginations play with the lure of those warm, picturesque, remote places "far from the madding crowd" which Stevenson, Masefield, Loti, Conrad and the rest of them have pictured with such enchantment. To drowse under the palm trees, to browse under the stars on a tropic night, to idle through long, sunny days, to enjoy the kindly affectionate adulation of the picturesque, easy-going natives, to escape from the continuous struggle for existence, from the political upheavals and chicaneries, from the petty social conventions and obligations, from the spurious culture, the meretricious profundity of lectures, professors and pastors, from fashions and vogues and creeds and propaganda and prohibitions, from violent civilization to easy, tolerant barbarism.

It is an alluring picture and there have been times when it called me, too, when life seemed too exacting, responsibilities too heavy. And when, two years ago, our ship sailed gently into that glorious natural Samoan harbor, a wondrous picture of perfect peace, of luxuriant vegetation, with the entire white population of some twenty men and women lounging pleasantly at the wharf to receive us, all wearing spotless white linen, and lines of stalwart natives in striped loin-cloths and with a red hybiscus behind their ears waiting to unload the cargo, it certainly filled the eye and heart with indolent longing. Then we landed, anticipating our fill of those lazy dreams come true. But it didn't come up to specifications at all. The scenery was there, the sunshine was there, the rich tropical fruits were there, the kindly natives and amorous maidens were all there—but the islands were in the ravages of the influenza epidemic, natives were dying by the hundred, the American naval doctor was weary and irritable with overwork, and even that scant white population was divided among itself, divided over such seeming trifles, feasting so hungrily on letters from home, suffering a hundred vexations of spirit, heartaches, jealousies, and apparently getting their chief pleasure out of life from the visits of the rare boats and the contact with civilization which they engendered. New books, preferably modern society novels, were their mental diet. They lavished hospitality upon us in exchange for news—always news of that hectic civilization they had left. We had brought the Christmas mail and those isolated white people could scarcely wait while it was sorted. And when envelope after envelope contained only Christmas cards—silly printed greetings on silly picture cards—they could have wept in disgust and disappointment. They wanted letters, long letters, chatty letters, telling every little foolish thing about the lives of those back in that violent civilization. And they ate up the newspapers hungrily—the newspapers filled with politics, crime, drama, news, news, news.

It was the same on Thursday Island, which we visited on the way to China from Australia—on a Chinese boat that called at many remote ports. The advent of our boat was a precious thing. Every white man, woman and child came down to see it come in. Only about forty of them, but they, too, were divided into two cliques, each rather critical of the other. And the women were hungry for fashions, took in every little detail of our clothes, asked a hundred questions about the modes and newest fancies. And there, too, sickness was rife among the natives and the white man's burden was strapped firmly on his back.

At Sandakan in Borneo there were about fifty whites, prosperous and enjoying all those tropical enchantments to the point of satiety. And there had been murders and uprisings on the rubber plantations, and the white managers went in fear of their lives. And it was hot, hot, it sapped all one's energy. But their work had to be done. There were clerks urging themselves on in a stifling bank, living only for the cool of the evening. No bedclothes were needed on their beds—only mosquito curtains and "dutch wives." A dutch wife is a hard bolster to drape one's legs over so that a current of air may pass beneath to make night bearable. There were two clubs, each holding the members of the other in social contempt. Parties from each would hold picnics on the same day on the same glorious, picturesque point and never fraternize. The plantation owners and managers were worried over commercial conditions, the shortage of ships, the low prices or over some condition that was ruining their product. All the woes of civilization concentrated, but without the compensating wider interests, without its pleasant antidotes. They entertained us in dream houses; we were waited upon by a multitude of sleek, obedient servants; we gazed out upon scenes of the most gorgeous scenery on the face of the earth—while they entertained us with peevish criticisms of the government, against the local authorities, against each other or with their plans to some day, somehow return to civilization and "settle down."

Passing up the far-famed and beauteous, dangerous Barrier Reef we saw a hundred fairy islands and nearly all of them associated with some human tragedy. There was one on which the home of a wealthy white pearl fishery owner glistened forth like a fairy palace. But he had married a native woman and his daughter was a Eurasian. He had sent her to school in the United States, a rich, proud, little, half-caste beauty. Sent her to the most stylish school he could find. And she had come back broken-hearted. She had no standing in America. And her father, in his bitterness, had locked himself and his family up on that prison island, hating the world, hating his fellow-white man with a terrible hate.

And stories of unfaithfulness among the white populations, those meager populations so dependent upon each other, were rife in all those tropical fairy places—dreadful, sordid scandals, heart-breaking, wretched scandals. There were bitterly discontented white wives, morose, peevish white husbands, all thrown back upon their own meager resources in those remote beautiful places.

And so the sentimental songs of the writers leave me cold now. They only tell half of it and the other half is sordid and bitter. Give me our old violent civilization with all its strenuous battles, responsibilities, anxieties and ugliness. It is so infinitely more human, so infinitely more interesting, so infinitely more lovable and worth while. Not for me the remote places—I want to live.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

Looking at Things—and Seeing Them.

One of the largest mail-order houses in the United States had just taken on a new executive—a young woman.

"I don't know whether we'll get results from you in a month or six months or a year or ever," the general manager had said to her; "but something tells me we're going to get them. You've lived in a small town most of your life. And we want that small-town viewpoint."

"I'm not going to load you down with instructions or advice," he continued. "I think I'll let you grope around and bump your head a few times. Then you'll learn where the low places are. And, remember, suggestions are welcome in this plant. We take suggestions all the way from the elevator starter to the president."

"Do you mean that?" suddenly exclaimed the young woman, who had turned to go, but now faced him squarely.

"Absolutely."

"Well, then, I've one to make. Your stock boys and stock girls walk miles and miles every day, on every floor of this fifteen-story building. I watched them yesterday, filling up the bins, carrying orders, covering those enormous distances from one bin to another, up one aisle and down the next, to the office, back again. Your floors are concrete or cement or some such mixture, aren't they? I just happened to think of the boy who used to deliver our paper. He covered his route on roller skates. It saved him an hour. Why don't you put roller skates on your stock boys and girls?"

The general manager stared at her. "Roller skates." It was not an exclamation. It was a decision. He pressed a buzzer.

"I suppose you know," he said finally, "you've earned six months' salary in the last five minutes."

Two days later every stock clerk in this vast plant was equipped with lightweight roller skates.

They made a carnival of it at first. There were some spills, too, going around the corners, and a little too much hilarity.

That wore off in a week.

In two weeks their roller skates were part of them, just shop labor savers.

At the end of a month the report presented to the general manager was this:

Time and energy saved: 55 per cent; stock staff decreased, 33 per cent.

His mental note was:

"That little girl doesn't merely look at things—she sees them. We can't afford to lose her."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THIS PARLOUS TIME.

It is no time for knocking or pulling doleful face; predictions dire and shocking are badly out of place. For years our mood was mellow, we gamboled and we pranced; and now we pay the fellow who fiddled while we danced. Now let us be brave critters and pay the bill in style, and while we take our bitters present a dauntless smile. We're busy readjusting, we'd get back on the track, and many things are busting and many more must crack; it's courage that we're needing, and patience and good sense, and bosoms that are bleeding should bleed behind the fence. We know when things were booming that settlement must come, the day of fate was looming before us, stark and grim; and now that day we're facing, so let's conceal our fears; there is no use disgracing our sex by shedding tears. All things will be adjusted, there are good times in store, the boons in which we trusted will be on deck once more, and he is streaked with yellow who makes a mournful din, now that we pay the fellow who played the violin.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

By John Strong.

EARN.

Producer or parasite—which are we?

The human parasites fatten and fester on the human producers.

And there is a loss of distinction between the success of the parasite and the success of the creator.

Just so it waxes fat, we impartially applaud as successful the loathsome parasite or the body it feeds on.

The human cootie that gets his is pointed to as the model for the go-getter.

The producer who is cootie-sucked is pictured as the poor fish who lacked the stability to hold his products.

"Where did you get it?" or "how did you get it?" is forgotten in "he got his."

Let us readjust our values.

A generation taught to give the world its soul will restore creative progress.

Noblesse Oblige is the soul slogan of those who earn what they take from the world.

SINKING THE SHIPS.

Take the vessels old in story,
Sink them in the seven seas;
Never more shall sailors gory
Wade in blood up to their knees.

Strip their sacred banners from them,
Bury them beneath the wave;
But be sure that Greed and Fame
Occupy the selfsame grave.

Never more in tones of thunder
Shall they speak to Hun or Briton
When the Japs come in, I wonder
Will we sit around and cuss?

SEVEN GIRLS TO DIVIDE REWARD.

Telephone Operators to Get Witherell Cash Today.

Kidnapers Now Only Numbers; In San Quentin Cells.

Abducted Woman Rallies from Shock of Experience.

Seven telephone girls, those who played leading parts in securing information which led to the rescue of Mrs. Gladys Witherell and the capture of her abductors, Floyd and Arthur Carr, will receive their rewards today. They were the girls who, by quick-wittedness and efficiency, held Arthur Carr at the telephone, located him and flashed the information of his whereabouts to the police in less than one minute.

"To give these alert girls their portions of the reward will be one of the happiest moments of my life," said J. A. Witherell, father-in-law of the kidnaped woman. "Had these girls not been on the job, nobody can tell what might have happened to Gladys. They are the most splendid examples of young American womanhood—alert, quick-witted, sympathetic and instantaneously responsive to the call of need."

Earlier in the day, at 9:45 a.m. yesterday, the prison doors jangled behind Floyd and Arthur Carr, the convicted kidnapers, who took their medicine like men. They entered San Quentin smiling, admitting their guilt and holding malice toward no man. It was their first serious offense, they said, and though they must live from ten years to life behind prison walls they accepted their fate cheerfully, and again told the world that Mrs. Witherell was the pluckiest and best little girl on earth."

NUMBERS FOR NAMES.

The two Carrs passed through the usual routine for newly arrived prisoners. Their names were taken from them and to Floyd Carr was given the number 34452, and Arthur Carr will hereafter be known as Convict No. 34451. The two men will be held in detention and observation cells for a few days until their work can be assigned to them.

Mrs. Gladys Witherell's condition is improved yesterday that she was removed from the home of her father-in-law, to the home of her father, John Kratz, 1845 Whitley avenue. Mrs. Witherell is still in an extremely nervous condition," said J. A. Witherell, "and will be for many days, but now that the two men who caused her so much suffering are safely lodged behind the bars, she says she can rest much easier. Again I wish to thank everyone for helping us in bringing our little girl back home. The co-operation which we received from so many sources was the most wonderful display of the kind I have ever witnessed.

WOULD NOT SPOIL CHASE.

"I want to express my sincerest gratitude, especially to the newspaper men who were detailed on the case. They held one of the biggest stories of their careers in the palms of their hands, but refused to publish it, fearing it would endanger the safe return of Mrs. Witherell."

Gratitude to the newspaper men was also expressed by Nick Harris and the officers who worked with him in the investigation.

The telephone girls who will share in the distribution of the $1000 reward are: Bertha Heere, 1015 South New Hampshire street; Bessie Sullivan, 1217 Detroit street; Lillian W. Clark, 5911 Hollywood Boulevard; Bessie Shaffer, 6311 Sunset Boulevard; Georgia Hall, 5632 Santa Monica Boulevard, night operators at the Hollywood exchange; Mrs. Alma Bryant, 1000 Odin street, night chief operator, Hollywood exchange, and Mrs. Edna Moore, 1336 Shatto street, night chief operator, main exchange.

WOMEN AREN'T WET EVADERS.

Liquor Found in Their Auto Not Theirs, Commissioner Holds in Effect.

Mrs. Cora Scotland and Mrs. E. McCarthy of San Diego, charged with violation of the national prohibition law and the Volstead Act, were able to convince U. S. Commissioner Andrews yesterday that they did not know of the presence of a quantity of liquor found in their car and their release followed.

The women went to Tijuana on a sightseeing tour, and while they were away from their automobile, the story ran, somebody put a quantity of liquor in the machine. The women were afterward taken into custody. An investigation is now going on to establish the identity of the person who put the liquor in the auto.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Ellis reports the following arrests in San Diego and vicinity for violation of the prohibition law: Eduardo Gonzales, with fifteen gallons of liquor; G. L. Monge, with 250 pints of liquor, and Adam Fisher and Ben Angelino, ten gallons of liquor.

REPENTS HIS LAND PACT; SUES, LOSES.

Man Gives Wife Property for Cash and Fails to Get It Back When Value Jumps.

The story of James King and his wife, Mabel King, told in court yesterday is the tale of a husband who was in debt, made a deal with his wife and went away to recover his health. He returned six years later to find that incumbered property he had deeded to his wife had increased in value and that she had divorced him and married again.

Mr. King sued for an accounting, asserting he had been unduly influenced in deeding the property.

Judge J. P. Wood, gave judgment for the defendant, declaring she was entitled to the ranch near Los Nietos, now worth about $18,000, and that there was no fraud or undue influence.

The deal Mr. King made was that if his wife would give him $1000, he would go to a drier altitude. She agreed and the property was deeded to her. Mrs. King did not pay all of the $1000 at once, but when Mr. King wrote her for money, she sent him some.

Mayor Appoints Quiz Committee on Social Work.

Mayor Snyder late yesterday appointed a committee to investigate the charges of asserted misconduct on the part of members of the Social Service Commission as set forth in a letter filed with the City Council by the Alliance of Social Agencies. The alliance is composed of representatives of all charitable organizations in the city, who contend that the Social Service Commission has not followed out the work for which it was intended.

The committee, consisting of I. H. Rice, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association; George M. Babcock, managing director of the Business Men's Co-operative Association, and William E. Chamberlain, will begin their investigation at once. The result will first be reported to the Mayor and then submitted to the City Council.

Two Convicted Speeders Lose Their Permits.

Two youthful automobile drivers yesterday lost their operators' licenses after having been found guilty in Police Court of Reckless driving. In addition to having his license revoked one of the prisoners was fined $50.

The first to appear was Floyd C. De Wolf, charged with driving an automobile in a reckless manner on Hamlet street. He was found guilty by Police Judge Chambers, fined $50 and suffered revocation of his license for thirty days.

Willis Black of 2631 South Flower street, found guilty before Police Judge Chesebro of having driven his automobile at fifty-five miles an hour near West Tenth and Grafton streets, was given a sixty-day suspended jail sentence and ordered not to drive an automobile within the city limits for a period of six months.

ON FRAUD CHARGE.

John Schwarz, accused in a complaint of representing to various persons that he was an organizer for a so-called "St. Johns Lodge, Free and Accepted Order of Masons," and obtaining $75 each for supposed initiation fees from them, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Baird. He was released on bail of $1000 and hearing was set for February 14.

Wife Victim of Collision When Husband Drives.

In a collision between an automobile driven by her husband, S. J. Hall, of 1033 Mignonette street and a Los Angeles Railway car No. 1000 of the West Eleventh street line at West Tenth and Catalina streets yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Ethel Swancet, aged 50, was probably fatally injured. After treatment at the Receiving Hospital it was found that she had a basal fracture of the skull, the injured woman was removed to the Clara Barton Hospital. Her husband escaped with a few bruises.

The street car was in charge of Motorman Aldridge and Conductor Hall. The exact cause of the accident is not known.

WAIL AND PLASTER BOARD SUIT SUBJECTS.

LOCAL CONCERN SUES ANOTHER CHARGING INFRINGEMENT OF ITS PATENTS.

Probably one of the most important and expensive patent suits ever heard in the local United States District Court was begun yesterday before Judge Trippet, and will continue possibly a month.

It involves five patents on what is known as wall and plaster boards, which have revolutionized house construction in Southern California and elsewhere. The plaintiff in the case is the John Schumacher Wall Board Company, Fifty-eighth and Pedro streets. The defendant is the Buttonlath Manufacturing Company, with shops at 2800 Vernon avenue.

Depositions and testimony have been taken in Buffalo, Chicago, New York, Seattle and a number of other cities. It is estimated that the cost of litigation so far has been more than $50,000.

The patents involved cover a manufactured article that serves the use of lath. The industry is one of the major ones of Los Angeles.

The plant of the Schumacher company was destroyed by fire some time ago, but business has been resumed in temporary structures.

Raymond Ives Blakeslee and J. F. Bell represent the plaintiff, and Frank H. Mott, Robert M. Cross and Charles R. Wilson the defendant. Each of the best-known business men of this city are interested in the companies.

SAYS THEFT REASON FOR TWO WOUNDS

Brooding Employee Likely to Recover; Employer Sure He Was Always Honest.

Karl Christ, a meat cutter, who stabbed himself twice in the breast last Wednesday afternoon in a market at Third street and Broadway, was reported last night to be recovering from his injuries. He is now at the Angelus Hospital.

At the Receiving Hospital, Mr. Christ told police detectives he had stabbed himself while brooding over the theft of a piece of meat, which he said he had taken from his employer. Albert Cohn, the man's employer, said last night that Christ's mind was temporarily unbalanced, that he was only under a delusion that he had stolen the meat.

"I have always considered Mr. Christ one of my most trusted employees," said Mr. Cohn, "and no one has ever accused him of doing wrong. When he made this statement he was certainly demented."

Beware of Tender Gums

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound, keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

GAS COMPANIES DO THEIR BEST.

Chamber Committee Compiles Report After Quiz.

Finds Every Effort is Made to Improve Service.

Other Betterments Planned, Supervisor Announces.

"The gas distributing companies in the city of Los Angeles are providing service as near satisfactory as is possible under the extraordinary conditions confronting them," is the finding made public yesterday of a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Capt. John D. Fredericks was chairman.

Almost simultaneously a statement was issued by Gas Supervisor Masser of the State Railroad Commission. It follows in part:

"After a conference with officials of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, it was decided that the manufacture of 'water gas' made from carbon briquets, and similar to much of the gas sold in eastern States, should be discontinued. It is hoped that this change may result in a material decrease of offensive odors now being experienced. Water gas is in itself a good fuel, but it contains certain chemical compounds, such as carbon monoxide, which may not be burning completely in our gas appliances as now adjusted, thereby resulting in considerable annoyance to gas consumers.

"Because of the tremendously heavy demand for gas, it has recently been necessary to operate all possible gas-generating equipment. About 2 to 6 per cent of the total gas manufactured, has been water gas. As the most critical period of the winter season is probably passed, conditions should improve from now on."

TO THEIR INTEREST.

The Chamber committee states that "it is to the interests of the distributing companies to distribute where possible the highest grade of gas."

The committee recommends that the Chamber of Commerce "encourage in every way possible the extension of the manufacturing capacities of the companies." In which the cause of present complaints of users as to the quality of gas supplied to them, the committee's report says:

"The difficulties experienced by our gas users arise from the fact, that domestic appliances which will burn satisfactorily one quality of gas, will be unsatisfactory on another quality, either a higher grade or a lower grade."

FAVOR FIXED MIXTURE.

With a fixed volume of natural gas flowing into the city, the great variation in consumption at various port ons of the day makes the present fixed standard physically impossible. It has been suggested, and we in turn make the suggestion, that experimental study should be given to this situation of mixture in order that if possible a fixed and definite mixture could be provided at all times.

If such a plan were evolved, it would eliminate the present cause of complaint. It could be accomplished by eliminating natural gas entirely, and as they do in San Francisco, using manufactured gas exclusively for domestic purposes. This would necessitate, however, a much higher rate for gas and a much lower quality. Since natural gas is available, economy demands its use because it can be furnished to the distributor for approximately 14 cents as against a cost of 60 cents for manufactured gas.

We concluded that the gas distributing companies in the city of Los Angeles are providing service as near satisfactory as is possible under the extraordinary conditions confronting them. We find that all the suggestions for improvement given by the experts of the Railroad Commission have been faithfully executed by the gas-distributing companies.

We further find that as long as the conditions above stated necessarily produce a varied quality of mixture, the use of gas will be subject to the inconveniences naturally flowing therefrom.

GOOD GAS PROFITABLE.

We further find that it is to the interests of distributing companies to distribute where possible the highest grade of gas; to wit, that containing the most natural gas; that when it is necessary to resort to a mixture largely composed of manufactured gas, the distributing companies' profits are very largely reduced—in short, the poorer the gas delivered by the distributing companies, the higher the cost to the consumer and the rate being fixed, the lower the profits. Also, the poorer the mixture the more it costs the consumer to produce the desired heat.

We further find that in view of the doubtful possibilities of expanding natural gas production, it would be the part of wisdom for the Chamber of Commerce to encourage in every way possible the extension of the manufacturing capacities of the companies. We find that the increased use of commercial gas this year over last year was approximately 42 per cent in one of the companies; that the additional meters in the same company, however, only increased 8 per cent, thereby indicating the installation under already placed meters of many additional gas appliances, principally furnaces. This fact indicates that the citizens of Los Angeles are relying more and more on gas as a fuel and renders necessary any proper encouragement which the Chamber of Commerce can give towards the development of manufacturing systems.

We append herewith a report handed to us by Harry L. Masser of the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

Respectfully submitted,
J. D. FREDERICKS, Chairman;

D. F. McGARRY,
W. T. BISHOP,

FOR COLLEGIANS.

The Intercollegiate Club considered the proposal of increasing its membership at the meeting held yesterday at 1238 West Adams Street. The society, which consists of many prominent young college men and women of this city, decided to extend an invitation to all collegians to attend a Valentine party to be held in the ballroom at 928 South Alvarado street on February 14. Persons desirous of joining this organization may secure information by corresponding with the secretary, Henry E. Miele, 5746 Aldama street, or by telephoning 39426. The purpose of the Intercollegiate Club is to promote good fellowship among young college men and women of this city.

HAS NO BABIES; TOLD TO WORK.

Wife Brings Unique Charge Against Husband; Wins Suit for Divorce.

Jacob Winetsky took the ground that, as his wife, Sadie Winetsky, had borne him no children, she should go to work. She stated this in Judge Summerfield's court in divorce proceedings and was granted a decree. The husband's remark always followed his wife's request for money, she said. In the court's opinion, the husband's was a point of view new to divorce annals.

NEW DIVORCE CUTS TANGLE OF GORMLEYS

Odd Triangle of Man with Two Wives Ends by Decree Granted in Nevada Court.

The famous Gormley-Kelly-Gormley triangle, which has figured intermittently in the courts of California and Nevada for nearly two years was yesterday taken out of the pale of the law for probably the last time when Ramona Gormley, wife number one of James G. Gormley, was granted a divorce, on the grounds of cruelty by Judge William E. Orr of the District Court in Las Vegas.

The findings in the case were made by A. A. Hinman and C. D. Breeze, who had been appointed by the court as referees to hear the testimony. The referees found that Mrs. Gormley had been treated in a cruel and inhuman manner, Gormley having made false accusations and untruthful statements about her.

Gormley was granted a divorce more than a year ago after which he married Helen Kelly, niece of Johnnie Powers, baseball magnate. His first wife then petitioned that the decree be set aside and this was done. Yesterday's decision clears the entire case, however, as Gormley is now in a position to remarry his second wife, the legality of the marriage heretofore having been in question.

Bankers Tell of ex-Officer's Check Dealings.

Testimony intended to prove that Lawrence F. (Jack) Cramblet, former army lieutenant, issued fictitious checks on Los Angeles banks while in New York and on New York banks while in Los Angeles, was introduced yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty Hill at the ex-officer's hearing before Justice Hanby. Assistant Cashier Hudson of the Empire Trust Company, New York, testified that Cramblet opened an account at that bank with a check for $2500 on the First National Bank of Hollywood, but that the bank discovered before paying out anything that no such account was held by the local institution. An officer of the local bank said Cramblet did not have that much on deposit with his concern. Hearing on this charge was continued until February 7. Cramblet is accused of passing two fictitious checks for $350 each on a local bank.

Another charge, that of attempted robbery of Mrs. Myrtle Hall, was partly heard and the case continued until February 7.

Chinese Lottery Taught New Men on Police Force.

How to play Chinese lottery was fully explained to the night watch at Central Police Station yesterday by Chief of Police Pendegast after which a tour, personally conducted by the Chief, was made by all new members of the night watch, and known lottery dens in Chinatown pointed out.

According to Chief Pendegast every officer will be instructed in Chinese lottery until all are able to know a lottery drawing when they see one and all will be given the locations of the known lottery dens. At the present time no known dens are operating, Chief Pendegast says.

SURPRISE O'MELVENY.

Boy Scouts Present Him with Cup for Doing "Good Turn."

Henry W. O'Melveny received a surprise yesterday afternoon, when he was presented with a handsome silver loving cup by a group of Boy Scouts. The trophy bears the inscription: "To Henry W. O'Melveny, service to scouting, 1921, from the Scouts of the Los Angeles troops, Boy Scouts of America; 'Do a good turn daily.' He did his."

The cup was presented as a token of appreciation for the work of Mr. O'Melveny in conducting a campaign in November to cover the budget of the Boy Scout organization for 1921. Mr. O'Melveny and his associates raised $31,000.

SHIMMY CASE PUZZLES.

Jury Disagrees at Trial of Man Who Shot Another.

H. H. Blan, who shot Thomas Earl in the leg, because the latter insisted on performing a shimmy in the presence of a woman in a local cafe, was on trial yesterday before a jury in Judge Reeve's court. The jury failed to agree in the case. Testimony was adduced by Dept. Dist.-Atty. Fricke to show that Blan said, "If you haven't any respect for a lady, I have," and then shot the complaining witness. Blan was accused of assault with a deadly weapon. The case was reset for trial on April 27.

MAY BE DEPORTED.

Eygene Cantot, a young Belgian, is in the custody of the local immigration authorities and may be deported. He was picked up at San Pedro by Immigration Inspector Gatley, where he had be n living at the harbor branch of the Y.M.C.A. It seems that the boy made violent love to a San Pedro girl and this led him into trouble. He says he is the only survivor of his family in Belgium, all of the other members having been killed in the great war. The boy will be held for investigation.

SPORTS MOTORING FILMLAND DRAMA

TRACK FRACAS CLOSE AFFAIR.

Manual Arts and S.B. of U. of C. in Wild Tilt.

Figuring Winner to be Squaring the Circle.

Athletes Indulge in Trick Running Stunts.

A most satisfactory track meet took place yesterday afternoon and wedding on Sid Foster's trick track at Manual Arts. If you are a Manual Arts rooter, Manual won the meet by 73 to 71. If you are a Southern Branch University of California rooter, the meet was a tie, 72 to 72, because of the relay. S.B.U.C. entered two teams, which finished first and third, while Manual took second. If you count just 5 points for first, the meet was a tie. If you count 5, 3 and 1 for first; second and third, Manual won. Take your choice.

The real feature of the meet was the trick track on which the athletes in all kinds of peculiar distances. Nobody was there with a tape to tell just how far the fellows did run, particularly in the longer events but it's a safe bet that the 440, 880 and mile were a good many yards away from those distances.

Goddard of S.B.U.C. in the mile and Hurst in the quarter came out as particularly good in their particular events, while Steans in the low hurdles, Zuckerman in the mile and relay, and Thomas in the shot looked very good for Manual. Miller of S.B.U.C. was a double winner in the jumps, and Enns of S.B.U.C. a double winner in the weights. Because of the narrowness of the track the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and 120-yard low hurdles were run in two races, points counting for both.

The summaries follow:

Mile dash—Won by Pollard (Cal.) Smith (M.A.) second, Zuckerman (M.A.) third. Time [illegible].

SAM'S KNEES MAY FROLIC.

Crawford's Underpinning Not Yet Lost to Game; Caught "Boning" Bats.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Sam Crawford's well-known knees, which had been given up for lost, may yet be saved to the great national pastime.

Sam remarked in the hearing of Red Killefer last fall that he had put on a baseball uniform for the last time. Now it has been ascertained that Sam has spoken in that vein before, but in each instance had his fingers crossed and neglected to untangle them while speaking.

Three constructions could be placed on his declaration that he had put on a uniform for the last time—that he planned to play in a nude condition, that he would play in store clothes only, or that he would not play at all.

The latter was regarded as the more feasible, and Powers and Killefer were not incorporating him in their 1921 plans and specifications. And the general impression went forth that never again would the public hear Mr. Crawford's knees knocking together on the ball field.

However, now Killefer stands ready to swear on a stack of Christian Science literature, that on a recent visit to the Crawford home in Hollywood he found Sam "boning" his bats, which means putting them through a hardening process of preparation. Mr. Crawford indignantly denies this. He says he was merely applying embalming fluid to the bats.

Yet, Sam won't say he is through with the tools of baseball commerce. In short, he is noncommittal. His retirement seems to be weakening. Powers would like to have Sam take another shot at the right field job. Sam has slowed down, and the clanking of his knees has caused him some annoyance the past couple of seasons, but he still carries a punch which the Angels need.

The way the wheat straws are blowing, one would judge that Powers and the famous slugger will hold a confab within the next few days, with quite a probability of Crawford crawling back into the old unie head first.

Speaking of wheat straws, they are worth watching and preserving as souvenirs. Even should the country be voted smokeless, they may allow us to roll our own in the hay loft under the barn brew act.

Meantime, Crawford and Killefer, with Rube Ellis as a beard of burden, are making important changes in the flora and fauna of their walnut ranch near Whittier. They have Rube rooting out the walnut trees, and putting Valencia oranges in to pinch-hit for them. When not thus engaged, Rube is poisoning the gophers, which belong to our North American fauna, and which want to take the flora with them. Messrs. Killefer and Crawford have one of the largest crops of gophers enjoyed in a long time, and when this is harvested they will have almost as many tails as the Western Union has wires.

Red and Sam believe their ranch is located over a natural reservoir of petroleum. If they could take the oil out and bring the natural reservoir along with it they would go after the oil. But they can't stand the expense of a new reservoir, and will let the oil lay as it is. Both are convinced that the oil lays right at the roots of the trees. Their theory is that the trees couldn't possibly grow so fast if the roots were not lubricated.

Good progress is being made on the new bicycle track being built by Jack Prince for Bill Pickens and Ira Vail at Washington and Grand.

Some of those viewing the structure opine that Messrs. Pickens and Vail are batty in the belfry, but they may find later that said belfries are as full of brains as a tin can is of sardines.

After seeing the run which bicycle racing is having in certain sections of the East, we have little doubt that the sport, with certain embellishments, can be made popular here.

It had a big run in Providence this year, and also at Revere Beach, Boston. Sunday crowds at the Veladome, Newark, ran regularly from 8000 to 12,000, and personally, we got a kick out of the sport which has so long been in a state of coma out here.

Incidentally, Pickens could once

Tuning Up for the Championship.

Star Golfers in Action at the Los Angeles Country Club.

At the left we have the sensational young man who answers to the name of Leo Diegel. In practice for the open event, which starts at the Los Angeles Country Club on Monday, Diegel shot a 70, four strokes under par, yesterday. Eddie Loos, the handsome person at his left, registered 71, which wasn't so worse. The gentleman attached to the pipe is John Black, who won the Southern California open last year. The trio will appear in the North vs. South match this afternoon.

Landis Appears to be in for a Very Warm Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Acceptance by Judge Landis of the position of high commissioner of baseball brought additional action today from Representative Welty of Ohio. Mr. Welty, who yesterday introduced in the House a resolution proposing a Congressional investigation of Judge Landis's acceptance, announced he had acted today as follows:

Requested Judge Landis to state by what authority he accepted the baseball position at $42,500 a year while serving as Federal judge.

Asked Judge Landis to send him a copy of the contract he signed with organized baseball.

Called on Dist.-Atty. Clyne at Chicago to supply him with a copy of the indictments pending against former members of the Chicago American club.

Wrote Atty.-Gen. Palmer asking if there was any law making it a misdemeanor for a Federal judge to hold another position from which he received financial remuneration while holding his seat on the bench.

Grid Warriors All Ready for Scrappy Game.

With a burglar-proof line averaging 195 pounds to the unit, with a medley of weights and line-boring and speed-backing ability in the back field and with sufficient men to concoct two powerful grid teams, the All-Star squad of former famous Long Beach players is practically edged for tomorrow's game with a football aggregation from the San Pedro Submarine Base.

Roy Baker, former captain of a champion Long Beach High team, rated as the best fullback ever developed in the school and star on the Santa Clara College team this year, is firmly annexed to the fullback position, and will undoubtedly be the big works of the game. It has been almost three years since local football fans have seen Baker in action. The half-back locations will be cared for by Jim Williams and Dick Lawson, former Poly High stars, while the signals will be gargled by Otis Monroe, 135-pound phantom quarterback, who formerly starred for a Santa Ana High School team.

Proceeds from the game will be given to the American Legion to add to its benefit fund.

Following is the line-up of the two-unit All-Star squad that is football bent for Saturday:

Utter	L.E.	Bowers
De Coudres	L.T.	Brown
Marks	L.G.	Mosier
Al Williams	C.	Schall
Jones	R.G.	Meyers
Curry	R.T.	Baldwin
Lawson	R.E.	Hasty
Monroe	Q.	Hoffman
J. Williams (c.)	L.H.	McKee
D. Lawson	R.H.	Marshall

DIEGEL IS GOLF SENSATION.

Puts Up Flossy Performance at Famous Links; Makes 70 Score.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Leo Diegel was the flossy golf sensation of the day at the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday afternoon. Playing in a foursome with John Black, Eddie Loos and Hutt Martin, the youth who tied with Harry Vardon as runner up to Ted Ray in the national open last year staggered around the course in 70 strokes, four under par.

Some of the self appointed scorers even went so far as to give Diegel a 69. This, however, was conceding him a 4-foot putt on the fourteenth hole and a 6-foot one on the sixteenth hole. Diegel and Loos were playing Black and Martin, and on each of the conceded putts Loos had won the hole, Diegel picking up. A caucus of the match followers decided that Diegel should be awarded the first putt but charged with two strokes for the second, giving him a 70.

WIN EASILY.

No difficulty was experienced by Diegel and Loos in winning from Black and Martin, 5 and 4. The Pasadena Golf Club pair were four up at the turn, increasing this advantage to 5 when Diegel shot a birdie on the short twelfth.

The four were all even for the first two holes, when Black and Martin began to press, Diegel and Loos capturing four of the next seven holes.

The Black-Martin combination failed to win a hole until the eighteenth, to which the players continued after the match had ended on the fourteenth. Here Martin's midiron shot landed him on the green in 2, and about six feet from the pin. He holed out for a 3, which is an eagle shot on a 5-par hole, 452 yards long.

CLASSY WORK.

The work of all four players on this last hole was as remarkable as it was unusual. Each got a drive that roared up over the hill for fully 250 yards. Black's was the longest by some ten feet, Diegel having a similar advantage over Loos, an dthe latter about the same over Martin. All landed on the green in two, but none quite so close to the pin as Martin. Diegel and Loos scored birdies. Black tried for an eagle, but over-reached, and missed a short one for a 4.

Loos ran Diegel so close that only an eyewinker separated them. Loos had 71. Black shot 75, the same as Martin.

Most of the players, both northern and southern, who are to battle in the open championship which opens on Monday morning, were out yesterday cluttering up the Beverly Hills course.

The two Espinosa brothers played around with Ed Gayer, and the Kober brothers, Dave and Roy. Abe Espinosa shot a 75, which was extremely good considering the fact that it was the first time he had ever laid his eyes on the course. Gayer rattled around for a 77, each Kober had an 80, and "Peanuts" Espinosa had an 81.

Here is the hole by hole score of the Diegel-Loos and Black-Martin match:

L.A.C.C. par out	4	4	4	4	5	5	4	4	—36
Diegel out	4	4	3	4	4	4	4	4	—34
Loos out	4	4	3	5	4	4	4	4	—36
Black out	4	4	6	4	4	5	6	4	—41
Martin out	4	4	5	4	4	5	6	4	—42
L.A.C.C. par in	5	3	4	4	4	5	5	4	—34—70
Diegel in	5	3	5	4	4	5	3	4	—34—70
Loos in	5	3	4	4	4	5	5	4	—34—71
Black in	4	3	5	4	4	4	5	4	—33—75
Martin	4	3	5	4	4	4	5	5	—35—76

Starting at 1 o'clock this afternoon there will be a team match, ten men a side between the northern and southern professionals. The men will play in foursomes, No. 1 man and No. 2 man of the south pairing against No. 1 man and No. 2 man of the north, and so on down the line. Points will be awarded on both match and medal play. Arthur Clarkson is captain of the southern team and John Black of the northern.

Here is the rival line-up as it was given out last night:

South.		North.
Leo Diegel	No. 1	John Black
Hutt Martin	No. 2	Abe Espinosa
Eddie Loos	No. 3	Harold Sampson
Ernest Martin	No. 4	Joe Novak
Chick Frazier	No. 5	Bob Black
Arthur Clarkson	No. 6	Monte Dutro
Jack Cocke	No. 7	Al Espinosa
Frank Peebles	No. 8	F. Souter
Tom Stevens	No. 9	Bob Clark
J. Martin	No. 10	Al Abrams

LONDOS WILL MEET HANSON FEBRUARY 21.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SIOUX FALLS (S. D.) Feb. 3.—Jim Londos will meet Charles Hanson in a wrestling bout here February 21, it was announced today by a promoter. Negotiations are progressing for a match between the winner of the bout and Champion Ed (Strangler) Lewis to be held in Sioux Falls in March.

JESS AGREES TO NEW DATE.

Willard Willing to Meet Dempsey September 5.

To Put Up $15,000 as Forfeit for Appearance.

Prize Fighter Expects to Continue Training.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, has agreed to meet Jack Dempsey, holder of the title, September 5, Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, announced today. Rickard made public a telegram from Willard, who is at Lawrence, Kan.

Rickard also sent a cablegram to Charles B. Cochrane, English promoter in London, asking him to send power of attorney to William A. Brady to dispose of Cochrane's interest in the Dempsey-Carpentier bout.

Willard's telegram said:

"September 5 suits me. In the event that the bout is held in the open I think I should be given the privilege of 15 per cent of the gross. I will put up $15,000 as a forfeit for my appearance and you will post $15,000 to carry out the contract.

"I want to know if all parties mean business as I expect to continue work and want to be sure I have a match with the champion on September 5."

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Now that Tex Rickard is at the wheel alone he has set about putting the house in order and the necessary details for the handling of the proposed big international bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier are being attended to promptly.

Tex was notified by Attorney Nathan Vidaver today that the articles of incorporation for the holding of the contest and the transferring of the William A. Brady and Charles E. Cochran interests will be completed in a few days and Rickard will not have to brook any further interference in the matter.

Capt. Mallet, who has acted as American representative for Carpentier, has cabled the French boxer about the new percentage arrangements and expects a favorable reply. Dempsey already has signified his willingness, so everything appears settled along that score.

Jess Willard wired from Lawrence, Kan., to Rickard that the September 5 date suited him and that he believes he should be given privilege of 15 per cent of the gross receipts. He stands ready to

JEWTRAW SKATE CHAMP.

SARANAC LAKE (N. Y.) Feb. 3. Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid earned the national amateur skating championship title today by winning the 440-yard and three-mile events in the close of a three days' tourney.

Point winners for seniors in the meet were: Jewtraw, 120; Roy McWhorter of Chicago, 90; Charles Gorman of St. John, N. B., 80; Joe Mooré of New York, 30; Mike Goodman of Winnipeg, 20; R. Donovan of Minneapolis, 20, and Jack Stowell of Minneapolis, 10.

The 440-yard event was the sensation, not only of the day, but of the meet. Jewtraw, McWhorter and Gorman were bunched at the finish and literally dove for the tape. In the three-mile race Moore was leading the field when he fell just before the final lap.

Martin Brewster of Lake Placid won the junior championship for boys of 16, Harold Fortune for boys of 14, and Daniel Van Norwick of Saranac Lake for boys of 12

WHITE SOX READY FOR THE ALL-STARS.

What promises to be a pair of the best ball games played this winter will be staged tomorrow and Sunday afternoons at the White Sox Park between the major and Coast League All-Stars and the famous L. A. White Sox (colored) nine, playing the second and third of their present five-game series.

These two aggregations recently met in a similar series, with the Sox coming out three wins to the All-Stars' two.

Joe Pirrone, who handles the big-salaried men, claims his club should walk away with this series. Having already copped the first game by defeating the colored lads last week 8-4, and by getting the services of Bobby Meusel, the young star Miller Huggins claims is worth $200,000, Joe says there should be no question in grabbing both tilts this week.

Thirsty Thurston, the twirler who stopped the Sox winning streak last week, will be on the mound tomorrow, and will be opposed by Rube Curry, the Sox star hurler.

DINUBA AFTER REAL NINE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DINUBA, Feb. 3.—That Dinuba intends to stay permanently in the baseball limelight was evidenced by a recent enthusiastic meeting of the directorate, when all the funds were raised to finance the team for a first-class start. Not only was the forfeit of $1000 pledged, but also sufficient additional funds to warrant Manager Barth going on a still hunt for material to build up a first-class organization of ball tossers.

Several of the old Sun Maid team of last year are already on the ground, yet it will be necessary to pick some more talent to fill up the gaps. Manager Barth is not talking very much, but we understand that of the oldtimers Toots Schultz, pitcher; Joe Cartwright at first, and Guevera and Daniels in the outfield, will remain with the outfield. Almost daily communications are being received from well-known players who are anxious to hook up with the local club. If the present plans materialize the Dinuba Sun Maids will be heard from before the season is very far advanced.

New uniforms for the team have been ordered, and the actual work of building up the organization will begin when weather conditions permit.

GET TEETH FROM BASKETER'S COCO.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 3.—Three teeth, a quarter of an inch long, were found in the head of George Evans, agricultural school basketball player, here last night after he collided with Ralph Smith, Minneapolis Y.M.C.A. player. Smith's three front teeth were missing.

Physicians extracted the teeth from Evans's head. Both men finished the game with Smith's team winning, 23 to 21.

MISS STIRLING TO GO ABROAD.

American Golf Champ to Contend in British Events.

Two English Amateur Classics to Have Her Entry.

Yankee Lass Will Sail from New York Next Month.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Feb. 3.—Miss Alexa Stirling, champion woman golfer of America, and Robert T. Jones, Jr., southern champion and runner up in the western amateur tournament, will go to Great Britain this spring to contest in the two great amateur golf classics of that country, it was announced today.

According to plans, Miss Stirling will sail from New York March 8 and will be one of the American contenders in the British women's national championship tournament the week of May 30 in Scotland.

Bobby Jones, who is a junior at Georgia Tech., will not sail until May 1. He will be a member of an American golfing team in the British-American championship at Hoy Lake, Eng., the week of May 23.

WHITE PUNISHED FOR STALLING.

post $15,000 as a forfeit for his appearance and expects Rickard will deposit the same amount as a guarantee he will carry out the contract.

The big Kansan said he wanted to feel certain that all parties meant business and to know positively he had a match Labor Day with the champion.

Dempsey, who now is in Los Angeles, sent word that everything was O.K. so far as he was concerned for the outdoor fights, but that he was a little disappointed at the postponement of the Willard bout. The champion will get 35 per cent of the gate for his quarrel with Willard.

Rickard is not prepared to name the site of the open arena. He hinted that he might have a partner in the enterprise and that an announcement might come along in a few days.

pedal some himself while hanging over the ram's-horn handle bars. He cleaned up a lot of trophies and some money in the southern circuit during the early days of the sport. During the last automobile race at Beverly, Prince pointed out Pickens to us as one of the first athletes who ever rode for him. That was at Birmingham, and on one of the first Prince tracks. Up to that time we never suspected Bill of having existed in the paleozoic period of sports. They do say that Mr. Pickens once rode a high-wheeled bike at a county fair.

Anyway, it's dollars to thirty-cent pieces, that Bill puts bicycle racing back on its wheels here. But make it dollars to dimes, for dollars to thirty-cent pieces now is only an even bet. Mr. Pickens can make any sport flourish prolifically where before it has only fuzzed profusely.

On the eve of the second anniversary of the passing of the free lunch, Hap O'Connor joined the Navy, which carries its own cook. Thus he is lost to professional baseball. He drops the following from Panama:

"Arrived here from San Pedro after being at sea ten days. Leave soon for Valparaiso with 40,000 men. Temperature here is 105, and the beer is 5. Am managing the baseball team of the U.S.S. Mississippi."

Plainly, Hap has no regrets.

Red Killefer won't engage in any contract-carrying expeditions to Lemoore this spring. Jimmy McAuley has mailed his in, furnishing the postage stamp for the same out of his own pocket. Last season a special delivery contract was used, and it cost Red $30 in car fare to act as the delivery boy.

TULARE TO HAVE NICE GOLF CLUB.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LINDSAY, Feb. 4.—Organization of the Tulare County Golf and Country Club, with King C. Gillette as president, has been perfected. The club has taken a lease on 140 acres from the Gillette Lemon Company on a rental basis, with an option of purchase, and is proposing to construct a nine-hole golf course and a clubhouse immediately.

Seventy-five charter members are to be admitted and club organizers are inviting prominent people from all parts of Tulare county to join. Officers chosen are King C. Gillette, president; Fletcher Elliott, vice-president; R. E. Hyde, second vice-president; L. S. White, secretary-treasurer; while C. K. Tout, Clarence Mattionson, George A. H. Farmer, Mr. Van Tyler and E. B. Caldwell constitute the other members of the board of directors.

UNDEFEATED CARDS TACKLE WASHINGTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 3. Stanford's varsity basketball team, which to date as not been defeated, plays its next games against the University of Washington.

On February 7 and 8 the Stanford men play Washington two games here, and on February 18 and 19 meet the northerners again at Seattle.

WARDENS NOW SPY ON HUNTERS FROM ABOVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN RAFAEL, Feb. 3.—Sportsmen of this section are being watched by game wardens from the air. Recently W. R. Sellmer, deputy fish and game warden, flying in his home-made airplane, swooped down at Stinson Beach, near here, where five duck hunters were after birds.

Stinson said he was on patrol duty and wanted to see the hunting licenses of the men. All produced the necessary cards. The officer explained that he started building his airplane several months ago, and while it was being constructed took lessons in flying.

WORK SOON TO BEGIN ON FIGHT STADUIM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Work of constructing the open-air arena for the proposed bout between Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard on Labor Day will be started in a month, Tex Rickard announced today. The arena will seat at least 50,000 persons, he said, and several important matches will be held in it before the Labor Day engagement.

FRENCH TENNIS CRACK A YOUTHFUL WONDER.

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE]

PARIS, Jan. 19.—French tennis experts predict a great court future for L. Brugnon, the 18-year-old French youth who recently won the Paris indoor tournament. Brugnon defeated A. E. Beamish, the veteran English internationalist, in the finals, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0.

Young Brugnon has for a year or so been known as a first-rate amateur in Paris' tennis circles, but the recent tournament was the first one in which he had ever taken part. He played a slashing hard-driving game which practically smothered the elderly, but classy Beamish. Brugnon greatly resembles the once great Maurice McLoughlin in action.

INDICTED PLAYERS ON TRIAL FEBRUARY 9.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The cases of the eight Chicago American League baseball players and others indicted for alleged complicity in the throwing of games in the 1919 world series will be brought into court February 9, when a date will be set for arraignment.

The investigation of reports that copies of the testimony of some of the indicted men before the baseball grand jury had been offered for sale to New York and Chicago newspapers was to have been continued today by the regular county grand jury, but was postponed until next week.

POST FORFEIT FOR BILLIARD CONTEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—One thousand dollars was posted today by R. B. Benjamin, representing Willie Hoppe, world's professional 18.1 and 18.2 balk line billiard champion, to bind a match of 1000 points up with Edouard Horemans, Belgian champion, for the 18.2 balk line title. Hoppe's manager stipulates the match must be played in this country in October or November and will put up a stake of any amount from $1000 to $25,000.

THREE UNIVERSITIES TO COMPETE IN MEET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Feb. 3. — Three universities will compete here in athletic events with the University of California on April 9, if a request sent, today by Graduate Manager Luther Nichols to the University of Washington to send its crew is accepted. A track and field meet with the University of Michigan and a baseball game with Stanford already are scheduled, and an alumni reunion has been proposed.

AMATEUR PUGS DECIDE TITLES IN BAY CITY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3. — Pacific Coast amateur boxing championships will be decided at the Olympic Club here March 2 and 3, it was announced recently.

Representatives from athletic clubs in many Pacific Coast cities are expected to enter the tourney. College and university boxers are also expected.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR TRAPSHOOTING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Dates for the five-sectional or zone shooting championship of the American Trapshooting Association were announced yesterday as follows:

Southern, at Atlanta, June 1-4; Eastern, at New Haven, July 20-23; Great Lakes, at Minneapolis, July 25-28; Prairie at Huron, S. D., August 7-10; Pacific Coast at Tacoma, Wash., August 7-10.

PLESTINA ON TRAIL OF STRANGLER LEWIS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Tex Rickard, sporting promoter, last night issued a challenge to Ed (Strangler) Lewis, the world's wrestling champion, on behalf of Marin Plestina, who he asserts "has been barred from participation for championship honors," and offers to permit Lewis to use his favorite head hold in a finish contest.

HUNTINGTON PARK WINS THREE GAMES.

Huntington Park basketball teams scored a triple victory yesterday. The heavyweights defeated the Gardena heavyweights, 16 to 12, the lightweights won, 44 to 11, and the 115-pounders, 8 to 2 in a five-minute session, Gardena forfeiting at the end of that time.

CONTRACT FOR FORGUES.

Another player on the Gene Murphy jazz shirt team of the Managers' Association has been offered a contract with an eastern club. The latest attempt to grab off a Murphy youngster was made last week, when a contract with the St. Joseph club of the Western League was offered Jimmy Forgues, backstop on the Gene Murphy team. This makes six members of the Murphy jazz boys that have looked good to eastern scouts and managers.

PRESBYTERIANS NOT THERE WITH CASABA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Feb. 3.—The M. E. Men's team defeated the Presbyterians in the Sunday-school basketball league schedule last night, 27 to 0. The players and points made were:

M. E. Men—Warner, forward, 12; Grassle, forward, 13; Nott, center; D. Bruce, left guard, J. Bruce, right guard.

Presbyterian—Field and Schultz, forwards; Snyder, center; Crusan and A. Crim, guards.

The Baptist team won its second game, beating the M. E. South team. The players and points were:

Baptist — Reitzel, forward, 6; Wise, forward, 2; Brumbaugh, center, 3; Bliss, guard, 4; Powell, guard; Jeffers, guard, 2.

M. E. South—Andrews, forward, 2; Grant, forward; DeWitt, center; Anderson, guard; Glover, guard.

BYRON HOUCK ON MOUND TOMORROW.

The second and third games of a five-game series between Alexander's Lincoln Giants and Rube Foster's All Stars is scheduled for tomorrow and Sunday. The games of which will be played at the Giants' spacious field, Thirty-second street and Long Beach avenue.

Byron Houck is to hurl tomorrow's game and Slim Love will pitch Sunday. Three hurlers are to be used by the Giants, Johnny Wells, William Foote and Neal Meiler.

Three members of the Lincoln Giants were sent to New York this week, but five other star colored performers, that recently arrived here from the East, are signed and the club is stronger than ever. The usual large crowds are expected to attend both games.

AERIAL TAXI QUITE CHEAP.

Costs No More Than Auto Ride in New York.

Expert Tells of Aviation in Great Britain.

Tells How Government Might Assist Flying.

An aerial taxicab in London costs approximately the same as an earth-bound taxi in New York, according to Prof. E. P. Warner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, in his paper, "Commercial Aviation in Europe," presented recently before the commercial session of the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Others reading papers were Glenn L. Martin of the Glenn L. Martin Company, and Ralph N. Upson, well-known expert on lighter-than-air craft, the former discussing "Commercial Aviation" and the latter, "Transportation of the Immediate Future."

"The charge in England for an aerial taxi," Prof. Warner said, "is 2s. 6d, or 44c for two persons per mile, and an airplane can usually be had at an hour's notice." This fare is only two and one-half times as large as that for an earth-bound taxi in London and it costs approximately the same amount to travel by airplane in England as by taxicab in New York. Prof. Warner said the actual costs of air travel in Europe have shown a tendency to steady reduction. He asserted the fare charge on the London-Paris route was originally 20 guineas but has since been decreased several times, and now stands at 10 guineas ($37.00) for the one-way journey and 18 guineas for the round trip. The fare to Brussels is the same, while that to Amsterdam is 15 guineas one way. He said that figures had been compiled and presented to the air conference in London last September, showing that large planes could operate profitably carrying passengers between Paris and London for £5, 10s ($19.50 at the present exchange,) if the machines could carry a full load on each trip.

He said that statistics compiled showed that during the first eleven months of commercial flying in England, between England and the continent, there was a total of twenty-four accidents, four of which resulted in the death of one or more occupants of the airplane. "The pilot was killed in all four cases," he said, "while, in the whole eleven months one passenger was killed. The average death rate among pilots was 0.415 per thousand hours or one death for every 2410 hours of flying, while the average among passengers was 0.015 fatality per thousand passengers carried and .055 per thousand passenger hours." This works out roughly as one death for every 67,000 passengers and every 18,200 passenger hours or, taking the average cruising speed of commercial aircraft as 90 m.p.h., as one fatality for 1,640,000 passenger miles. During the year 1917, the passenger death rate for railroad travel in the United States was for every 3,220,000 passengers carried, a danger ratio of 48.1. In some years American railroads have shown themselves less than twenty times as safe as has the airplane in this, its first year of commercial use."

Prof. Warner brought out the interesting fact that no European country operates its own mail here. The mail operating companies planes, as has been the practice are privately owned and receive a fixed fee from the government.

Prof Warner said there are several forms which government assistance to commercial flying may take. "It may be extended through direct purchase of airplanes for the military establishment, or for other branches of government, as is the case here," he said. "Secondly, it may take the form of a direct subsidy of the industry by the grant of monetary assistance to operating companies instead of to manufacturers on a basis of services actually operated, as has been done by the French government, or instead of granting any assistance to firms engaged in the manufacture or operation of aircraft, the government may offer indirect assistance by furnishing the ground organization for the services and by encouraging research aiming to obtain fundamental data for the production of more useful and more economical aircraft." He said that the British government had chiefly adhered, up to the present time, to the last method.

In conclusion, Prof. Warner described the international air convention and also went into the question of aircraft insurance. He said insurance rates at the present time in Europe are about 30 per cent per annum for passenger aircraft traveling over good country, with a reduction of one-fifth of a per cent on the face value of the policy for every hour of flying after the first hundred hours.

REGATTA FOR COLLEGES.

PRINCETON (N. J.) Feb. 3.—A race between the crews of the Princeton and the University of California, is considered likely, although no definite arrangements have been made, Arnold Wood, undergraduate manager of the Tiger crew, said today.

About two weeks ago the Princeton authorities received a letter from Franklin B. Morse, former Tiger football player, who is now a San Francisco sport writer, asking if Princeton would consider a challenge.

A reply was made that arrangements might be made, if California beat Washington, and if the graduate board of control here were willing. This board has not yet passed upon the regular schedule.

If an agreement is reached, it is considered likely that the contest will be held on Lake Carnegie the first week in June over a two-mile course.

SHOOT CARD ANNOUNCED.

Next Sunday morning's shoot card at the Vernon Gun Club is announced as a 100-bird affair in frames of twenty-five each from the 16-yard line. President Bruner says the present is a fine time to get in a little practice for the big shoot, a midwinter handicap event on February 24, 25, 26 and 27.

SHORT BATTERY POSTS.

It is possible to build up battery posts that are too short by starting the threads of a Ford adjusting yoke on the post until there is a joint between threads and post large enough for the purpose. Into the hollow part of the yoke molten lead is ladled and allowed to cool. The yoke is then unscrewed and the short post will be found to have reached the necessary height. In doing this job the old post should be scraped clean and a little flux should be applied.

SAGEHEN SHOTS.

Coach Carl Schott has three captains playing on his basketball squad. Chauncey Voorhies led the team last year, while Art Butcher, who plays forward now and then, captained the Sagehen casaba artists in 1918. Captain Taylor, the present leader, is playing his third year on the team. He is a junior. All members of the five will return next year.

Jake Bassler, star backstop and brother of Johnny Bassler, recently traded to Detroit, returned from Michigan recently. Jake's return brought joy to Coach Schott's heart, as the peppery little catcher is one of the main cogs in the Sagehen nine. He hit .385 last year and was a big factor in helping the Pomona team win the conference championship.

Ed Covington, captain of the 1920 Sagehen football team and rated one of the best backfield men in the State, and Loyd V. Steere, varsity baseball player and football manager, will leave soon for Mexico, where they will engage in a little business undertaking.

Saturday night the Redlands basketball five will invade Claremont bent on cleaning up the floor with the Sagehens. The first game between the two teams resulted in a 37-to-31 win for the Blue and White and consequently the Baptists are aching for revenge.

Felt Taylor, varsity tennis captain last year, won the college championship recently by defeating Bill Jones. The scores of the sets were 6-2, 10-12, 6-3. With Bob Rager and Captain Chic Valle, these men will form a formidable team for the coming conference contests.

ANNOUNCE OFFICIAL GOLF CHAMP DATES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3. — Official dates for American golf championships were announced yesterday as follows:

Open, July 18 to 21, Columbia Country Club, Chevy Chase, Md.; amateur, September 17 to 24, St. Louis Country Club, St. Louis, Mo.; women's, October 3 to 8, Hollywood Golf Club, Deal, N. J.

Match play between the sixty-four competitors qualifying for the national amateur championship will begin September 19.

The international match in which many of the leading British players are expected to compete, will begin September 5 at the national links, Southampton, N. Y.

The Western Golf Association has arranged to hold its sectional amateur championship during the week beginning July 25.

BOXING COMMISSION BREAKS UP SNARL.

TOLEDO (O.) Feb. 3.—Discovery of a combination in which three boxing promoters are involved, was announced today by the Toledo Boxing Commission and details of a plan to break it up were made public.

One of the promoters was a former member of the commission who resigned recently. The commission also ordered "immediate elimination of petty jealousies and the knocking of other boxing shows."

The use of towels in the corners has been abolished, fans being used instead. The throwing of water on a boxer as he returns to his corner also is forbidden. At a recent boxing bout, two members of the commission were showered during the wetting down process.

FINDS CALIFORNIA AFTER MANY YEARS.

NATIVE OF NEW YORK STARTED FOR THE COAST SIXTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Feb. 3.—Although he has been sixty-four years on the way, G. F. Thayer, Civil War veteran of New York State, has arrived in Long Beach at last.

Mr. Thayer left his native community when he was 11 years old, starting for California. He expected to complete the journey in six months at the longest. But the fates intervened. He went to work in Michigan for four years and then enlisted in the Union Army. Following the close of the Civil War he heard that the Indians were giving trouble in Indian Territory and Southwestern Kansas and he migrated to Kansas where he spent four years as an Indian fighter.

With no Indians left to fight he moved again, this time to the Territory of the Dakotas, where he helped carve out the two States which were added to the Union before he migrated to Idaho, where he remained sixteen years. Finally at the age of 75, "Chipper as a squirrel" as he insists he is, he arrived in California, the destination selected sixty-four years before.

In Long Beach he found a number of old friends, Capt. F. W. Pettis, D. S. Thomas and others with whom he served in the war and many of whom were with him in Kansas, Dakotas or Idaho. He also met here Mrs. Thomas Lincoln Smith, a niece whom he had not seen since she was a girl of 5, forty years ago.

SAYS COMPANY IS SHORT OF FUNDS.

RAILROAD EXECUTIVE BLAMES STAGE LINES FOR POOR BUSINESS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 3.—Admitting to the Chamber of Commerce directors, that an additional track should be installed at the intersection of Seventh and Main streets in order to avoid a left-hand turn for Pacific Electric cars, Vice-President H. B. Titcomb last night declared that the improvement would cost $12,000 and that the company hasn't the money with which to make it.

Mr. Titcomb expressed himself with considerable vigor with regard to the competition of buses and trucks, which he said was responsible for the state of the railroad company's finances, and called attention to the mere pittance paid by this class of transportation in the way of license fees and to the extent to which such vehicles damage the highways.

Mr. Titcomb incidentally protested against the proposal to increase the State taxes of public service corporations.

Gasoline Cost Cut Again.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today announced an additional reduction of 1 cent a gallon in the price of gasoline in New Jersey, making the wholesale price 26½ cents. The price in Louisiana was reduced 2 cents a gallon, making the wholesale price 25½ cents.

—intended to sell a suit of clothes

Right from the first word to the last of this advertisement we will make no attempt to give any other reason for its publication except that it is intended to sell clothes—Mandaville Clothes.

In the last analysis, you, the buyer of clothes, wish to be certain that you will receive a full dollar's worth of good service, good style and good looks for every dollar you spend for the suit.

It matters little or nothing to you, Mr. Average Clothes Buyer, whether your coat has a strip of hair cloth or two strips or three down the front—all you care about is that the coat will hold its shape properly and the "hows" and the "whys" are of no great concern as long as the results are sure and as you wish them.

If probably matters little to you whether the coat has a vent or the trousers are made narrow or wide or whether the vest is cut a bit deeper or higher—all you care about is that the finished garments will be right according to the latest dictates of men's fashions.

—Then here is the point of the argument.

It is up to you whether you want your garments made by the C. P. Mandaville Company's organization in our own shops or by the Ed. V. Price Company, the largest tailoring concern in the world. Our label insures all these style, service and making qualifications so that whenever you see our trademark in a suit you will immediately know there can be no better for the money expended.

Our trademark means that you have the proper number of haircloth and canvas interlinings—it means that the coat and the vest and the pants are all made properly and it means that your dollar has purchased one hundred cents worth of good clothes.

If the Mandaville Company would suggest a plain green satin band around the bottom of your trousers, you could rest easy in the knowing that plain green stripes were proper for men's trousers, and you could feel sure that you would have the very best green band that it would be possible to obtain anywhere.

Now, candidly, we want to sell you your clothes.

We believe we have taken rather a different tack than is usual in presenting our claims to you and we feel sure that a man's talk like this to a man should appeal to him sufficiently so that we will sell you your clothes from now on.

Lincoln Giants and Bobby Pinkey's All Stars is scheduled for tomorrow and Sunday. The brace of games will be played at the Giant's spacious field, Thirty-second street and Long Beach avenue.

Byron Houck is to hurl tomorrow's game and Slim Love will pitch Sunday. Three hurlers are to be used by the Giants, Johnny Baugh, William Foote and Neal McKay.

Three members of the Lincoln Giants were sent to New York early this week, but five other star colored performers, that recently arrived here from the East, were signed and the club is stronger than ever. The usual large crowds are expected to attend both games.

CHEERS DEAF MUTES.

HELEN MENKEN VISITS THEM WHEREVER SHE GOES.

By Grace Kingsley.

All our kind-hearted stars have some fad or other in the way of a generous stunt which they perform now and then. Some sing for wounded soldiers; others adopt Belgian orphans, but it remains for that clever Helen Menken, playing in "Three Wise Fools" at the Mason this week, to do the most unique stunt of all. And moreover there's a basic reason why she prefers this mode of kind-hearted action.

Not to prolong the suspense, Miss Menken during her tour of the country, and also while she was playing "Three Wise Fools" in New York, made it a practice to visit deaf and dumb schools and asylums. Not only this, she converses with the members in the sign language.

Miss Menken's father and mother are deaf mutes. So she never has known what it was to get a scolding. You can also see for yourself, judging from the mind of girl she has turned out to be, that it isn't necessary to scold children.

Miss Menken's father is Frederick Menken, of New York, especially noted for the fact that he puts on plays with deaf and dumb actors for the deaf and dumb theatergoers.

While in this city Miss Menken hopes to visit the school for the deaf located here, and to have with the children what stands for a jolly chat in deaf-and-dumb land.

Moore to Wed Soon.

That Tom Moore, Goldwyn star, is a good son who has no secrets from his mother was revealed yesterday. Mr. Moore himself confirmed the announcement by Mrs. Moore that he is to marry Miss Renee Adoree, a former musical comedy star, and at present his leading lady in films.

The wedding, according to reports, is to take place in a short time, though Mr. Moore declined to admit the exact date.

Elmer Harris Astonished.

Chalk one more up against the telephone. A mistake due to a conversation over the wire came near causing a riot the other day at the Realart Studio, presided over by the brilliant Elmer Harris.

It was Mr. Harris himself, in fact, who telephoned over to the Famous Players-Lasky studio, asking Mrs. Kenneth McGaffey, at the head of the research department, to go to the public library and obtain all the authorities she could find on sleep-walking, that being the subject of a film in course of production.

Two days passed, and Mrs. McGaffey telephoned Mr. Harris, saying: "Well, I have the books you wanted, but it was awfully hard work to get them. I had to go to the police authorities, and heaven knows what red tape!"

"Police?" demanded Mr. Harris, mystified.

"Yes, and I just hope you never put me on any subject like that again," said Mrs. McGaffey. "I may not be a little young girl, but still—"

"In heaven's name, what's the matter?" demanded Harris, irritated. "What are you getting so prudish about? Well, send the books along."

The books arrived at the studio in due course. And Elmer Harris nearly fell out of his chair when he read the titles. They were all on the subject of street-walking!

Hollywood Backwoods Gossip!

Everybody down at the corner drug store and everywhere votes George Stewart a regular fellow. But that doesn't prevent his staying back there in New York instead of coming out West as sister Anita intended him to do. He's pretending he's got to balance up the books in his dad's business and get him some new store clothes. The truth is, he is keeping company with Marivan Miller, the nifty little dancer, and can't bear to tear himself away. And Miss Miller has got what's called dancer's heart, too, meaning the same as athlete's heart, so that the poor little thing won't be able to terpsichore for several weeks. It's said there's a hammock on her front porch, down on Long Island. So no wonder George lingers. Eh, George?

Buster Keaton, that nimble-witted cut-up of Alarm Clock alley, has just dipped his pen and composed a new piece. It is entitled, "Half a League, Half a League, Into the Valley of Debt Rode the Four Horsemen."

You've got to hand it to that cute kid, Wesley Barry. He's just come back from New Orleans, where he helped on a drive for the Hoover fund, getting as high as $20,000 out of the city slickers and sports down there.

Keaton Finishes Comedy.

Just like the lady who washes Monday and irons Tuesday is that king-pin comedian, Buster Keaton, when it comes to making comedies. The industrious young fun-maker has completed his seventh picture on schedule and has shipped it to New York. It is entitled, "The High Sign," and even if Mr. Keaton didn't get temperamental and demand six months for its making, they say it's one of his best. Jean Havez wrote the scenario, with Lou Anger also kicking in.

Oliver Morosco Flits.

Oliver Morosco has left for New York, where he will pay only a flying visit, returning within three weeks.

Holubar Film Premiere.

Even New Jersey gets the peeking privileges at high art once in a while. The premiere of Al Kaufman's presentation of Allen Holubar's "Man, Woman, Marriage," starring Dorothy Phillips, took place January 24 at the Regent Theater, in Paterson, and as a result all records for that theater are reported swept away.

Both Mr. Holubar and Miss Phillips attended the premiere, as did various social leaders and prominent statesmen of New Jersey.

The pair are expected to return home in time to witness the local showing at the new Ambassador within a few weeks.

If it Excites You to Know It.

George Kern and his entire company of players have returned from San Francisco, where a number of scenes were taken for "The Unfoldment," at San Quentin rison.

Charles Ray is making rapid progress on the picturization of the famous Charles Hoyt farce, "The Midnight Bell."

Sid Grauman's Kind Heart.

Tony and Mike sell papers near Third and Broadway. Sid Grauman has an orange show at his theater this week, and there are loads of oranges on the stage. Tony and Mike naturally like oranges.

Last night after the two boys had closed their stand, they learned about the oranges. They decided to make an independent investigation.

Fifteen minutes later two slight forms stole out of the orange trees planted on the stage. They were queer-looking creatures: four trousered legs looked as if they had suddenly swollen. But a stage hand spied Tony and Mike.

"Aw, whatcha wanna take 'em away from us for?" whimpered Tony.

"Look how hard we had to work over hours to git 'em," echoed Mike.

Mr. Grauman himself showed up at that moment to see what the disturbance was about, and five minutes later, two happy newsboys sat on the curbing before the Grauman Theater eating oranges.

Snowy Baker Begins.

Preparations are now under way for the filming of the first of the series of Snowy Baker productions at the Selig studio. Reginald L. (Snowy) Baker will be the star of these pictures, which will be produced by Col. William N. Selig and Sam Rork.

The first story has already been selected and the cast is now being assembled. As the story is almost entirely of the outdoors and there are many locations to be found and exterior sets to be constructed, it is expected that the actual work of shooting will not begin for a week or two.

Eddie Polo Here.

Eddie Polo has returned from Cuba, where he filmed many of the episodes for "The Seal of Satan," his forthcoming Universal serial. He brought back with him informal photographs showing half the population of the island gathered around him as part of a demonstration in his honor. Under the direction of J. P. McGowan, the concluding episodes are being made at the studio.

Hollywood Studios Busy.

Awaking the echoes; production activities, have begun once more at Hollywood studios. The Greege H. Kern production of "The Unfoldment," with Florence Lawrence and William Conklin, is going forward.

Allan Dwan is staging the first scenes of a big super-feature, and arrangements have been completed for filming the Marion Fairfax Productions, consisting of original stories created by this well known writer. Rehearsals will start on the first story in a day or so, under Miss Fairfax's supervision.

Bessie Love has found a new story that pleases her, and will be producing within a short time.

FILM RELAYED WEST.

Four methods of transportation were used to bring the film, "Paying the Piper," to Los Angeles that it might be shown at Grauman's Theater Monday. There was a delay in the shipment from the East. Then, near Salt Lake the train on which it was bound for Los Angeles was stalled by a freight wreck. Sid Grauman, fearing the film would not be on hand, authorized the employment of a Salt Lake aviator to bring it to Los Angeles. He was compelled to make a landing at San Francisco because of engine trouble, so the film was rushed to this city by automobile. A messenger was sent for the film and brought it to the theater.

JOHNNIES TAKE NOTICE.

Girls, little and big, tall and short will make up the Orpheum show next week. Never in the history of that vaudeville house, it is said, has so large an aggregation appeared in any one week. There will be thirty in all. The Lightners, with thirteen, head the list; the Kirksmith sisters add a half-dozen, and the "Dance Shop" has nine. The rest scatter through the bill.

CORRIGAN CONVALESCING.

Friends of James Corrigan, former Morosco layer, are congratulating him upon his convalescence from a very serious operation at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Corrigan was taken suddenly ill last Tuesday while working in the final scenes of "Pecks Bad Boy" on Brunton lot. He was operated upon Saturday and while his life was despaired of for a time, he is now rapidly improving.

In the Glistening Show Circle.

RADIOS.

BETTY COMPSON PLANS.

STAR SEVERS RELATIONS WITH GOLDWYN COMPANY.

By Edwin Schallert.

Diplomatic relations between the Betty Compson Productions and Goldwyn Pictures Corporation were severed yesterday, according to announcement from the Compson organization last night. This terminates the releasing arrangement which Miss Compson has with the Goldwyn organization, and it is stated by her representative that she herself gave the final word on the ending of the agreement, and that the severing of relations was on an amicable basis.

Miss Compson's first production, "Prisoners of Love," was released through Goldwyn, and it is understood that her second picture, "The Love Call," will be distributed by the same organization.

Whether the star will continue as an independent producer or sign up as star with some production concern is apparently not yet decided.

Fitzmaurice Has Task.

George Fitzmaurice is slated to direct the Famous Players-Lasky production of "Experience," according to announcement by Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the organization. The feature is to be produced at the Long Island studios of the company. It is an adaptation of the modern morality stage play of the same name.

Mr. Fitzmaurice came into fame as a result of his picture, "On With the Dance," released about a year ago. He has since produced several other pictures, among them "Idols of Clay" and "Paying the Piper," the latter of which is to show at Grauman's Theater next week.

Call for Gas Masks.

Masks, masks and yet again masks. It seems that they are going to have to use every variety before they are through staging the prologue for the film feature, "Passion," at the Ambassador Theater. Last night at the workshop of Alex Hall on Fountain avenue, workmen found it necessary to use gas masks while using the chemicals to render the masks for the prologue flexible.

The solution in which the rubber was dipped developed a sort of deadly mustard gas odor.

Brenon Under Contract.

Herbert Brenon's direction of "The Passion Flower," the Norma Talmadge production, has so pleased Joseph M. Schenck that he has signed the noted film maker on a contract covering an indefinite period. In addition to directing, Mr. Brenon will supervise the Talmadge pictures.

Extra Performance.

Clark Picture Soon.

Marguerite Clark's picture, "Scrambled Wives," is shortly to be released, the print of the film production having already been delivered.

Pasadena Community.

The Pasadena Community Players are staging their first revival of one of their former successes this week. The play is "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," with the leading role portrayed by Samuel S. Hinds. The staging by Gilmor Brown is along the lines of the old morality, meaning the highlighting of the various characters.

Among those who are taking part are Mrs. L. L. Krebs, Miss Louise Crawford, Mrs. Rufus P. Spaulding, Miss Eloise Sterling, Miss Marjorie Nutter, Edward Murphey, Fisher H. Joy, George West, Percy Ubil, F. G. Novis and Mrs. S. S. Hinds.

A tour of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" is being booked during the Lenten season, in view of the appropriateness of the theme to that period.

Chaplin Sets About Ready.

Sets for Charlie Chaplin's next picture are being completed at the star's studio. The technical architecture is in charge of Danny Hall. Finishing touches are also being given the story.

The cast of the picture will include Edna Purviance, Henry Bergman, Loyal Underwood and Miss Lelita Parker. Rex Storey and Al Garcia have been added to the Chaplin organization in the capacities respectively of assistant and casting directors.

Grace Morse Flics.

Grace Morse, the film actress, took the air recently in order to keep an appointment in San Francisco. She was offered an engagement in a legitimate stage production, and flew from Los Angeles to the northern city. The actual flying time was a little more than five hours.

She declined the offer to return to the speaking stage as she is a firm believer in the future of the motion picture.

MUSICAL.

STELLAR VIRTUOSI.

GODOWSKY AND ROSEN GIVE BRILLIANT PROGRAM.

By Jeanne Redman.

Leopold Godowsky, indefatigable master of the pianoforte, appeared in concert last evening with Max Rosen, Rumanian violinist, at Philharmonic Auditorium. A large audience attended the concert and the two virtuosi were recalled repeatedly after performances which aroused a fiery enthusiasm.

The first number, the magnificent Cesar Franck Sonata, was played by Godowsky and Rosen together, the remainder of the program was arranged in groups of solos for the two instruments. Frederick Persson accompanied Rosen for the Saint-Saens Concerto and the smaller pieces.

The Sonata, which thrills from its singularly fine opening phrase to the close, was approached with a slightly more spirited intention upon the part of Godowsky and more spiritual upon the part of Rosen, but, of course, the interpretation was smooth and true to character upon the part of both. The development of the main theme was particularly interesting and well brought out.

Godowsky played a group of Chopin compositions, enforcing the point that one rarely hears the real Chopin save from a Slav, and preferably a Pole. The delicate rubatos, the sudden changes of mood and the pearly cadenzas were all there, true and invariable.

The rarely played Nocturne in F Minor, the Godowsky arrangement of the Posthumous Waltz in D Flat and the C Sharp Minor Scherzo were impeccable in technique and in character.

Three numbers from the Godowsky "Triakontameron," two Liszt works and the Godowsky Metamorphoses of Strauss's "The Bat," concluded the program.

Rosen, admirably assisted by Persson, played the brilliant Concerto of Saint-Saens with amazing finish and thoroughness of detail. Rosen has a tone of many colors and a fine feeling for the works which he interprets. He has a charming "Romance" which he played, attesting to his musical understanding.

A Godowsky "Wienerich," Kreisler's "Gitana" and the "Caprice Basque" of Sarasate, brought him much applause, and established his position here as a most worthy exponent of the famous school of Auer.

YAW-CANNON CONCERT ENJOYS MUCH FAVOR.

Ellen Beach Yaw, soprano, and Franklin Cannon, pianist, were heard in concert yesterday afternoon at the Little Theater. An audience of large size attended the concert, and accorded the usual tributes to the "Lark Ellen" of the extremely high and flute-like voice.

Miss Yaw sang a song of her own composition, "Spring's Invitation," which was graceful and musical in theme and arrangement.

"Ah, Fors e Lui" from Verdi's Traviata" gave her an opportunity for the display of her thrills and coloratura work, and for her long sustained high notes. She was warmly applauded for this favored number.

Margaret Lang's "Ghosts" was also very well liked. Earl Cransten Lang's "Possession" was one of her most successful performances, showing a keen interest into the text and an adaptability which makes for response always.

Franklin Cannon played the Chorale and Prelude of Bach, a work whose great demands were well accounted for. A Chopin Etude and the "Papillon" of Schumann went with brilliance and finish.

The Guilmant arrangement of Weber's "Perpetual Motion" was also excellently performed and won the pianist a hearty applause.

declaring hotly that he would no longer preside over a Randall meeting after a speaker had called President Wilson a traitor, Attorney Stephen C. Jones, prominent member of the Democratic County Central Committee, left the auditorium of the Glendale High School Tuesday night, taking his wife and friends with him.

The meeting was thrown into a turmoil when Rev. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, here from Washington to support Charles M. Randall's candidacy for Congress, made the statement that President Wilson deliberately gave the brewers the country six months of grace by holding back a Presidential proclamation necessary to make war-time prohibition effective in 1917. The statement was immediately followed by a denunciation of the President coming from Rev. W. H. Spurr, a retired minister of Glendale, for his act President Wilson had shown himself a traitor to his country," cried Mr. Smart.

"I will not preside over a meeting where any is a meeting where the President of the United States is called a traitor. I demand that a retraction is made immediately, or I will leave the room," shouted Attorney Jones.

"THE BIBLE PROVES IT.

"I won't retract it," retorted Mr. Smart. "I have proof of it in the Bible, and I'll show it to you." Attorney Jones insisted that the charge be withdrawn. Meantime Mr. Wilson attempted to speak, but he could not be heard. Finally he asked Mr. Jones to desist from asking for the withdrawal in the interests of harmony. Attorney Jones's answer was to grasp his hat, and with his wife and a few friends, left the auditorium.

Attorney Jones declined to discuss the incident, but his friends say he has come to a definite decision on the Randall prohibition issue.

The statement concerning President Wilson was made during an address by Mr. Wilson of the Democratic platform, in which Chairman Welch showed by careful search of the Congressional record, that Randall had never favored the passage of a law for prohibition or moral welfare measures in the six years that he has been incumbent. This statement by Chairman Welch made as a result of the published statements of Randall and his henchmen (Randall) was the man who opposed wartime prohibition and was the chief figure in the fight to pass the Eighteenth Amendment. Chairman Welch proved by the Congressional Record that not only was Randall entirely innocent of any such charges in these two great prohibition measures, but that twenty-four bills and resolutions, for which Randall assumed credit, had never been considered in any way whatsoever by Congress.

CHEERS DEAF MUTES.

HELEN MENKEN VISITS THEM WHEREVER SHE GOES.

By Grace Kingsley.

All our kind-hearted stars have some fad or other in the way of a generous stunt which they perform now and then. Some sing for wounded soldiers; others adopt Belgian orphans, but it remains for that clever Helen Menken, playing in "Three Wise Fools" at the Mason this week, to do the most unique stunt of all. And moreover there's a basic reason why she prefers this mode of kind-hearted action.

Not to prolong the suspense, Miss Menken during her tour of the country, and also while she was playing "Three Wise Fools" in New York, made it a practice to visit deaf and dumb schools and asylums. Not only this, she converses with the members in the sign language.

Miss Menken's father and mother are deaf mutes. So she never has known what it was to get a scolding. You can also see for yourself, judging from the kind of girl she has turned out to be, that it isn't necessary to scold children.

Miss Menken's father is Frederick Menken, of New York, especially noted for the fact that he puts on plays with deaf and dumb actors for the deaf and dumb theatergoers.

While in this city Miss Menken hopes to visit the school for the deaf located here, and to have with the children what stands for a jolly chat in deaf-and-dumb land.

Moore to Wed Soon.

That Tom Moore, Goldwyn star, is a good son who has no secrets from his mother was revealed yesterday. Mr. Moore himself confirmed the announcement by Mrs. Moore that he is to marry Miss Renee Adoree, a former musical comedy star, and at present his leading lady in films.

The wedding, according to reports, is to take place in a short time, though Mr. Moore declined to admit the exact date.

Elmer Harris Astonished.

Chalk one more up against the telephone. A mistake due to a conversation over the wire came near causing a riot the other day at the Realart Studio, presided over by the brilliant Elmer Harris.

It was Mr. Harris himself, in fact, who telephoned over to the Famous Players-Lasky studio, asking Mrs. Kenneth McGaffey, at the head of the research department, to go to the public library and obtain all the authorities she could find on sleep-walking, that being the subject of a film in course of production.

Two days passed, and Mrs. McGaffey telephoned Mr. Harris, saying: "Well, I have the books you wanted, but it was awfully hard work to get them. I had to go to the police authorities, and heaven knows what red tape!"

"Police?" demanded Mr. Harris, mystified.

"Yes, and I just hope you never put me on any subject like that again," said Mrs. McGaffey. "I may not be a little young girl, but still —"

"In heaven's name, what's the matter?" demanded Harris, irritated. "What are you getting so prudish about? Well, send the books along."

The books arrived at the studio in due course. And Elmer Harris nearly fell out of his chair when he read the titles. They were all on the subject of street-walking!

Hollywood Backwoods Gossip!

Everybody down at the corner drug store and everywhere votes George Stewart a regular fellow. But that doesn't prevent his staying back there in New York instead of coming out West as sister Anita intended him to do. He's pretending he's got to balance up the books in his dad's business and get him some new store clothes. The truth is, he is keeping company with Marilynn Miller, the nifty little dancer, and can't bear to tear himself away. And Miss Miller has got what's called dancer's heart, too, meaning the same as athlete's heart, so that the poor little thing won't be able to terpsichore for several weeks. It's said there's a hammock on her front porch, down on Long Island. So no wonder George lingers. Eh, George?

Buster Keaton, that nimble-witted cut-up of Alarm Clock alley, has just dipped his pen and composed a new piece. It is entitled, "Half a League, Half a League, Into the Valley of Debt Rode the Four Horsemen."

You've got to hand it to that cute kid, Wesley Barry. He's just come back from New Orleans, where he helped on a drive for the Hoover fund, getting as high as $20,000 out of the city slickers and sports down there.

Keaton Finishes Comedy.

Just like the lady who washes Monday and irons Tuesday is that king-pin comedian, Buster Keaton, when it comes to making comedies. The industrious young fun-maker has completed his seventh picture on schedule and has shipped it to New York. It is entitled, "The High Sign," and even if Mr. Keaton didn't get temperamental and demand six months for its making, they say it's one of his best. Jean Havez wrote the scenario, with Lou Anger also kicking in.

Oliver Morosco Flits.

Holubar Film Premiere.

Even New Jersey gets the peeking privileges at high art once in a while. The premiere of Al Kaufman's presentation of Allen Holubar's "Man, Woman, Marriage," starring Dorothy Phillips, took place January 24 at the Regent Theater, in Paterson, and as a result all records for that theater are reported swept away.

Both Mr. Holubar and Miss Phillips attended the premiere, as did various social leaders and prominent statesmen of New Jersey.

If it Excites You to Know It.

George Kern and his entire company of players have returned from San Francisco, where a number of scenes were taken for "The Unfoldment," at San Quentin prison.

Charles Ray is making rapid progress on the picturization of the famous Charles Hoyt farce, "The Midnight Bell."

Sid Grauman's Kind Heart.

Tony and Mike sell papers near Third and Broadway. Sid Grauman has an orange show at his theater this week, and there are loads of oranges on the stage. Tony and Mike naturally like oranges.

Last night after the two boys had closed their stand, they learned about the oranges. They decided to make an independent investigation.

Fifteen minutes later two slight forms stole out of the orange trees planted on the stage. They were queer-looking creatures; four trouser legs looked as if they had suddenly swollen. But a stage hand spied Tony and Mike.

"Aw, whatcha wanna take 'em away from us for?" whimpered Tony.

"Look how hard we had to work over hours to git 'em," echoed Mike.

Mr. Grauman himself showed up at that moment to see what the disturbance was about, and five minutes later, two happy newsboys sat on the curbing before the Grauman Theater eating oranges.

Snowy Baker Begins.

Preparations are now under way for the filming of the first of the series of Snowy Baker productions at the Selig studio. Reginald L. (Snowy) Baker will be the star in these pictures, which will be produced by Col. William N. Selig and Sam Rork.

The first story has already been selected and the cast is now being assembled. As the story is almost entirely of the outdoors and there are many locations to be found and exterior sets to be constructed, it is expected that the actual work of shooting will not begin for a week or two.

Eddie Polo Here.

Eddie Polo has returned from Cuba, where he filmed many of the episodes for "The Seal of Satan," his forthcoming Universal serial. He brought back with him informal photographs showing half the population of the island gathered around him as part of a demonstration in his honor. Under the direction of J. P. McGowan, the concluding episodes are being made at the studio.

Hollywood Studios Busy.

Awaking the echoes, production activities have begun once more at Hollywood studios. The George H. Kern production of "The Unfoldment," with Florence Lawrence and William Conklin, is going forward.

Allan Dwan is staging the first scenes of a big super-feature, and arrangements have been completed for filming the Marion Fairfax Productions, consisting of original stories created by this well known writer. Rehearsals will start on the first story in a day or so, under Miss Fairfax's supervision.

Bessie Love has found a new story that pleases her, and will be producing within a short time.

FILM RELAYED WEST.

Four methods of transportation were used to bring the film, "Paying the Piper," to Los Angeles that it might be shown at Grauman's Theater Monday. There was a delay in the shipment from the East. Then, near Salt Lake the train on which it was bound for Los Angeles was stalled by a freight wreck. Sid Grauman, fearing the film would not be on hand, authorized the employment of a Salt Lake aviator to bring it to Los Angeles. He was compelled to make a landing at San Francisco because of engine trouble, so the film was rushed to this city by automobile. A messenger was sent for the film and brought it to the theater.

JOHNNIES TAKE NOTICE.

Girls, little and big, tall and short will make up the Orpheum show next week. Never in the history of that vaudeville house, it is said, has so large an aggregation appeared in any one week. There will be thirty in all. The Lightners, with thirteen, head the list; the Kirksmith sisters add a half-dozen, and the "Dance Shop" has nine. The rest scatter through the bill.

CORRIGAN CONVALESCING.

Friends of James Corrigan, former Morosco layer, are congratulating him upon his convalescence from a very serious operation at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Corrigan was taken suddenly ill last Tuesday while working in the final scenes of "Pecks Bad Boy" on Brunton lot. He was operated upon Saturday and while his life was despaired of for a time, he is now rapidly improving.

In the Glistening Show Circle.

RADIOS.

BETTY COMPSON PLANS.

STAR SEVERS RELATIONS WITH GOLDWYN COMPANY.

By Edwin Schallert.

Diplomatic relations between the Betty Compson Productions and Goldwyn Pictures Corporation were severed yesterday, according to announcement from the Compson organization last night. This terminates the releasing arrangement which Miss Compson has with the Goldwyn organization, and it is stated by her representative that she herself gave the final word on the ending of the agreement, and that the severing of relations was on an amicable basis.

Miss Compson's first production, "Prisoners of Love," was released through Goldwyn, and it is understood that her second picture, "The Love Call," will be distributed by the same organization.

Whether the star will continue as an independent producer or sign up as star with some production concern is apparently not yet decided.

Fitzmaurice Has Task.

George Fitzmaurice is slated to direct the Famous Players-Lasky production of "Experience," according to announcement by Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the organization. The feature is to be produced at the Long Island studios of the company. It is an adaptation of the modern morality stage play of the same name.

Mr. Fitzmaurice came into fame as a result of his picture, "On With the Dance," released about a year ago. He has since produced several other pictures, among them "Idols of Clay" and "Paying the Piper," the latter of which is to show at Grauman's Theater next week.

Call for Gas Masks.

Masks, masks and yet again masks. It seems that they are going to have to use every variety before they are through staging the prologue for the film feature, "Passion," at the Ambassador Theater. Last night at the workshop of Alex Hall on Fountain avenue, workmen found it necessary to use gas masks while using the chemicals to render the masks for the prologue flexible.

The solution in which the rubber was dipped developed a sort of deadly mustard gas odor.

Brenon Under Contract.

Herbert Brenon's direction of "The Passion Flower," the Norma Talmadge production, has so pleased Joseph M. Schenck that he has signed the noted film maker on a contract covering an indefinite period. In addition to directing, Mr. Brenon will supervise the Talmadge pictures.

Extra Performance.

Clark Picture Soon.

Marguerite Clark's picture, "Scrambled Wives," is shortly to be released, the print of the film production having already been delivered.

Pasadena Community.

The Pasadena Community Players are staging their first revival of one of their former successes this week. The play is "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," with the leading role portrayed by Samuel S. Hinds. The staging by Gilmor Brown is along the lines of the old morality, meaning the highlighting of the various characters.

Among those who are taking part are Mrs. L. L. Krebs, Miss Louise Crawford, Mrs. Rufus P. Spaulding, Miss Eloise Sterling, Miss Marjorie Nutter, Edward Murphey, Fisher H. Joy, George West, Percy Ubil, F. G. Novis and Mrs. S. S. Hinds.

A tour of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" is being booked during the Lenten season, in view of the appropriateness of the theme to that period.

Chaplin Sets About Ready.

Sets for Charlie Chaplin's next picture are being completed at the star's studio. The technical architecture is in charge of Danny Hall. Finishing touches are also being given the story.

The cast of the picture will include Edna Purviance, Henry Bergman, Loyal Underwood and Miss Lelita Parker. Rex Storey and Al Garcia have been added to the Chaplin organization in the capacities respectively of assistant and casting directors.

Grace Morse Flies.

Grace Morse, the film actress, took the air recently in order to keep an appointment in San Francisco. She was offered an engagement in a legitimate stage production, and flew from Los Angeles to the northern city. The actual flying time was a little more than five hours.

She declined the offer to return to the speaking stage as she is a firm believer in the future of the motion picture.

MUSICAL.

STELLAR VIRTUOSI.

By Jeanne Redman.

Leopold Godowsky, indefatigable master of the pianoforte, appeared in concert last evening with Max Rosen, Rumanian violinist, at Philharmonic Auditorium. A large audience attended the concert and the two virtuosi were recalled repeatedly after performances which aroused a fiery enthusiasm.

The first number, the magnificent Cesar Franck Sonata, was played by Godowsky and Rosen together; the remainder of the program was arranged in groups of solos for the two instruments. Frederick Persson accompanied Rosen for the Saint-Saens Concerto and the smaller pieces.

The Sonata, which thrills from its singularly fine opening phrase to the close, was approached with a slightly more spirited intention upon the part of Godowsky and more spiritual upon the part of Rosen, but, of course, the interpretation was smooth and true to character upon the part of both. The development of the main theme was particularly interesting and well brought out.

Godowsky played a group of Chopin compositions, enforcing the point that one rarely hears the real Chopin save from a Slav, and preferably a Pole. The delicate rubatos, the sudden changes of mood and the pearly cadenzas were all there, true and invariable.

The rarely played Nocturne in F Minor, the Godowsky arrangement of the Posthumous Waltz in D Flat and the C Sharp Minor Scherzo were impeccable in technique and in character.

Three numbers from the Godowsky "Triakontameron," two Liszt works and the Godowsky Metamorphoses of Strauss's "The Bat," concluded the program.

Rosen, admirably assisted by Persson, played the brilliant Concerto of Saint-Saens with amazing finish and thoroughness of detail. Rosen has a tone of many colors and a fine feeling for the works which he interprets. He has a charming "Romance" which he played, attesting to his musical understanding.

A Godowsky "Wienerich," Kreisler's "Gitana" and the "Caprice Basque" of Sarasate, brought him much applause, and established his position here as a most worthy exponent of the famous school of Auer.

YAW-CANNON CONCERT ENJOYS MUCH FAVOR.

Ellen Beach Yaw, soprano, and Franklin Cannon, pianist, were heard in concert yesterday afternoon at the Little Theater. An audience of large size attended the concert, and accorded the usual tributes to the "Lark Ellen" of the extremely high and flute-like voice.

Miss Yaw sang a song of her own composition, "Spring's Invitation," which was graceful and musical in theme and arrangement.

"Ah, Fors e Lui" from Verdi's Traviata" gave her an opportunity for the display of her thrills and coloratura work, and for her long sustained high notes. She was warmly applauded for this favored number.

Margaret Lang's "Ghosts" was also very well liked. Earl Cransten Lang's "Possession" was one of her most successful performances, showing a keen interest into the text and an adaptability which makes for response always.

Franklin Cannon played the Chorale and Prelude of Bach, a work whose great demands were well accounted for. A Chopin Etude and the "Papillon" of Schumann went with brilliance and finish.

The Guilmant arrangement of Weber's "Perpetual Motion" was also excellently performed and won the pianist a hearty applause.

MINISTER CALLS WILSON TRAITOR

Democratic Leader Walks Out of Randall Rally.

Was Chairman, but Failed to Secure Retraction.

Meeting at Glendale Marred by Open Party Split.

Declaring hotly that he would never preside over a Randall meeting after a speaker had called President Wilson a traitor, Attorney Jones, prominent member of the Democratic County Central Committee, left the auditorium of the Glendale High School Tuesday night, taking his wife and friends with him.

The meeting was thrown into a furor when Rev. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, here from Washington to support Charles Randall's candidacy for Congress, made the statement that President Wilson deliberately gave the brewers of the country six months of grace in order to hold back a Presidential proclamation necessary to make war-time prohibition effective in 1917.

The declaration was immediately followed by a denunciation of the President coming from Rev. W. [illegible], a retired minister of Glendale, who by this act President Wilson had himself a traitor to his country," cried Mr. Smart.

Attorney Jones, who was presiding over the meeting, leaped to his feet and demanded a retraction.

"I will not preside over a meeting in a meeting where the President of the United States is called a traitor. I demand that a retraction be made immediately, or I will leave the room," shouted Attorney Jones.

SAYS BIBLE PROVES IT.

"I won't retract it," retorted Wilson; "I have proof of it in the Bible, and I'll show it to you." Attorney Jones insisted that the charge be withdrawn. Meantime Mr. Wilson continued to speak, but he could not be heard. Finally he asked to be excused from asking for retraction in the interests of harmony, Attorney Jones's answer was to pick up his hat, and with his wife and a few friends, left the auditorium.

Attorney Jones declined to discuss the incident, but his friends say that he has come to a definite understanding with the Randall prohibition forces.

The statement concerning President Wilson was made during the examination by Mr. Wilson of the statement expose by Galen H. Welch, chairman of the Ninth Congressional Republican Committee, in which Chairman Welch showed a careful search of the Congressional Record, that Randall had never secured the passage of any prohibition or moral welfare bill in Congress, in the six years that he has been incumbent. This statement Chairman Welch made as a refutation of the published statements of Randall and his henchmen that he (Randall) was the man who secured wartime prohibition and was the chief figure in the fight to pass the Eighteenth Amendment. Chairman Welch proved by the Congressional Record that not only was Randall entirely innocent of any participation in these two great prohibition measures, but that twenty-two other bills and resolutions, for which Randall assumed credit, had never been considered in any way by Congress.

HE PLANTED HIS CAR FOR WRECK

JURY HELD FOR FALSE CLAIM SAYS HE AND FRIEND DRANK MUCH WINE.

Asserting that he had not deliberately driven his automobile in front of a moving freight train and then abandoned it, Everett Robinson asserted yesterday in Justice Summerfield's court that he and R. W. Robinson had previously consumed a number of wine and were not responsible. After the court heard the testimony tended to show that Robinson had reported his car stolen when he had driven it on the railroad tracks of the Southern Pacific at Glendale crossing. He jumped off of the car when the train was a few feet away. Larry Belger, head of the local detective agency, discovered that the engineer of the train had been Robinson run away from his car as the train approached. Robinson put in a claim for $1,000 to an insurance company. Drake was found not to have been a part in the asserted plot.

WHOLESALE SHOE FIRM TO SELL DIRECT TO PUBLIC.

Policy Rigidly Maintained for Years is Broken.

For years one of the large wholesale shoe houses of Los Angeles has rigidly maintained a selling policy to retail merchants. Owing to the recent readjustment of prices and cancellations in every line of goods, often found necessary to radically change its policy.

The present national conditions, the Department of the WESTERN SHOE CO., 227 South Broadway, has announced a sale from the floors of their wholesale department to the public. This is positively the first time that such a drastic step has been taken.

Notable for the women of Los Angeles and vicinity, the WESTERN SHOE CO. will offer for sale, along with the women's shoes at prices of $2.00 to $5.00 thousands of pairs comprising all styles and leathers in kids, and in patent leathers, suedes and velvets in black and brown, gray and white, velvet soles, imported and domestic hosiery, high French and Louis heels, Cuban and Spanish heels, military, high French and Louis heels. There are two great groups of shoes and slippers. The first group consists of black and tan kid, and a few patent leather and gun metal, in all sizes and widths, being sold for the first time at $2.00.

The second group consists of styles, for dress, street and house wear are included in this group, which is the largest ever offered by the WESTERN SHOE CO. This group will be sold for $3.00 and $4.00 a pair. This seems to be the time to buy shoes for the summer and next year, for the reason that concentrated times, had never before been witnessed by the people of Los Angeles and vicinity. Many people are coming from all parts to buy direct. While in the store where the store you buy, the store where you receive your shoes. Orders will be reserved for the retailer—not for a dozen or a dozen at the one price. Before the lot you will find some of the best shoes ever offered at the price.

The WESTERN SHOE CO. is in the rear of the building at 227 South Broadway, between the Broadway and Hill street entrances. These values are on sale at 9 A.M. and will carry through the day. Remember, the WESTERN SHOE CO. is at 227 South Broadway.—[Adv.

Service Men of Burbank Are for Maj. Lineberger.

Following the formation of an ex-service men's club last night in Burbank, a resolution was unanimously adopted indorsing the candidacy of Maj. Walter F. Lineberger of Long Beach for the position of Congressman in the Ninth District.

The meeting was participated in by World War veterans of that district who have become well acquainted with Maj. Lineberger, who is a past commander of Arthur L. Peterson Post, American Legion of Long Beach, and it was the opinion of the meeting that Maj. Lineberger would prove to be a valuable friend to ex-service men if sent to Congress.

The club was organized with Fred Luttge as president and Walter C. Fisher as secretary.

WIDOW GETS NO CASH FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Supervisor Cogswell, who was made defendant in a suit by Mrs. Raymunds Reyes for the death of her husband, Vincente Reyes, killed in a collision between Mr. Cogswell's automobile and Mr. Reyes's motorcycle, won the judgment in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday. Mrs. Reyes sued for $20,000 damages. The collision occurred between San Dimas and La Verne last August.

Must Stand Trial in Suit Resulting from Auto Killing

C. W. Pendleton, former collector of customs, must stand trial in the action brought by W. W. Gates for damages growing out of injuries received by him Oct. 8, 1916, when an automobile owned by Pendleton crashed into a party waiting to board a Vernon-avenue car, killing two persons and injuring five, according to a decision handed down yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

In the lower court the action was nonsuited. The machine was driven by Clarence Toll, who, as a result of the accident that ended in the injury of five persons and the death of two, was found guilty of manslaughter in the local criminal courts, but was given probation.

The Supreme Court holds that Toll was not only intoxicated when the accident occurred, but that the machine he was driving was traveling at the rate of thirty or forty miles an hour. It is held that Toll was under the employment and service of C. W. Pendleton.

Bank is Named Administrator of Sudow Riches.

The Union Bank and Trust Company was appointed administrator under the will of Mrs. Fay Sudow by Presiding Judge Shenk yesterday. William Jones, who was Mrs. Sudow's business agent, applied for the appointment of administrator and his petition was denied.

Last December Mr. Jones was nominated as special administrator by Bernard Sudow, husband of the slain woman, but subsequently Mr. Sudow withdrew his nomination in favor of the Union Bank and Trust Company. The latter was then appointed guardian of the estate of Lucille Sudow, the minor daughter of the Sudows.

Oscar Lawler, in opposing the petition of Mr. Jones, declared that if the latter was appointed administrator, he might find the situation embarrassing if he attempted to execute the trust. He stated this without impugning Mr. Jones's intentions.

The estate is valued at about $150,000. Under the will of Mrs. Sudow her daughter is sole legatee. A contract was produced in court signed by Mr. and Mrs. Sudow in which each renounced the right to inherit the other's property.

FOR MEDICAL FREEDOM,

Mayor Issues Proclamation After Hearing of Chiropractors.

Mayor Snyder yesterday issued the following proclamation in response to a plea made by a group of citizens on behalf of the chiropractors of Southern California.

"I believe in both religious and medical freedom. Liberty and freedom are the keynotes of the Declaration of Independence, that independence for which our forebears fought and died.

"I believe that it is every man's right to choose whatever form of religious worship he wishes; and also believe it is every man's right to choose the type of practitioner he wishes to employ for himself and his family and that this should not be dictated to him by any person or set of persons."

Dr. J. W. Daughtery, for ten years chairman of the National Board of Chiropractors; Dr. G. C. Haffner, Dr. Edith Moon, Dr. Thomas B. Seddon and Attorney Griffith Jones were among those who called on the Mayor.

ROE TRIAL NEAR END.

Arguments in Graydon Murder Case will Finish Today.

The arguments in the Graydon murder trial before a jury in Judge Houser's court will be completed this morning and the case will go to the jury early this afternoon. The prosecution, through Dep. Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes, asked for the conviction of Mrs. Maybelle Roe for first-degree murder for slaying McCullough Graydon in Venice September 1, last.

The defense, through Attorney Jud Rush, asserted she did not fire the shot to kill Mr. Graydon, but fired in the air when Mr. Graydon was choking Oscar A. Bowers and she feared Mr. Graydon would kill him. The mystery of the disappearance of the revolver used in the tragedy has not been solved.

This in substance was the prophesy made at the special guest luncheon of the Ebell Club yesterday by Dr. Frederick H. Millener, radio wizard, the first man to communicate by ...dless with a moving train, and ... man who extended the distance ... which a wireless message might ... sent from three miles to fifty.

Dr. Millener, in a happily pop... yet scientific way, explained the ...tory of telephonic communication ...m the days of Bell to the present ..., saying that some day our pres... methods of communication will ...em as primitive as the old Blake ...ransmitters with its coffee-mill ar...angement on the outside.

"California was the first State of ...e Union to purchase rights of the ...rt in place of the old-fashioned ...ake-and-break spark," he said. "California still keeps her position ...s the fore in progress. But do not ...ebate against the boys who ex...eriment in the treetops with wire... Where would we have been ...ithout similar boys when the war ...as on—those boys who had ...ealed with the wireless often against ...e will of their parents, who ...ought they were up to devilry? ...ow these selfsame boys who ...ade the corps in radio service. ...egislate, I repeat, against the ...oung scientist as you are now ...oing to do. Let the scientist ...ork in his own way. Only so will ...e be attained."

"If we go ahead as we have in ...he past, it will not be many years ...efore you can have your heart ex...mination here in Los Angeles by a ...ardiologist in New York and he ...ill see you," Dr. Millener concluded.

William Alanson Bryan, newly-appointed curator the Museum of History, Science and Art, a traveler, ...ecturer and scientist, told ...f the little known Easter Island ...n the Pacific Ocean, where there ...re the most remarkable monoliths ...ver by a primitive people. Mr. ...ryan ended with an appeal to club ...omen to build up the museum in ...os Angeles so that it shall be one ...f which the whole nation shall be ...roud.

Mrs. Ida Malone Gibson, one of ...he women who were present at the ...igning of the peace treaty at Ver...ailles related the story of that his...oric day. Mrs. A. B. Griffith, na...ional chairman of the kindergarten ...epartment of the General Federa...ion of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. ...ay Ullman, a newly-appointed ...ember of department work in ...os Angeles, were other guests of honor, ...eing introduced by Mrs. Charles .... Dill, who presided.

For Women Appointees.

CITY LIQUOR LAW IS LEGAL.

Bakersfield Decision Sets Precedent for Us.

Can Now Use Police to Hunt Dry Act Evaders.

Habeas Corpus Seeker Loses Federal Court Appeal.

U. S. District Judge Bledsoe last evening handed down an opinion affirming the legality of an ordinance passed by the City Council of Bakersfield, intending to strengthen the arm of the local authorities in the enforcement of the national prohibition law and the Volstead Act.

The judgment is of especial interest locally as it establishes the legality of a similar ordinance adopted by the City Council of Los Angeles.

The opinion of the court means, it is pointed out, that it is within the city police force to augment that of legal and proper bounds to use the the Federal government in requiring obedience to the mandate of the people as embodied in the amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

The matter came before the court on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of S. C. Crookshank, who was charged with a violation of an ordinance passed by the City Council of Bakersfield, on September 30, last.

It was contended in behalf of the writ of habeas corpus that the ordinance attempted to define and punish an offense which is solely within the jurisdiction of the United States. It was also asserted that the ordinance was invalid in that it is in conflict with the Volstead Act by fixing the minimum fine at $250.

Discussing the contention of the petitioner, the court stated that the State of California has heretofore conferred upon any county, city, town or township the authority to make and enforce within its limits all such local, police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with the general laws.

"In the practical exercise of the police power prohibiting the liquor traffic," said the court, "any conflict between the exercise of such power by the Federal government and that by a State government would have to amount to repugnancy or conflict of such a direct and positive nature that the two acts could not be reconciled or constitutionally stand the gether.

In conclusion Judge Bledsoe said: "The ordinance is in no wise substantially inconsistent or in conflict with the Volstead law and that it is a lawful exercise of the police power belonging to the State of California."

MUST MAKE ACCOUNTING.

U. S. District Judge Bledsoe yesterday issued an order restraining Helan H. McLean from the manufacture and sale of artificial flowers covered by a patent issued to Louise Malstrom, and appointed former Judge W. H. Thomas as special master in the case to make an accounting of the profits and damages due from persons who have infringed the Malstrom patent.

Kicks Only Part of Array of Charges.

Mrs. Kathleen E. Kellar (right) and Miss Dorris Dering.

LOVE NOTE FOR ACTOR WINS SUIT.

Wife Shows "Snuggle Up" Letter; Tells of Cruelty and Failure to Provide.

A love note from another woman, which Mrs. Kathleen E. Kellar testified in Judge Summerfield's court she found in the pockets of her husband, Frank P. Kellar, an actor, acts of cruelty and his failure to provide for her, won Mrs. Kellar a divorce yesterday.

Her story that Mr. Kellar dragged her through the house, shoved her into a bedroom and kicked her was corroborated by other witnesses. Her mother testified that she not only sent her daughter money while she was on her honeymoon, but also provided for her at her home.

The love note was addressed, "My Own Darling Frank," and told of the yearnings of the writer, "Helen." After Mrs. Kellar found the letter she testified that she wired Helen that Mr. Kellar was a married man. Helen replied, but addressed it to Mr. Kellar, saying that she was too hurt to say much, as it all seemed so unreasonable.

"I am waiting so anxiously to hear again, dear," the letter to Mr. Kellar stated. "It is so hard to tell whether you get my wires and letters. Just wait to be with you so badly; it seems like I can't help stand being separated another minute. I just wait—I want to scream—that I can't stand it. Darling you are my whole life. Do I mean just as much to you now as I did, darling? Nothing could come between us or make any difference now, dear. We just must belong to each other. Just to be in your arms again and have you tell me again you love me."

SIX QUARTS ARE COSTLY.

William Mitchell, an oiler on an ocean-going vessel, pleaded guilty to violation of the national prohibition law in U. S. District Judge Bledsoe's court yesterday, and was fined $250, which he paid. Mitchell was caught with six quarts of whisky that he was carrying away from a Los Angeles Harbor pier in a suit case.

Doctor Loses; Can't Testify Against Dead.

On the ground that a physician could not take the stand and testify against a deceased patient, Judge Wellborn yesterday excluded the deposition of Dr. Leo L. Michel of New York from evidence in the doctor's suit against William La Plante, executor of the estate of the late William Parsons, motion-picture producer. Judgment was given in favor of Mr. La Plante.

Mr. Parsons was a patient of Dr. Michel in 1917 and 1918. He was charged $2760 for Dr. Michel's services. Mr. Parsons died before the bill was paid.

A deposition taken and on file in the court stated that Mr. Parsons sought medical treatment before his marriage to Billy Rhodes, cinema star.

NOT HUNGRY, WHY EAT?

Chiropractor on Fasting Strike Says He has no Food Craving.

Health Engmark, chiropractor, now on a hunger strike in the City Jail, yesterday passed the eleventh day of his strike by refusing food three times. He declared late last night that he felt no hunger.

Engmark was sentenced to ninety days in jail after having been found guilty of a violation of the State Medical Act. He stated when taken to jail that he would not eat until released.

LOS ANGELES NINTH CI

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Los Angeles, credited with a growth of 34,963 in a year and a half, will rank officially as the ninth city in size in the United States when the Census Bureau estimates just announced become official on July 1 next. By the new estimate, Los Angeles is to be credited with 611,636 inhabitants, as against 576,673, which was the official 1920 census tally. The revision of figures puts Pittsburg, hitherto the ninth city, in the tenth place.

The July estimates will give San Francisco an estimated population of only 520,546, or credit for a growth of only 12,136 in eighteen months.

These estimates are based upon calculations of the growth rates of all cities dealt with over periods and upon a calculation of continuance of such percentages.

Conceding Los Angeles a population over San Francisco of 91,090, against a lead of 61,310 in 1920, the census estimates will give the ten largest cities in the country in the following order:

New York	5,9
Chicago	2,7
Philadelphia	1,8
Detroit	1,0
Cleveland	8
St. Louis	7
Boston	7
Baltimore	7
Los Angeles	6
Pittsburg	5

NOT MISSING HUSBAND.

Man Who Took Own Life in Utah Identified as Another.

A telegram received last night by Mrs. M. C. Madsen, 4170 South Hobart Boulevard, from an undertaker in Ogden, Utah, stated that the body of a man who committed suicide there two weeks ago and who was believed to have been her husband, had been identified as that of M. P. Madsen, whose father lives at Skovang, near Santa Barbara.

The descriptions of the two men tallied almost exactly, as did their ages and names, with the exception of the second initial. Both had been residents of Los Angeles within the last twelve months, and both had disappeared from their homes at about the same time.

Identity was negatively established as regards M. C. Madsen by the fact that he has two badly figured fingers on his left hand. Identity of the dead man was positively established when it was learned that M. P. Madsen had peculiar burns on his right hand.

SUPPORTS FIGHT TO AVERT "CUT."

Playground Commission Gets Into Normal Hill War.

Opposes Slashing into Site Without Further Study.

Other Plans for Extending Street Will be Heard.

The City Board of Playground Commissioners yesterday joined in the fight to save Normal Hill, by filing with the City Council a protest against the adoption without further study, of the "cut" plan of extending and widening Fifth street. The commissioners say in their communication:

"The commissioners request that the City Council do not definitely commit itself to a fixed plan, but first secure a plan of the best possible treatment of the site permitting the much needed street opening to the west. There are three or four plans offered and further study of them should be given before final decision by the city officials."

The commission suggests that the City Planning Commission be called on for a report as to the best method of widening and extending Fifth street and at the same time saving the Normal Hill site available for the erection of a municipal auditorium, art gallery or public library.

David Ekstrom and other artists and students of city planning believe that the "cut" plan of slicing forty feet from the north side of the hill and making a thirty-foot cut in order to extend the street to the west, would ruin the hill as a location for a magnificent public building, for which the site was originally purchased by the city.

Protests against the "cut" plan have also been filed by property owners and these will come before the City Council next Tuesday. It is expected that a hearing on the matter of finally adopting the "cut" plan will be set for the 15th or 16th inst. and at this hearing, it is believed, protestants will appear in person to urge further consideration of the "around-the-hill" method and other suggestions for extending Fifth street without slashing Normal Hill.

Relatives Hunt for Mother and Two Children.

Brothers of Mrs. Theresa Holt, of Bakersfield, last night began a search for the woman and her two children, Ranold, 7, and Dorothy, 5, who left Bakersfield on a stage last Sunday for Los Angeles, but are reported not to have arrived at their destination here. The woman and her children were to go to the home of Mrs. Nellie Holt, 2431 West Jefferson street. When Mrs. Holt left the home of her husband, Lloyd Holt, of 1920 Santee street, Bakersfield, she had less than $20 with her. Mrs. J. H. Light of 2717 Grandee street, sister of Mrs. Holt, last night told the police she feared something had happened to Mrs. Holt and the children. Any one having any information regarding their whereabouts is asked to communicate with the relatives or the police.

Methods of making Los Angeles a bigger and better city were discussed last night by about 130 men, members of the Los Angeles Realty Board, at an informal dinner at the Wilshire Country Club. Frank Ryan, president of the board, presided.

There were no set speeches, though practically every one present made a two and a half minute talk on some constructive policy. The dinner was given by the governing committee of the board for the purpose of bringing the members closer together in a social way, and it is planned to have dinners regularly during the year.

CLIMBS POLE TO WAVE BIG STICK.

Hospital Patient Escapes and Clambers Among Telegraph Wires.

Waving a long stick in the air while perched on the top of a tall telegraph pole at Genesee street and Sunset Boulevard late yesterday afternoon, Allen Edwards, who had escaped from a private hospital, attracted a crowd of several hundred persons before Police Captain Adams of the Hollywood station coaxed him to come down.

According to the police Edwards escaped from the hospital, where he was confined for mental troubles, early yesterday afternoon and, after arming himself with a long board, climbed the telegraph pole, began shouting at the top of his voice.

Capt. Adams pointed out to Edwards that he was attracting a large crowd and blocking the sidewalks. After some quarreling he agreed to come down.

the roadway first. The negroes won the race to the thoroughfare just as Mr. Lowe's touring car, carrying him and Miss Eleanor McKenzie, one of his clerks, came into sight.

The bandits jumped to the running board of the machine, and pointing a rifle at the head of the driver, forced him to turn the car and speed southward.

Motorcycle officers succeeded in getting to within fifteen feet of the car, but did not shoot toward the machine for fear of injuring Mr. Lowe or his companion. When capture of the bandits seemed imminent, both motorcycles ran out of gasoline and the fast-flying automobile, going at fully fifty miles an hour, disappeared around a curve in the road.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES HELP MANY FAMILIES.

CHILD WELFARE SECTION OF BUREAU REPORTS ON ITS WORK LAST YEAR.

The Bureau of Catholic Charities, through that branch of its activities known as child welfare, reports caring for 787 cases last year. This embraced 754 families and more than 1500 children. The home finding department placed 412 children in homes during the year.

Family welfare for relief aggregated 597 cases. This included 227 families, whose children numbered 630, and 370 individual cases. Relief provided through this department extended over a wide range of needs. Medicine, food and clothing were provided in many instances. Lodging for an emergency was secured, hospital aid and ambulance use, the advancing of rent to bridge over temporary adversity, securing employment and caring for transportation of stranded persons, obtaining charity rates for others and the provision of furniture and bed clothing where such were needed, were among the various forms of aid given

CITES TAX IN OTHER STATES.

San Gabriel Meeting Speaker Shows Burden Here.

Says Corporation Levies Are Passed on to People.

King Bill Supporter Insists More Cash is Needed.

Equalization of taxes, retrenchment and remedial taxation measures were the topics discussed at a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Gabriel Valley, held at the Woman's clubhouse in Sierra Madre Tuesday night.

"Compare the great State of California with other States," said State Senator Rominger. "New York has a per capita tax of $8.39, Massachussets, $8.50; Illinois, $4.36; Oregon, $8.07; Ohio, $5.40; Texas, $6.24; Washington, $7.45; Wyoming, $10.63, and California, $19.26.

"San Francisco," continued the speaker, "furnishes State commissions regardless of the cost to the taxpayer. Do you know that there are more than 6000 State employees in California today? What is the remedy? Gov. Lowden of Illinois solved this question for his State. Why, the very man who originated this system of taxation is now against this measure that would create further taxation.

"Every time the public utilities corporations have had their taxes raised, the public has had to pay the bill. They have gone before the State Railroad Commission and asked for an increase in rates. The question is not how to raise the taxes, but how to reduce them. I believe Gov. Stephens has been misled."

Senator Rominger then read petitions from banks and other corporate bodies asking him to oppose the King taxation bill.

Speaker Wright took the opposite view. He said that under constitutional amendment No. 1 it is the duty of the Legislature to adjust corporation taxes every two years and that there has been no adjustment for four years and it is now the duty of the present Legislature to get busy. He said this was no new thing; that the railroads knew this was to be done. He further stated that individual taxes had been increased in the last four years, but that banks and other corporations are paying the same tax now that they paid in 1916. Citing his own individual taxes, he said he paid $60.48 in 1918 and today he was paying $99.65, an increase of 64 per cent.

He declared the average increase in the State to individuals was 35 per cent. "Every institution in the State is asking for new buildings," said Speaker Wright. "They have not enough room. There are 18,000 people whom the State must feed and clothe and 11,000 of them are insane. They are sleeping on floors, porches, in out-houses, everywhere." Supervisor Cozswell made a few remarks supporting Speaker Wright.

Two hundred and twenty-five guests attended this meeting, at which the women of the club served a dinner Mrs. H. Hawxhurst, a club member, furnished a musical program. R. J. Shultis, president of the organization, presided. J. T. Rich, of San Bernardino, headed a delegation from that city, composed of the executive force of the Eleventh National Orange Show to be opened there next week.

Maj. Walter Lineberger, nominee for Congress in the Ninth District, was an interested visitor at the meeting.

NEW GRAPE CASE ARREST.

Bringing one other broker into the so-called grape swindling case, F. B. Conner was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Justice Baird on four counts of embezzlement in one complaint, and one count of embezzlement and one of obtaining money under false pretenses in another. He was released on his own recognizance until his hearing on the 17th inst.

The defendant is accused of defrauding Vincent Nutile of the Nutile Fruit Company out of $2000 on July 26, 1920; $1000 on August 6; $2000 on August 6, and $2000 on August 17. In the second complaint he is accused of obtaining $15,000 from the F. J. McCann Brokerage Company for delivery of seventy-five carloads of grapes on July 30, 1920.

R. E. Chapman, who was jointly accused, was recently convicted on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses in the same case. E. D. [illegible], a codefendant, was never arrested.

SAYS EXCHANGE DROP MAKES MANY JOBLESS.

EDITOR FOR EAGLES THINKS PRESENT CONDITION IS ONLY TEMPORARY.

Declaring that the industrial condition of the world will not improve until there is a readjustment of costs, wages and rates of exchange between the United States and Europe, Frank E. Hering, editor of the Eagles' Magazine, last night stated that the present trade depression is not in any sense permanent and that conditions will be restored to normal as soon as the credit of the rest of the world is restored.

Mr. Hering was the principal speaker at a mass meeting held at the local aerie, to which the public was invited and where some of the most prominent men, in the national affairs of the Eagle's organization were present, among whom were Grand President Elbert D. Wood, a Past Grand Worthy President, Conrad H. Mann. In addition to Mr. Hering's address the other visitors made short talks and there was a musical entertainment.

Mr. Hering declared there are 4,000,000 people out of employment in the United States, many of whom are returned soldiers. He says this condition is due to a depressed condition in the manufacturing centers, and that this depression will continue as long as the rate of exchange between European countries and the United States is low. At the close of the address there was a dance.

HELD FOR HAVING RING.

Valuable Diamond Belonged to Woman Forced to Drink Chloral.

Frank Kramer was held to answer yesterday by Justice Hinshaw on a charge of receiving an $1500 diamond ring, stolen from Mrs. Mary Estes on January 1. He was committed to the County Jail. Mrs. Estes charged that she was walking along Broadway at night when two men dragged her to a car and forced her to drink chloral and that she awakened two days later. She missed the ring, which officers say they found on Kramer, according to testimony produced by Dep. Dist. Atty. Fitts.

CANNOT CANCEL PLEA OF GUILT.

Admitted Forgery Once, is Sent to San Quentin; Old Record Bad.

After Clyde Taylor had pleaded guilty to forgery of a $5 check and had asked for probation, he appeared before Judge Reeve yesterday and stoutly denied that he committed the forgery. He asked permission to withdraw his plea of guilty and plead not guilty. This was denied. It was stated he had served seven years and eight months on a previous forgery conviction, and the court sentenced him to San Quentin for from one to fifteen years.

WOULD LIGHTEN SHIP OF STATE.

Shortridge Favors Dumping Democrats Overboard.

Is Honored by Republicans at City Club Banquet.

Urges Lineberger's Election in Ninth District.

Picturing this State as a vast, undeveloped empire, and predicting that this city—already the metropolis of the Pacific Coast—will become one of the greatest commercial centers of the country, Senator-elect Shortridge last night assured the Republican County Central Committee, which gave a banquet in his honor at the City Club, that he is going to Washington to represent all California, but particularly that section south of the Tehachepi which gave him such a tremendous vote at the November election.

"With Warren G. Harding on the bridge, I predict that the ship of state will experience a more even voyage than it has had these last eight years," remarked Mr. Shortridge, amid a burst of applause. I shall consider it a great privilege to be a meek and lowly member of his crew. At the beginning, the ship will be loaded with deserving Democrats, but I propose that we throw them all overboard and bend our collective efforts to the great task of cutting down the expense of government."

Mr. Shortridge declared that he considered himself about to become a member of the world's greatest deliberative body, greater even than the Roman Senate.

"Rome had a Senate of wonderful statesmen," he said, "but there was a Caesar who overawed it, and down in Washington our great deliberative body has had a near-Caesar, who has trampled upon it for eight years. Presidents may make treaties, but it requires a vote of the Senate to adopt them, and if President Harding fails to ask my advice on treaty matters, I'll give him my advice voluntarily."

In conclusion, Mr. Shortridge strongly urged all Republicans to rally to the standard and elect Maj. Walter F. Lineberger to Congress from the Ninth District on the 15th inst.

Maj. Lineberger made a brief address, dedicating all his energies to the cause of good government. W. E. Evans of Glendale spoke briefly on the coming Congressional race and emphasized the necessity for getting out a full vote. Joseph Scott compared Maj. Lineberger and Congressman Charles H. Randall, calling attention to the fact that Randall voted against war and against the draft, while Lineberger went to France and was wounded in action. He said that of the two men, he'd much prefer to trust the destinies of the nation in the hands of Maj. Lineberger, especially at this time.

F. B. McComas and Alfred L. Bartlett, the county chairman, also made short talks. There were about 400 persons present at the banquet.

PEETE DEFENSE IS ENDED.

Agreement Reached on Arguments Such That Case May Go to Jury Today.

ment, niece, not only testified on that point, but also made a valuable rebuttal witness when she said Denton did not wear the ring which Mrs. L. H. Coy, defense witness, said she saw on the hand of the man she thought was Denton and whom she saw June 3, after the date set for the murder. Mrs. Aument's testimony served partly to nullify that of another defense witness, who said he saw a Spanish woman at the Denton house May 11. Mrs. Aument recalled a similar incident at about the same time, when she met a laundryman at the door and made a remark such as the witness said the Spanish woman made when he called for the laundry. W. M. Arkins was the remaining witness who told about Denton's fingers being all right.

Detective Jones was the last person called. He said the fingers on the body at the undertaking establishment were all right, showing no abnormality or defect.

HUSBAND'S TESTIMONY.

The testimony of Mr. Peete was as follows:

Mr. Aggeler: The name is R. C. Peete?

Mr. Peete: Yes sir.

Q.: And you are the husband of the defendant, Mrs. Peete?

A.: I am.

Q.: Where is your residence when you are home?

A.: My residence has been in Denver, Colo., up until October 4 when we were removed here to Los Angeles.

Q.: And what has been your business in life, Mr. Peete?

A.: Most recently as a representative of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company—foreign representative.

Q.: And how long did you work for that company?

A.: About two years.

Q.: And what have you been doing for the last year?

A.: I have been resting on account of my health.

Q.: Do you know Charles Jones, a detective that works out of the District Attorney's office, or is assigned, rather, to detective work in that office?

A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: And how long have you known him?

A.: I first met him on Sept. 30, 1920, in Denver.

Q.: Do you remember being with Mr. Jones and Mrs. Peete at the residence of Mr. Tyler of Denver, on September 30?

A.: I do.

Q.: Do you remember during that conversation this conversation taking place—

CALLS IT LEADING.

Mr. Woolwine: Just a moment. Objected to on the ground that it is an improper way to examine the witness; that he should ask what was said and not suggest what—it is leading in its nature.

The Court: Over-ruled.

Mr. Aggeler: Do you remember on that evening this conversation taking place, at which time you and Mr. Jones and Mrs. Peete were the only persons present, Mrs. Peete asked: "Oh, Mr. Jones, why didn't you go into the basement that day when you were going through the house looking for Mr. Denton It would have saved all of this trouble?" to which Mr. Jones turned to you and replied: "Well, you know I had looked the land over, and saw Mrs. Peete there, and the elderly lady whom I later learned to be Mrs. Gregory, and I had no basis for suspicion and I didn't think it was necessary. The land looked all right to me." Do you remember that conversation taking place there?

A.: The conversation was that in substance. Yes, sir; almost exactly.

Q.: Do you remember a conversation occurring out there (the La Crescenta Hotel) at which Mr. Jones was present?

AT FOOTHILL HOTEL.

Q.: At that hotel in your room in the presence of you and Mrs. Peete, the parties present being only Mr. Jones, you and Mrs. Peete?

A.: I do.

Q.: At that time did Mrs. Peete say—

Mr. Woolwine: Wait. I want to get another objection in to that question. I claim and make the objection it is suggestive and leading.

The Court: This question was asked Mr. Jones for purpose of laying the foundation for impeachment.

Mr. Woolwine: I beg Your Honor's pardon. I didn't recall it.

Mr. Aggeler: Mrs. Peete say to Mr. Jones: "Mr. Jones, why didn't you go into the cellar at that time when I asked you if you wanted to?" And Mr. Jones, replying: "Oh, I don't know, I didn't think it was necessary after looking over things.' You remember that question being asked by Mrs. Peete and that answer given?

A.: Yes, sir; in substance that was the exact conversation.

Q.: After you left Denver, about the time you left Denver, you employed an attorney to represent Mrs. Peete when she came to Los Angeles?

Mr. Woolwine: Wait a minute. Objected to upon the ground it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: How is that material, Mr. Aggeler?

RECALLS HALTED TRAIN.

Mr. Aggeler: Well, it is material only to this point. I want to show that that point that I made before, that an attorney was employed and was in the employ of this husband—of the husband of Mrs. Peete, and they were waiting—he was awaiting their arrival at Ontario when the train was stopped at Cajon Pass, and the defendant was taken from there to Glenn Ranch to make this statement. That only goes to that point. We have some evidence in the record as to them going over there and some evidence in the record given by Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. William Doran about she didn't need an attorney. She asked him whether she should get an attorney and he told her when she needed one he would advise her. I think that is all in the record and through the evidence of Mr. Doran, and the Glenn ranch statement, it was simply to show the jury that there was an attorney employed and he was awaiting at Ontario the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Peete on that occasion when the train was stopped.

Mr. Woolwine: I will say to Your Honor for whatever it is worth, it was made after Mrs. Peete's statement was closed, and it had only to do with declarations and admissions, and the question is incompetent, irrevelant and immaterial; object to it on that ground.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Aggeler: I think that is all, if Your Honor please.

Mr. Woolwine: Mr. Peete, you are the husband of Louise Peete, are you not?

Mr. Woolwine: That is all.

THIRTEENTH JUROR IN.

No morning session was held yesterday because of the illness of a juror, J. W. Rudd of Downey. Mr. Rudd became ill after arriving at the courtroom and the morning session was not started.

A recess was taken until 1:30 p.m. in the hope he would recover sufficiently for the case to proceed, but when afternoon came, Judge Willis instructed Clerk Whiteleather to swear in Juror No. 13, Frank E. O'Dell of Glendora.

Mr. O'Dell has attended all the trial as a qualified juror, but was not to have taken part in the deliberations unless one of the regular twelve became incapacitated.

VICTORY POST PLANS MANY GALA NIGHTS.

Six special programs for evening entertainments have been arranged for this month for members of Victory Post, No. 54, American Legion. Tonight there will be a smoker and vaudeville program at the post clubhouse, 327½ South Hill street. Next Monday evening Gov. Stephens will address the post at 7:15 o'clock. On the night of the 11th inst. there will be a dance, to be followed on the 18th inst. by a program of boxing and wrestling. A special program is being arranged for the regular monthly meeting on the evening of the 21st inst., and on the 28th there will be another dance, for members and guests only.

Opposing Counsel,
Who are to argue today in the Peete trial.

COURTROOM IS OVERRUN BY WOMEN.

Largest Crowd Attends the Peete Trial; Film Stars, Judges Among Spectators.

Yesterday's crowd was the largest of the Peete trial. The courtroom was overrun by a mob of women who brushed by the guards on the street, and for more than half an hour uniformed officers were clearing the aisle and all necessary spaces in the room. When the afternoon session began every corner was filled and extra chairs, brought from surrounding offices, clogged the aisles. Time and again the working newspaper men were compelled to eject some ambitious person from the spaces reserved for the press. As the session progressed the crowd behind the rail, back of Judge Willis's bench, grew thicker. Police Inspector Murray, former Chief of Detectives Flammer and other city and county officials, hugged the walls. Lottie Pickford and lesser lights in the movie world occupied seats elbow to elbow with just plain folks. On the bench with Judge Willis were Judge Reeve and Judge Valentine.

TAP RICH POCKET.

Light-Fingered Pair Get Full Purse From Paris Visitor.

Pickpockets operating in crowded downtown street cars yesterday afternoon robbed two persons of their purses and escaped with $275 in cash, as well as valuable papers.

J. J. Palm of Paris stated that a pair of clever workers extracted his purse from his hip pocket while he was riding on a Pacific Electric car. He told the police that the purse contained $200 in money and papers valued by him at $3500. Leo Schwartz of 435 San Fernando Building reported that he was robbed of his purse while riding on a Brooklyn-avenue street car. He lost $75 in cash and checks amounting to $102.

Sale Extraordinary—Today—Women's, Misses' New Spring

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Skirts, 7.50

We were exceedingly fortunate in securing this splendid group of spring garments for women and misses at a fraction of their former selling price. Even if we took a whole page to convince you of the values offered it would not be any more effective than the plain statement that 7.50 wouldn't ordinarily buy the materials used in making such garments. Select early.

New Spring Suits, 7.50

These are made of serge and wool poplin in belted and box coat models. Well tailored styles—many of the coats silk lined throughout. Some are trimmed with braid. Mostly light shades in tan and Copenhagen for Spring wear.

Spring Coats at 7.50

Smart spring coats in sports models for women and misses. Made of diagonal cloth and novelty coatings. Many have narrow belts of leather and are finished with attractive pockets and collar. Included are three-quarter length coats of serge for Spring.

Spring Dresses at 7.50

A bevy of styles to choose from in taffetas and serges. Straight line models in the wanted spring shades. These are finished with silk embroidery ruffles and buttons. Some of the taffetas have the wanted georgette sleeves. Shop early.

DUTCH MAY PLACE SHIP CONTRACTS.

Java Naval Constructor is Here on Tour of Yards; Sees Good Trade Outlook.

Intimating that shipbuilding contracts will probably be placed, H. G. Leegstra, chief naval constructor of the Netherland Indian government, in charge of technical work at the naval base, Socrabaya, Java, for the past thirteen years, is now inspecting the shipyards of the Pacific Coast. He has been commissioned by his government to study the conditions and facilities offered.

"While this is my first visit to America," said Mr. Leegstra, when seen at the harbor yesterday, where Fred L. Baker and other officials of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company were showing him the facilities of the plant, "I have kept in close touch with your marvelous business development, through reading and association with American visitors to the Dutch East Indies. Of course, your labor cost, being about seven times that to which I have been accustomed, is rather alarming at first, but it is partially offset by your efficiency, which is rather more than double ours. Then again, your equipment in a yard such as this is greatly superior, both in range of machinery and its capacity for the largest as well as the most delicate jobs which modern ships require."

Speaking of foreign trade development, Mr. Leegstra said he approached this subject with the deep-rooted convictions of one born and raised in a maritime country.

"In Holland and indeed in all the seafaring countries of Europe, foreign trade has been built up through the encouragement of imports, as well as exports, combined with widespread community interests in shipping. It is not sufficient for lastingly profitable shipping, merely to own and operate ships. There must be close study of foreign peoples and their exact requirements, the encouragement of industries for export products, and, since ships can pay dividends only if provided with return cargoes, there must also be encouragement of production of raw materials in the different foreign countries to which you send your manufactured goods.

"In the Dutch East Indies, for example, coffee, sugar, peanuts, copra and rubber are among the best known products. The Javanese can be encouraged to buy your manufactured goods. You can send those goods in your own ships. But unless you control a portion of the local products, return cargoes for your ships to Pacific Coast ports are hard to secure, for European financiers of plantations will naturally route their cargoes preferably in their own ships to their home ports. I have been glad to note a growing realization of this condition among your business interests in recent years; also a more widespread interest in ships and shipping among all your people. Given a full development of these main conditions, I can see no reason why the hopes of the foremost among your shipping men should not come true and the harbor of Los Angeles become one of the big ports of the world."

Mr. Leegstra proves his deep admiration of the Pacific Coast and of American ideals and institutions, by arranging a permanent home here for his family, that his three children may enjoy the social and educational advantages.

CAUGHT DELIVERING DRUGS.

Joe Perez, a young Mexican, was surprised by Narcotic Inspectors Brooks and Bright as he was making a delivery of drugs to customers on the south side. Enough cocaine and morphine were seized to stock a small drug store. A new automobile was also taken with the catch. Perez was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long and held in a bond of $1000.

WOMAN AND SON HURT WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE.

GLARING LIGHTS BLAMED AS REASON FOR ACCIDENT AT BEACH CITY.

Mrs. William Ramsden of Breeze avenue, Venice, suffered severe internal injuries, and her son, W. G. Ramsden, of the same address, had his collarbone broken and his right arm fractured in several places when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a machine driven by Mrs. Edith Bishop of 648 South Harvard Boulevard, Los Angeles, at the intersection of Pico and Beverly streets, in Santa Monica, at 8:45 p.m. yesterday.

Col. William Ramsden, who was driving, was thrown clear of the crash and escaped with a few slight scratches. Mrs. Bishop was also unhurt except for a severe shock caused by the impact. Mrs. Ramsden and her son were rushed to St. Catherine's Hospital in Santa Monica.

The collision is believed to have been caused by the blinding lights of automobiles shining in the eyes of the drivers of the two cars. The Ramsden machine was overturned, pinning Mrs. Ramsden and her son to the ground.
